HURRY CALL FOR AID IS SENT BY CAPTAIN OF THE MINNESOTA.

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE.] (30)

SAN FRANCISCO, Dec. 7.—Although the wrecking vessel Iaqua and the tug Dauntless were standing by the disabled Hill liner Minnesota late tonight, Capt. Garlick, in a radiogram to port Capt. Wiley, stated that the Minnesota had been drifting helplessly three days and more assistance was needed immediately.

Capt. Garlick also stated that the last of the Minnesota's six boilers collapsed on last Sunday morning.

According to Wiley, one, and possibly two, more powerful tugs will be dispatched from San Francisco and will proceed with all possible speed to the Minnesota's position, which was given as about 300 miles south of San Diego.

MEXICAN DIFFICULTIES NOT ABETTED BY GERMANY.

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE.] (30)

MEXICO CITY, Dec. 7.—Hugo Hahn, general manager of the German-American Bank in Mexico City, today made a statement relative to the money transactions of that institution with the Mexican government with the purpose of purchasing arms and ammunition.

Mr. Hahn denies that the German government or German interests tried in any way to bring out difficulties between the United States and Mexico. He explains the transfer of $815,000 for the purchase of arms and ammunition at Valparaiso as follows:

"During the administration of Gen. Huerta a German named Adolph Marx was authorized to buy forty million cartridges from the Chilean government.

"The only thing the Deutsche Suedamerikanische Bank of Mexico City had to do with the money transaction was to transfer the $815,000 in American currency for account of the National Bank of Chile, and by order of the Huerta government to Valparaiso, as the German bank was the only one in Mexico having a correspondent in the Chilean city.

"The money the Huerta administration claimed was destined for the purchase of ammunition, but later and shortly after the downfall of the so-called Huerta government the manager of the Deutsche Suedamerikanische Bank discovered the whole transaction was a deception and immediately stopped the payment of the money in the hands of the Carranza government, thus saving nearly all of it for the Mexican nation."

It has been learned that Marx went to Valparaiso and actually purchased forty-seven million cartridges from the Chilean government through a German firm, Vorwerk & Co. The American ambassador learned of the deal and protested and the Chilean government refused delivery.

Vorwerk and Marx are now suing to obtain possession of the money in the courts of Hamburg. The local German bank promises to turn the entire sum to the Carranza government.

DESTROYERS MAY LAND FORCE AT TOPOLOBAMPO.

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE.] (30)

TOPOLOBAMPO (Mex.) Dec. 7.—(By radio to San Diego.)—The first division of the Pacific torpedo flotilla, consisting of seven destroyers, commanded by Commander Frederic N. Freeman, with Admiral Winslow's expeditionary force off Topolobampo this morning. The destroyers, according to navy officers here, will prove great value in transferring troops into such harbors as this if it should become necessary to land forces for the protection of American life and property from attacks such as the raid on the American mine at Los Mochis.

Gen. Munoz, commanding the Carranza forces in Sinaloa, has issued warrants to the United Sugar Company and to the American citizens, who suffered in the raids, calling upon all his military commanders to return to the owners all stolen property in their possession.

One official at Los Mochis refused to honor a warrant for the release of certain animals in his possession, stating that they had been purchased from the Indians and were spoils of war and specific orders from Gen. Munoz had to be secured before the animals were released.

According to reports received here the lack of discipline and respect for authority have hindered a speedy settlement of the situation at Los Mochis.

All the general officers north of Guaymas have gone to Nogales for the purpose, it was reported, of holding a conference with Gen. Obregon.

Admiral Winslow is said to have had forcible representation to Gen. Dieguez to have adequate protection against Yaqui Indians for railroad employees of the Southern Pacific Railroad engaged in repairing the bridge over the Yaqui River at Corral and also for American settlers in the Yaqui Valley.

CAUGHT BURGLARIZING STORE (30)

Discovered in the act of burglarizing the Gottstein Grocery store at 244 East Seventh street, a man giving the name of William Brown was arrested early this morning by Patrolman C. S. Holman of the Merchants Fire Despatch. Officer Holman saw the man in the store and running to the rear door entered and ordered him to throw up his hands. When searched, a heavy revolver was found in his pocket.

JAPANESE COOK RUNS AMUCK IN ROOMING-HOUSE.

Armed with two butcher knives and a revolver, T. Ito, a Japanese cook, eary this morning ran amuck in a rooming-house at No. 338 Clay street and was only captured and disarmed by Detectives Barnes, Ries and Haver of the "flying squadron" after he had chased J. Y. Aota from the building and Mrs. Aota onto the roof.

When the detectives arrived at the rooming-house they found all the roomers, who were Japanese, standing about in front of the house. Ito was discovered by the detectives parading the second story hallway with a knife in each hand and a revolver in his pocket.

Rushing upon the man the three detectives disarmed him. At the Receiving Hospital, where he was treated for several cuts sustained during the struggle with the police, Ito was declared intoxicated. He was locked in the City Jail charged with assault with a deadly weapon.

OCEAN LINERS IN COLLISION.

LONDON, Dec. 7.—The steamer Sophia has been badly damaged, the result of being rammed by the steamer Korea while she was at anchor off Deal.

There are several steamers by the name of Sophia, the one probably referred to in the foregoing being the 2092-ton Greek steamer Sophia, which when last reported was on her way to European waters from South America. The Korea is an American-owned vessel of 5651 tons, last reported as having sailed from Rio Janeiro on November 20, for London.

DEEP CLOUDS OF DOUBT AFTER FREAK ELECTION.

Preferential Ballot Makes Count Very Slow—Berkley and Steele Seem Leading for Commissioner of Public Safety, Carter Berretto and Whelan for Other Positions on City Governing Board.

[BY DIRECT WIRE—EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH.]

SANTA MONICA, Dec. 8.—at 2 o'clock this morning it is apparently certain William H. Carter was made commissioner of public works at yesterday's election, and that M. R. King was chosen police judge. With returns complete from seven precincts and partial from seven of a total of seventeen, the major race, that for commissioner of public safety, is yet in doubt.

For this office returns on leading candidates are:

	First Choice.	Second Choice.	Third Choice.
Berkley	623	242	48
Dudley	569	68	21

For commissioners of finance the choice is still between Messrs. Barretto and Whelan. The count stands: Barretto, first, 582, second, 75, third, 9; Whelan, first, 456, second, 125, third, 44.

For members of the board of education, with but one choice given the voters, Bertha Dresher, Edward N. Reed and Charlena Welch are leading in the count. For the same office, with two choices given the voters, Moe M. Fogel and A. M. Montgomery are apparently chosen.

The vote on the storm drain bonds is: Yes, 544; No, 275.

SANTA MONICA, Dec. 7.—Mayor Dudley was probably defeated in today's election. This appeared though very little besides doubt had emerged from the count at midnight in the initial trial in California of the preferential voting system. The electors voted for members of a City Commission of three, for police judge, two members of the Board of Education and on a $250,000 bond issue for a system of storm drains.

Judging from first-choice returns largely, which may be overthrown by second or third-choice votes, Samuel L. Berkley and John C. Steele are leading for the office of Commissioner of Public Safety, which corresponds to that of Mayor. For Commissioner of Public Works, William H. Carter and Henry C. Holwedell seem leading, while for Commissioner of Finance strongest first-choice vote was polled by Maxwell K. Barretto and James P. Whelan. For police judge victory seems between David Henry Ettien and M. R. King. But these deductions are drawn from first-choice returns, which may mean nothing.

The bond proposition is in doubt the count being quite close at midnight while a two-thirds majority is necessary for passage of the proposition.

The count will not be completed until morning. The ballot clerks are struggling with an unprecedented situation.

By the system the Santa Monica voters wished on themselves, if no person is elected by first-choice votes the second choice must be cast in the balance ,and if there is still no clear majority, the third-choice votes must also be reckoned with. Thus each voter had the right to cast his ballot for three persons for each office, piling a mountainous task before the election officers.

For Commissioner of Public Safety: Berkley, first, 579, second, 203, third, 46; Fred D. Butzer, first, 334, second, 138, third, 45; Dudley, first, 563, second, 54, third, 21; Steele, first, 409, second, 195, third, 54.

For Commissioner of Public Works: Carter, first, 1100, second, 149, third, 14; Holwedell, first, 603, second, 179, third, 15.

For Commissioner of Finance: John W. Armstrong, first, 235, second, 91, third, 16; Barretto, first, 598, second, 66, third, 7; Whelan, first, 350, second, 110, third, 37.

CHICAGO BUREAU OF THE TIMES, Dec. 7.—Mrs. Ella Flagg Young leaves Chicago tomorrow. It will not be for a leave of absence from the city where she has spent most of the seventy-one years of her life. She is going to California to live. With her will go her friend, Miss Laura Breton, who has been her constant companion for many years.

Whether Los Angeles or San Diego will be the abode of the two women Mrs. Young has not yet decided. Neither has she decided just what she will do.

"I want a month to decide that," she said. "I think that I am entitled to a month's vacation."

"I am going to take a rest," she said. "I shall not look at a newspaper for six months. I shall not know when the war is over. And I want to go to Europe when the war is over, too, but not right away. Americans will flock over to get the first look at the ruins. They will want to see if the war left things as they expected it would."

Republicans are Expected to Nominate Winning Ticket in Chicago.

WASHINGTON, Dec. 7.—The Democratic National Convention of 1916 will be held at St. Louis, beginning Wednesday, June 14, at noon. The Democratic National Committee tonight named the convention city and adopted resolutions calling for the renomination and re-election of Woodrow Wilson as "the trusted leader of national Democracy."

Chicago and Dallas contested with St. Louis for the honor of the convention, but St. Louis easily led at the start and won on the second ballot. When the trend of the vote was seen, Texas moved that the choice of St. Louis be made unanimous. Dallas held second place on the first ballot, but was displaced by Chicago on the second roll call.

HYPHENISM HIS ISSUE.

Most Popular Card, Wilson Thinks.

"Thumbs Down" for Plotters Against Neutrality to be the Slogan.

BY HARRY CARR.

WASHINGTON BUREAU OF THE TIMES, Dec. 7.—President Wilson's vehement denunciation of hyphenated Americans, which was the feature of his annual message today, is to be followed by a quickening of the legal processes by which agitators against the neutrality of the United States are to be punished and eradicated.

The President is not unmindful, it was learned from some of his friends tonight, that the issue of hyphenism is his most popular card. Some of his political friends are saying that if he can make the issue appear to be between himself, as President, and the so-called enemies of the United States, he will be benefited greatly politically.

Whatever the political result may be, it became known today, following the reading of the message, there is to be no more conciliation, but instead more punishment of those who have been plotting and talking against the neutrality of the nation. The administration will "stand pat" on the request for the recall of Capts. Boy-Ed and Von Papen. Secretary Lansing, who has been rather in favor of a mild course, has yielded to those in the Cabinet, led by Atty.-Gen. Gregory, who favor drastic means to stamp out the plotting against the United States. Mr. Lansing today informed Ambassador Von Bernstorff that the United States cannot comply with the embassy's request that reasons be assigned for the recall of the military and naval attaches of the German embassy.

It is evident that another serious situation has arisen between the United States and Germany. Without regard to the delicacy of the present relations, however, the President has resolved to prosecute to the limit American citizens, and those of foreign birth, whether citizens or not, who have engaged in the propaganda against the United States government and its course of action towards the exportation of munitions of war.

Investigations are in progress that involve a number of German and Austrian Consuls in various cities. The secret service operatives have been instructed to press these inquiries to a quick conclusion.

The Attorney-General will confer in a few days with members of the Judiciary committees of the Senate and House with a view to the introduction and passage of bills designed to provide heavy prison penalties for those who are found guilty of acts against the neutrality of the United States or designed to aid a foreign country engaged in war.

WILSON ON THE HYPHEN.

"I have spoken to you today, gentlemen, upon a single theme, the thorough preparation of the nation to care for its own security, and to make sure of entire freedom to play the impartial role in this hemisphere and in the world which we all believe to have been providentially assigned to it. I have had in my mind no thought of any immediate or particular danger arising out of our relations with other nations. We are at peace with all the nations of the world, and there is reason to hope that no question in controversy between this and other governments will lead to any serious breach of amicable relations, grave as some differences of attitude and policy have been and may yet turn out to be. I am sorry to say that the gravest threats against our national peace and safety have been uttered within our own borders. There are citizens of the United States, I blush to admit, born under other flags, but welcomed under our generous naturalization laws to the full freedom and opportunity of America, who have poured the poison of disloyalty into the very arteries of our national life; who have sought to bring the authority and good name of our government into contempt, to destroy our industries wherever they thought it effective for their vindictive purposes to strike at them, and to debase our politics to the uses of foreign intrigue. Their number is not great as compared with the whole number of those sturdy hosts by which our nation has been enriched in recent generations out of virile foreign stocks; but it is great enough to have brought deep disgrace upon us and to have made it necessary that we should promptly make use of processes of law by which we may be purged of their corrupt distempers. America never witnessed anything like this before. It never dreamed it possible that men sworn into its own citizenship, men drawn out of great free stocks such as supplied some of the best and strongest elements of that

CREW OF THIRTY-NINE, THEIR FATE UNKNOWN.

Former German Vessel in the Standard Service Destroyed in Mediterranean.

Another Tanker Owned by the Same Corporation is Shelled by a U-boat — Washington Authorities Say They will Take no Action in the Matter Until They Have Received All the Details.

[BY ATLANTIC CABLE AND A. P.]

ROME, Dec. 7, 7:45 p.m.—The American oil steamer Communipaw has been sunk by a submarine in the Mediterranean near Tobrok, Tripoli. No information has been received concerning the crew or the nationality of the submarine. The Communipaw recently was held by the Italian government at Genoa, but was allowed to sail for her destination on December 2, owing to representations made to the government by the American embassy at Rome. She was owned by the Standard Oil Company of New Jersey and sailed from New York October 27 for Egypt.

NATIONALITY OF THE CREW.

NEW YORK, Dec. 7.—David T. Worden of Montclair, N. J., manager of the foreign shipping department of the Standard Oil Company of New Jersey, said tonight that the crew of the Communipaw numbered thirty-nine. Capt. Nordstrom is a naturalized American, Mr. Worden said, and the four engineers also are Americans, but he knew nothing of the nationality of the other men aboard, although several of them at least probably were citizens of the United States.

The Communipaw formerly was the Deutschland, flying the German flag and sailing from Hamburg. She was one of the steamers of the Standard Oil fleet which was transferred to American registry after the European war began.

RECEIVED APPEALS FOR HELP.

LONDON, Dec. 8, 3:02 a.m.—The Athens correspondent of the Daily News in a dispatch dated December 6, said that the local wireless station received appeals for help from an American ship torpedoed by a submarine. The Greek government dispatched a torpedo boat but by the time she arrived on the scene only some wreckage was found.

On December 4, an Athens dispatch announced that a wireless call for aid had been received that morning from an unnamed American ship. The message stated that the vessel was being attacked by a submarine south of the Island of Crete. Subsequent efforts to communicate with the vessel were fruitless.

SHELLED BY A SUBMARINE.

WASHINGTON, Dec. 7.—Word that the American Standard Oil tank steamer Petrolite was shelled Sunday in the Eastern Mediterranean by a large submarine flying the Austrian flag, came to the Navy Department late today in a cablegram from the cruiser Des Moines at Canea, Island of Crete. One man on the tanker was slightly injured.

This information was turned over to the State Department where it was said that no action would be taken pending the receipt of further details. No report had been received by the government tonight of the sinking of the Standard Oil steamer Communipaw by a submarine off the coast of Tripoli, reported in press dispatches from Rome and officials did not comment on the case in the absence of information concerning the circumstances.

It was pointed out that the attitude of the United States would depend entirely upon whether the tankers were attacked without warning or attempted to escape after being called upon to submit to visit and search. In the case of the Petrolite it appeared that she not only tried to escape but actually did so.

When the dispatch from the Des Moines arrived officials thought they had the explanation of the mysterious wireless message picked up at Athens saying an American vessel was being attacked by a submarine south of the Island of Crete. It was recalled, however, that the message reached Athens Saturday morning while the Petrolite did not encounter the submarine until Sunday.

If the Communipaw was sunk near the coast of Tripoli, she must have been some 500 miles or more from the point where the call picked up at Athens was said to have originated.

Allocution.

WAR DEPRIVES PONTIFF OF FREEDOM TO GOVERN.

Pope Declares Some of Ambassadors and Ministers Were Compelled to Leave Vatican in Order to Maintain Personal Dignity and the Prerogatives of Their Office — Italian Government Issues Explanation.

ROME, Dec. 7.—Pope Benedict, in his allocution delivered before the secret consistory yesterday, dwelt upon the misfortunes which the war has brought upon the Holy See and referred to his previous complaint that the pontiff had been deprived of the liberty necessary for the government of the church. He said that some of the ambassadors and ministers, by reasons of such a state of events, had left the Vatican "in order to maintain their personal dignity and the prerogatives of their office."

"Certainly those who govern Italy are not wanting in good intentions to eliminate the inconveniences," said the pontiff, "but this of itself clearly demonstrates that the position of the pontiff is dependent upon the civil authorities and that, with a change of men and circumstances, the position itself might change for the worse.

"No reasonable man can assert that a position so uncertain, so dependent upon the arbitrary power of others, can be that which properly becomes the apostolic see.

"Moreover, it was impossible to avoid on account of the force of circumstances a number of inconveniences of a serious nature. Not to speak of others, we shall limit ourselves to observe that some of the ambassadors and ministers accredited to us by their sovereigns were constrained to depart in order to protect their personal dignity and the prerogative of their office. This means the curtailing of the inherent rights of the Holy See and a weakening of the necessary guarantees which she needs in her dealings with foreign governments."

REASON OF PROTEST.

The Pope protested against what he termed the suspicion that had arisen, that by the very force of circumstances the Holy See had been regulated and guided in its treatment of the affairs of the contending nations by suggestions of those who had access to the Vatican.

"The increased difficulty of communication between ourselves and the Catholic world," said the pontiff, "rendered it very difficult to form a complete and exact judgment of events. It seems to us that what we have thus far said is sufficient to show that our sorrow increases day by day, whether on account of the frightful increase of this slaughter, which is scarcely worthy of centuries of barbarism, or because the position of the Holy See becomes worse."

GOVERNMENT EXPLAINS.

"The words of the pontiff concerning ambassadors and ministers accredited to the Holy See being obliged to leave in order to protect their personal dignity must come from inexact information given to His Holiness.

"The truth is, the representatives of the central empires, despite the most explicit and precise assurances from the Italian government concerning the protection of their personal safety, rights and privileges granted by law, insisted upon leaving Rome of their own free will."

Congress Divides Its Interest Between the President and His Fiancee

Wilson Shares the Glory of Message Day with Mrs. Edith Bolling Galt.

Woman in the Audience with Field Glasses Annoys the Notables in the Galleries — But Withal it was an Impressive Occasion — Applause of the Executive's Periods Surprisingly Slight.

BY HARRY CARR.

WASHINGTON BUREAU OF THE TIMES, Dec. 7.—When President Wilson delivered his national defense message before the joint session of Congress this afternoon he had the center of the stage, but he was not the center of attention. Mrs. Galt was the center of attention. As theater people say, she "grabbed the scene." For about an hour she was the most stared at woman in the whole world.

In addition to the rival charms of Mrs. Galt, one other fact rather took the dramatic effect out of this historic scene. This other fact really consisted of two Republican Senators who sat directly in front of the President's rostrum and surveyed his oratorical efforts with cold and chilling disdain. The Senators were Henry Cabot Lodge and Mr. Gallinger, the Republican leaders of the Senate. While the Democrats behind them cheered and applauded, the two Republican leaders listened to Dr. Wilson with bored satirical smiles. They sat there like hangmen watching the prisoner eating his last breakfast.

Nevertheless it was an impressive scene. The House met earlier in the day and adjourned until half past twelve, at which hour the President had announced that he would be there. A few minutes before the hour the galleries began filling up with invited guests. The reserved galleries first, then the diplomatic gallery. The President's gallery was the last to be filled. Mrs. Galt arrived about ten minutes before the Senators. She took a seat in the front row. With her were her mother, Mrs. Bolling, Secretary and Mrs. McAdoo, Miss Margaret Wilson and two or three other ladies. Mrs. Galt was dressed in blue, her gown being somewhat Russian in effect, with a chrysanthemum pinned almost under her chin. With one accord, every person in the house turned and stared at her and nearly everyone kept on staring. She received the jolt gamely. With the poise of a trained society woman, she gave no indication that she realized herself to be the center of attention.

BEFORE THE GLASS.

In the gallery almost directly across from her sat a woman in an orange colored waist. She had a pair of opera glasses about the size of the Mt. Wilson telescope and she turned them ruthlessly on the President's lady. You could see that this heavy artillery rather flabbergasted Mrs. Galt. The entrance of the Senators marching two by two came to her relief and distracted the attention of the damsel with the telescope.

There was a pause while the usual honorary committee went out to escort the President to the platform and as usual stumbled around and got in the way. As Champ Clark announced: "I have the honor to present the President of the United States," the Democratic side of the house gave a few cheers but they seemed rather chilly cheers. Dr. Wilson was not received with the warmth that I had expected to see.

MRS. GALT RELIEVED.

As he rose to speak Mrs. Galt, over in her gallery, gave a sigh of relief and, for the first time, looked around her. You could see she was relieved to have the eyes off her for an instant. She turned around and attracted the attention of Mrs. McAdoo to the awful person with the field glasses, who was now glaring at the President. Mrs. McAdoo giggled and all the other ladies took a look, but right in the midst of it, the lady with the field glasses turned them slowly back to Mrs. Galt and the President's gallery ducked as though a ten-inch shell was coming that way.

The President's voice is clear and unmistakably didactic. It was exactly like a college professor lecturing a class on political economy. Mrs. Galt, it is strongly to be suspected, had heard it before, for her attention seemed to wander around as he read.

The assemblage listened in deep silence, until Dr. Wilson got to the place where he said, in relation to South America:

"All of the governments of America stand, so far as we are concerned, upon a footing of genuine equality and unquestioned independence."

At that the Democratic side of the house gave a feeble cheer, but the Democratic Senators and the Republicans remained silent. Down in front of the President Senator Lodge sat limp in his chair with an air of Christian resignation. Senator Gallinger listened with a slight inscrutable smile.

The President turned from South America to Mexico.

"We will aid and befriend Mexico, but we will not coerce her," he said.

A new correspondent in the press gallery shocked the tradition of the place by beginning to applaud and the applause spread. They were beginning to warm up to the message.

Even the two Republican icicles in front of him sat up when the President began on national defense. It was the nation answering the call to arms. It was a moment never to be forgotten.

The interest was intense and strained, but the applause surprisingly slight. The first time he mentioned the subject, Dr. Wilson paused pointedly, but there was no response. As he waded on into the subject, the house grew warmer, but I have heard more enthusiasm over the nomination of a constable. There are subjects too serious to be cheered, especially by Congressmen whose realization of the necessity only makes more pointed their lack of money to fulfill the necessity. When he turned to the subject of taxing the nation to raise money for defense, there was one round of applause. It could have been best detected by the instrument that scientists have invented for hearing the noise made by the wings of a butterfly. It was the finest burst of applause in the history of the world.

Then the President turned to his shipping bill which threatens to break his grip on the best-trained and meekest Congress that ever was browbeaten.

A grim look came over Senator O'Gorman, one of the Democratic rebels who sat almost in front of the President. Senator Lodge sat up suddenly and whispered something to Senator Gallinger and they both shook with laughter. Senator La Follette, whose shipping bill has driven the American flag from the Pacific, looked conscious and ill at ease and began studiously examining his finger nails and biting them.

Representative Mann, the Republican leader of the House, who is invited to a conference with the President this week, got up and very pointedly walked out.

In the back of the House an old man with chin whiskers felt that he ought to be shown some way that the Democrats weren't going to desert even if the Republicans did walk out, so the next time the President paused he shouted "Amen."

The big stuff came when the President turned the little square papers upon which his lecture was written to the part about the pernicious activities of the hyphenated Americans.

"Such creatures of passion, disloyalty and anarchy," he said, "must be crushed out. They are not many, but they are infinitely malignant and the hand of our power should close over them at once."

THE REBEL YELL.

There was the second of silence that comes before a big noise, then someone in the back of the house on the Democratic side, rose with a wild rebel yell. In an instant, the house was on its feet. The Republican side hesitated an instant, and then it, too, began to cheer. The supreme tribute came when Senator Lodge, in the epidemic of excitement, sat up in his chair and wearily clapped his hands. He gave just four claps. I counted them. They were the equivalent of a whirlwind of enthusiasm.

ITALIANS CAPTURE WAR MUNITIONS.

ROME (via London) Dec. 7.—The following official communication from general headquarters was issued today:

"There has been intense artillery action on both sides, especially in the Guidicaria Valley, the Concei Valley and Gernia district. Vigorous action by our infantry in the Carso enabled us to capture some war material, including a gas-producing machine, two trench mortars, rifles and munitions."

WILSON'S APPOINTMENTS.

WASHINGTON, Dec. 7.—The President sent to the Senate today for confirmation a list of several hundred appointments made during the recess of Congress. The list was headed by Secretary Lansing and included Frank L. Polk of New York to be counsellor for the State Department, George Rublee of New Hampshire, to be Federal trade commissioner, and many others.

FRENCH JOIN BELGIANS IN BOMBARDING GERMANS.

PARIS, Dec. 7.—The following official communication was issued tonight:

"In Belgium our artillery, in concert with the Belgian artillery, shelled an enemy work in the region of Hetsas. The work was completely shattered and two munition depots were blown up.

"In Artois the artillery engagement became more pronounced in the course of the day. The bombardment was violent on both sides in the region of Givenchy, to the north of the Bois en Hache, where fighting with large bombs likewise took place. In the sector of the road from Lille our artillery successfully shelled the enemy underground passages. In the Craonne district patrol fighting to our advantage is reported.

"In Champagne the action continued for the possession of the advanced trench to the south of St. Souplet. Our counter-attacks have already enabled us to regain a large part of the lost section. One other local attack of slight importance has occurred to the east of the Butte de Souain.

"The Belgian official communication reads:

"'Besides effective shelling of enemy groups to the north and south of Dixmude, our batteries bombarded the German trenches in the direction of Woumen, in retaliation for the employment by the enemy of shells containing irritating gases. In the sector of Steenstraete our artillery co-operated with the French batteries in the destruction of important enemy earthworks.

"'Positive indications permit of the conclusion that the extensive inundation in the region of the Yser has caused great difficulties to the opposing troops, who have abandoned, under the menace of the water, a great number of their advance works.'" little, but how heroic, nation that in a high day of old staked its very life to free itself from every entanglement that had darkened the fortunes of the older nations and set up a new standard here—that men of such origins and such free choices of allegiance would ever turn in malign reaction against the government and people who had welcomed and nurtured them and seek to make this proud country once more a hotbed of European passion. A little while ago such a thing would have seemed incredible. Because it was incredible we made no preparation for it. We would have been almost ashamed to prepare for it, as if we were suspicious of ourselves, our own comrades and neighbors! But the ugly and incredible thing has actually come about and we are without adequate Federal laws to deal with it. I urge you to enact such laws at the earliest possible moment and feel that in doing so I am urging you to do nothing less than save the honor and self-respect of the nation. Such creatures of passion, disloyalty, and anarchy must be crushed out. They are not many, but they are infinitely malignant, and the hand of our power should close over them at once. They have formed plots to destroy property, they have entered into conspiracies against the neutrality of the government, they have sought to pry into every confidential transaction of the government in order to serve interests alien to our own. It is possible to deal with these things very effectually. I need not suggest the terms in which they may be dealt with.

"I wish that it could be said that only a few men, misled by mistaken sentiments of allegiance to the governments under which they were born, had been guilty of disturbing the self-possession and misrepresenting the temper and principles of the country during these days of terrible war, when it would seem that every man who was truly an American would instinctively make it his duty and his pride to keep the scales of judgment even and prove himself a partisan of no nation but his own. But it cannot. There are some men among us, and many resident abroad who, though born and bred in the United States and calling themselves Americans, have so forgotten themselves and their honor as citizens as to put their passionate sympathy with one or the other side in the great European conflict above their regard for the peace and dignity of the United States. They also preach and practice disloyalty. No laws, I suppose, can reach corruptions of the mind and heart; but I should not speak of others without also speaking of these and expressing the even deeper humiliation and scorn which every self-possessed and thoughtfully patriotic American must feel when he thinks of them and of the discredit they are daily bringing upon us."

WHY, WHEREFORE OF THE RECALL.

WASHINGTON, Dec. 7.—Secretary Lansing has communicated to Germany through Count von Bernstorff, the German Ambassador, the reasons which caused the United States government to request the immediate withdrawal of Capt. Boy-Ed and Capt. Franz von Papen, respectively naval and military attaches of the Embassy here.

In the communication, which is believed to have reached the Berlin Foreign Office today, Mr. Lansing is understood to have stated that the naval and military activities of the attaches constituted their principal offenses. It is said that there was no discussion of facts relating to the reasons for the State Department's request, nor any disclosure of the department's sources of information.

Whether Germany expected a discussion of the facts has not been made known. Officials are awaiting with interest to see whether the Berlin Foreign Office will be satisfied with the stating of the broad, general reasons. The opinion seemed to prevail that Germany might, with the reasons before it, instruct the Ambassador to send the attaches away without further delay. In some quarters, however, it was thought another communication might come from Berlin.

Secretary Lansing declined to comment upon the subject for publication today and the German Embassy also was reticent.

TO RECALL OFFICERS.

BERLIN (via London) Dec. 7.—The request received here from the United States for the recall of Capt. Franz von Papen and Capt. Karl Boy-Ed, military and naval attaches, respectively, of the German Embassy at Washington, will undoubtedly be complied with in accordance with diplomatic usage, it is stated. However, Germany probably will ask first to be informed of the grounds on which the United States government bases the undesirability of the attaches.

News of the request for the recall has not been published as yet by the German press.

The above dispatch is the first direct word to be received from Berlin in regard to the probable action of the German government in response to the request of the United States for the recall of the two attaches. Since Germany already has asked Washington for information as to the grounds on which the United States bases its request for a recall, it would appear that this fact has not been made public in Berlin up to the time of the filing of the dispatch.

TAX NO WORRY TO STEEL MEN.

NEW YORK, Dec. 7.—The suggestion of President Wilson in his annual message to Congress today that pig iron and finished steel be taxed 25 cents a ton, does not appear to worry steel manufacturers here. They figure, it was stated in their behalf, today, that even if the tax is enforced it will mean little as compared with present enormous profits. Some do not believe such a tax can be made lawful.

On an estimated annual production today of 38,000,000 tons of pig iron and 34,000,000 tons of finished forms, the proposed tax would net the government $18,000,000 in revenue. Steel mill operations are abnormal now, however, and the revenue is thought more likely to bring $14,000,000 on an estimated annual production of 30,000,000 pig iron tons and 27,000,000 tons of finished steel.

Programme.

NEW PAN-AMERICANISM PREACHED BY WILSON.

Digest of the Address Read by the President Before the Sixty-fourth Congress — Message is the Longest the Executive has Delivered — European War and Mexico Special Themes.

WASHINGTON, Dec. 7.—A doctrine of Pan-Americanism—of full partnership between the nations of the Western Hemisphere in world affairs—was proclaimed by President Wilson today in his third annual address to Congress, the theme of which was preparedness by the United States to defend not only its own independence but the rights of those with whom it has made common cause. The message was read by the President to the Senate and House assembled in joint session in the chamber of the House.

Every recommendation embodied in the document had to do with comprehensive plans for strengthening the national defenses. The programme included the army and navy plans already made public by Secretaries Garrison and Daniels; legislation for government-owned merchant ships; a rural credit law; the Philippine and Porto Rico bills which failed of final passage at the last session; conservation legislation; a law giving Federal aid to industrial and vocational education, and the creation of a commission to inquire into the transportation problem.

Naturalized and native born Americans who, sympathizing with belligerents abroad, have plotted and conspired to violate their own country's neutrality, were scathingly denounced by the President, and Congress was urged to provide adequate Federal laws to deal with such offenders.

Internal taxation was proposed as the means of providing the money necessary to add to the naval and military establishments. Sources of taxation suggested were incomes, gasolines, naphtha, automobiles and internal explosion engines, fabricated iron and steel, and a stamp tax on bank checks. Extension of the war revenue bill and continuance of the present tariff on sugar were recommended, and the sale of bonds opposed.

THE WAR.

This message was the longest Mr. Wilson has ever delivered to Congress. He began with a statement that since he last addressed Congress:

"The European war has extended its threatening and sinister scope until it has swept into its flame some portion of every quarter of the globe, not excepting our own hemisphere, has altered the whole face of international affairs, and now presents a prospect of reorganization and reconstruction such as statesmen and peoples have never been called upon to attempt before."

The United States has remained neutral, he said, because it had no interest in the causes and because it was the duty of the nations of the Western Hemisphere to prevent collective economic ruin.

MEXICO.

The President pointed to the attitude of the United States towards Mexico as proving that this country has no selfish motives in its interest in countries in Central and South America. There was a time, he said, when the United States looked upon itself as a sort of guardian of the republics to the south as against the encroachment or efforts of political control from Europe.

"But," he added, "it was always difficult to maintain such a role without offense to the pride of the peoples whose freedom of action we sought to protect, and every thoughtful man of affairs must welcome the altered circumstances of the new day in whose light we now stand, when there is no claim of guardianship or thought of wards, but, instead, a full and honorable association of partners between ourselves and our neighbors, in the interests of all America, North and South.

"Our concern for the independence and the prosperity of the States and Central and South America is not altered. We retain unabated the spirit that has inspired us throughout the whole life of our government and which was so frankly put into words by President Monroe. We still mean always to make a common cause of national independence and of political liberty in America. But that purpose is now better understood so far as it concerns ourselves. It is known not to be a selfish purpose. It is known to have in it no thought of taking advantage of any government in this hemisphere or playing its political fortunes for our own benefit. All the governments of America stand, so far as we are concerned, upon a footing of genuine equality and unquestioned independence."

"We have been put to the test in the case of Mexico, and we have stood the test," declared the President. He added that it remained to be seen whether Mexico had benefited by the course taken by the administration, but that "we have at least proved that we will not take advantage of her in her distress and undertake to impose upon her an order and government of our own choosing."

"The moral is," continued the President, "that the states of America are not hostile rivals but co-operating friends, and that their growing sense of community interest, alike in matters political and in matters economic, is likely to give them a new significance as factors in international affairs and in the political history of the world. It presents them as in a very deep and true sense a unit in world affairs, spiritual partners, standing together because thinking together, quick with common sympathies and common ideals. Separated they are subject to all the cross currents of the confused politics of a world of hostile rivalries; united in spirit and purpose they cannot be disappointed of their peaceful destiny. . . .

"I am interested to fix your attention on this prospect now, because unless you take it within your view and permit the full significance of it to command your thought I cannot find the right light in which to set forth the particular matter that lies at the very front of my whole thought as I address you today. I mean national defense."

The passion of the American people, the President declared, was for peace; that conquest and dominion was not in their reckoning nor agreeable to their principles.

"But just because we demand unmolested development and the undisturbed government of our own lives upon our own principles of right and liberty," he said, "we resent, from whatever quarter it may come, the aggression we ourselves will not practice. We insist upon security in prosecuting our self-chosen lines of national development. We do more than that. We demand it also for others."

War, the President declared, was regarded by the United States merely as a means of asserting the rights of a people against aggression, and that "we are as fiercely jealous of coercive or dictatorial power within our own nation as from aggression from without." He said the nation would not maintain a standing army except for uses which are as necessary in times of peace as in times of war, but that the country did believe in a body of free citizens ready and sufficient to take care of themselves and of the government.

"But war has never been a mere matter of men and arms," he continued. "It is a thing of disciplined might. If our citizens are ever to fight effectively upon a sudden summons they must know how modern fighting is done, and what to do when the summons comes to render themselves immediately available and immediately effective. And the government must be their servant in this matter, must supply them with the training they need to take care of themselves and of it. The military arm of their government, which they will not allow to direct them, they may properly use to serve them and make their independence secure—and not their own independence merely, but the rights also of those with whom they have made common cause, should they also be put in jeopardy."

PREPAREDNESS.

The President presented the War Department plans for strengthening the army as "the essential first step" and "for the present sufficient. The plans include the increasing of the standing army to a force of 141,843 men of all services, and the establishment of a supplementary force of 400,000 disciplined citizens, who would undergo training for short periods throughout three years of a six years' enlistment.

"It would depend upon the patriotic feeling of the younger men of the country whether they responded to such a call to service or not," said the President. "It would depend upon the patriotic spirit of the employers of the country whether they made it possible for the younger men in their employ to respond under favorable conditions or not. I for one do not doubt the patriotic devotion either of our young men or of those who give them employment—those for whose benefit and protection they would, in fact, enlist. I would look forward to the success of such an experiment with entire confidence."

Outlining the details of the navy plan presented by Secretary Daniels, the President said that "it involves only a shortening of the time within which plans long matured shall be carried out; but it does make definite and explicit a programme which has heretofore been only implicit, held in the minds of the committees on naval affairs and disclosed in the debates of the two houses, but nowhere formulated or formally adopted. . . . It seems to me very clear that it will be to the advantage of the country for the Congress to adopt a comprehensive plan for putting the navy upon a final footing of strength and efficiency and to press that plan to completion within the next five years."

The President said that in order to secure national self-efficiency and self-security the country must have a merchant marine.

"For it is a question of independence," he asserted, "if other nations go to war or seek to hamper each other's commerce, our merchants, it seems, are at their mercy, to do with as they please. We must use their ships, and use them as they determine. Our independence is provincial, and it is only on land and within our own borders. We are not likely to be permitted to use even the ships of other nations in rivalry of their own trade, and are without means to extend our commerce even where the doors are wide open and our goods desired. Such a situation is not to be endured. It is of capital importance not only that the United States should be its own carrier on the seas and enjoy the economic independence which only an adequate merchant marine would give it, but also that the American hemisphere as a whole should enjoy a like independence and self-sufficiency, if it is not to be drawn into the tangle of European affairs."

MERCHANT MARINE.

The task of building up an adequate merchant marine, Mr. Wilson said, must be undertaken ultimately by American private capital, but in the meantime, he declared, every legal obstacle standing in the way of the building, purchase and American registration of ships should be removed and the government should undertake to open routes, especially between the two American continents. When the risk has passed and private capital begins to find its way into these new channels, he added, the government may withdraw.

The President told Congress that proposals would be made during the coming session for the purchase or construction of ships to be owned and directed by the government. The measure, he said, would be similar to that submitted to the last Congress, but modified in some essential particulars.

In outlining the financial condition of the government, the President followed closely the statement recently given out by Secretary McAdoo. He said that the additional revenue required to carry out the programme of military and naval preparation would be $93,800,000 for the fiscal year 1917; that if the present taxes were continued throughout this year and the next there would be a balance in the treasury of about $76,500,000 at the end of the present fiscal year and a deficit at the end of the next year of some $112,000,000, reckoning in $42,000,000 for deficiency appropriations.

Proposing that the new bills should be paid by internal taxation, the President suggested that by lowering the present limits of income exemption and the figure at which the surtax is imposed, and by increasing step by step throughout the present graduation, the surtax itself, income taxes as at present apportioned would yield sums sufficient to balance the books of the treasury at the end of the fiscal year 1917 without anywhere making the burden unreasonably heavy. He added that there were many additional sources of revenue which justly could be resorted to without hampering the industries of the country or putting any too great charge upon individual expenditure. He estimated that a 1 per cent. tax per gallon on gasoline and naphtha would yield $10,000,000; a tax of $5 cents per horse power on automobiles and internal explosion engines, $15,000,000; a stamp tax on bank checks, probably $18,000,000; and a tax of 50 per cent. per ton on fabricated iron and steel, probably $10,000,000.

The President said there was reason to hope that no question in controversy between this and other governments would lead to any serious breach of amicable relations, and that he was sorry to say that the gravest threats against national peace and safety had been uttered within the country's own borders.

Turning again to military questions, the President said he might find it advisable to call into systematic consultation with the directing officers of the army and navy, men of recognized ability who are familiar, for example, with the transportation facilities of the country and therefore competent to advise how they may be co-ordinated when the need arises, those who can suggest the best way to bring about prompt co-operation among the manufacturers, and those who could assist to bring the technical skill of the country to the aid of the government in the solution of problems of defense. He said he might later ask Congress for an appropriation to defray the expenses of such work.

The President told the members he might address them again later on commercial conditions about which much legislation has been passed, and which are likely to change rapidly after the war when the nations of Europe again take up their task of commerce and industry. The most that can be done now, he said, is to make sure that the necessary instrumentalities are at hand for securing adequate information.

RAILROADS.

Regarding the railroads, the President said there had been reason to fear that they could not cope much longer with the transportation problem, and suggested it would be wise to provide for a commission of inquiry to ascertain whether the laws as at present framed and administered were as serviceable as they might be in the solution of the problem. He said that the regulation of the railroads by Federal commission has had admirable results and that the question was whether there was anything else to be done to better the conditions under which the railroads are operating.

BIG DESTROYER SPEEDY.

Largest in American Navy Exceeds Her Contract Requirements by Full Knot in Her Trial.

ROCKLAND (Me.) Dec. 7.—The Conyngham, the largest destroyer in the American navy, exceeded her contract requirements by almost a full knot during her five top-speed runs over the government's measured mile course today. The corrected figures for the trial showed that the average speed during the runs was at a rate of 30.46 knots an hour, while her contract called for a speed of 29½ knots.

Her estimated horsepower was 17,000.

Former Senator Says Tariff Commission Necessary.

CHICAGO, Dec. 7.—Before more than 200 men representing business from Massachusetts to Iowa at a conference on the tariff, sponsored by Illinois Manufacturers' Association, Former Senator Theodore E. Burton of Ohio tonight made a plea for a new awakening of patriotism throughout the country.

"Eternal vigilance is the price of liberty and eternal difference is the price of good government," said Mr. Burton. "We cannot reach the highest grade of excellence in our political institutions unless there is a new awakening of patriotism, a more potent desire to make our public activities effective and helpful means for the uplift of the nation.

"This is the time to realize the fulness for the blessings of peace, the pure air of America, to dwell in every heart. The great lesson of the hour will be learned when our people show a spirit of sacrifice and love of country never known before. This great free government cannot fail; progress must be made but they will be made rightly.

CENTRALIZED GOVERNMENT.

"After this war is over, it is likely there will be a strong demand for more centralized, more despotic government, and war will be advocated as the most desirable quality of the nations. It rests with the people of the United States to decide whether a republic like ours can stand. The very forefront in patriotism, in citizenship and display of moral strength in storm as well as in calm."

In his remarks Mr. Burton advocated the extension of civic duties to municipalities, States and nations, and also the establishment of a tariff commission. He also predicted that the discussion of a protective tariff was sure to assume greater and greater significance after the war.

BELGIAN NEEDS GREAT AS EVER.

NEW YORK, Dec. 7.—The following statement was issued this afternoon in behalf of the commission for relief in Belgium:

"An erroneous impression to the effect that there is no further need for benevolent relief for Belgium seems to have gained circulation. On the contrary, the need in Belgium as the severe winter is approaching is greater than ever.

"We are now concentrating, with the magnificent co-operation of our State committees throughout the country, all of our efforts on the collection of clothing, piece goods and shoes, so that the sufferings of the unfortunate victims of war in Belgium and Northern France may be mitigated."

MUSCULAR BACKACHE

The muscles of the back do the heavy work of the body. When they are overworked or ill nourished they ache and people who are looking for trouble begin to worry about their kidneys.

Backache may be due to lumbago, which is rheumatism of the muscles of the back, but more backaches are caused by overstrain, overwork and muscle starvation due to thin blood than anything else.

Dr. Williams' Pink Pills build up the blood and sufferers from backache would do well to try this treatment before giving way to worry over a fancied organic disease. Rest and the tonic treatment with Dr. Williams' Pink Pills will correct most forms of backache, even rheumatic.

For people who work too hard or dance too much and sleep too little, better habits and a course of treatment with Dr. Williams' Pink Pills are all that are needed to drive away the pains and aches that are warnings of a coming breakdown.

KAISER PERMITS PEACE DEBATE.

PARIS, Dec. 7.—It would be a mistake to believe that a discussion of peace conditions in the Reichstag will be initiated against the will of the German government, according to trustworthy information from Germany, says the special correspondent of the Temps at Berne.

"It must not be forgotten," the correspondent writes, "that the interpellator is the Socialist member, Philipp Scheidemann, well known to be in harmony with the government and violently opposed to the small group of opposition Socialists of which Dr. Karl Leibknecht is the leader. The social Democrats seek by means of the interpellation to prevent this minority from voicing a claim that it is inducing the government to express itself publicly on the question of peace and they are endeavoring at the same time to facilitate indirectly the propaganda of certain groups of Socialist pacificists in allied countries.

"On his side Chancellor Von Bethmann Hollweg is satisfied to have an occasion to explain himself regarding conditions of peace, making it appear that he was being forced to the expression by the popular will. The government thus could not be reproached with having taken the initiative in this matter."

The Chancellor, the correspondent asserts, also counts on certain neutral influences, particularly the Vatican and the White House, taking notice of the programme which he will set forth and making efforts to have it accepted.

THE POPE'S ALLOCUTION.

PARIS, Dec. 7.—The passage in Pope Benedict's allocution alluding to a peace "not advantageous to one alone of the belligerent parties" is generally commented upon by the Italian press as ambiguous, says a Havas dispatch from Rome.

Some of the comments express the view that the Pope meant by his words to condemn annexationist ambitions by Germany and Austria growing out of their military successes, while others, on the contrary, think that he wished to plead in behalf of those powers, since he must regard their defeat as certain, the dispatch adds.

AIM OF DISCUSSION.

LONDON, Dec. 7.—Telegraphing from Amsterdam the correspondent of Reuter's Telegram Company says:

"George Bernhard in the Vossische Zeitung, anticipating peace discussions in the Reichstag, writes: 'The main and whole point is that we in the eventual conclusion of peace shall find an outlet for our international policy which shall allow us to pursue our clear goals with the least friction and risk.

"'The aim of this policy can only be in the interest of the German people and the German empire.

"'The wish to liberate other peoples can only be accomplished if thereby the military security of the empire and the peaceful development of the people are not interfered with.

"'Our future attitude toward the enemy or toward neutral peoples cannot be determined by sentiment, but only by cool consideration as to what attitude toward future problems would be best for us.'"

WAR CHIEFS AT A BANQUET.

PARIS, Dec. 7.—A notable company of military authorities and diplomatists lunched with Premier Briand today. The Premier's guests were Gen. Joffre, the French commander-in-chief; Field Marshal Sir John French, commander of the British forces on the Franco-Belgian front; Gen. Gilinsky, aide de camp to Emperor Nicholas of Russia; Gen. DUMA OPENING DELAYED.

[BY ATLANTIC CABLE AND A. P.]

PETROGRAD (via London) Dec. 7.—Emperor Nicholas has issued a rescript postponing indefinitely the opening of the Duma and the Council of the Empire. This action is taken on the ground that the budget committees of those bodies have not yet completed the budget.

RUMANIA VEERS TOWARD PEACE.

GENEVA (Switzerland) Dec. 7 (via Paris.)—During the past two months there has been a considerable veering of public opinion in Rumania in favor of the neutrality policy of Premier Bratiano, says the correspondent at Bucharest of the Journal de Geneve. The writer adds:

"This has been largely due to the Austro-German invasion of Serbia and to the fear of Rumanians undergoing the lot of the Belgians and Serbians. A majority of the ruling classes sympathize with France and hope that she will be victorious.

"All Rumanians are convinced that Premier Bratiano will join the Quadruple Entente but only when he can oppose to the 800,000 Austro-Hungarians, Germans, Bulgarians and Turks an army of equal or superior strength.

"Rumania's intervention will be dependent upon the entry of the Russians into Bulgaria. Italian intervention in the Balkans is regarded with skepticism."

MORE PASSPORTS ASKED FOR FORD PEACE PARTY.

ON BOARD S.S. OSCAR II (by wireless via Cape Race, Dec. 7.)—Gov. L. B. Hanna of North Dakota sent a wireless message to Secretary of State Lansing urging him to provide members of the Ford peace party with passports which will enable them to visit belligerent countries.

Henry Ford, head of the party, has sent a wireless message to Congress asking support for his plans to end the European war.

JUST OUR ECCENTRICITY.

BERLIN, Dec. 7 (via London.)—The German press in general treats the Ford peace mission only as a manifestation of American eccentricity.

According to opinion here the mission will have but slight chance of exerting its efforts in any belligerent country in view of the fact that the passports of its members are good only for neutral countries.

INVOLVES MOODY IN NEW HAVEN.

MELLEN SAYS HE REFUSED TO ENTER A COMPLAINT.

Former Railway President Declares ex-Attorney-General Declined to Take Action in the Acquisition of New York and New England as Violation of Law.

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE.]

NEW YORK, Dec. 7.—The defense at the trial of the eleven former directors of the New York, New Haven and Hartford Railroad charged with conspiring to monopolize the transportation system of New England began today the introduction of evidence intended to prove that official approval was given by the authorities of Massachusetts or other New England States for every railroad the New Haven acquired.

The indicated purpose of the testimony elicited from Charles S. Mellen on cross-examination was to show that the directors, with the knowledge of this approval, could have had no criminal intent to violate the law and presumed that they were acting in accordance with the law.

The New York, Providence and Boston Railroad was acquired by an act of the Rhode Island Legislature, Mr. Mellen testified, and the lease of the Old Colony was approved by the Attorney-General of Massachusetts. The New York and New England, which the government alleges the New Haven forced into receivers' hands, was leased with the approval of the Massachusetts Railroad Commission. The commission's grant of the petition, therefore, was read into the record.

Mr. Mellen testified further that William G. Moody, Attorney-General of the United States under President Roosevelt, and later Supreme Court justice, refused to entertain a complaint made in 1904 that the acquisition of the New York and New England was a violation of the Sherman law. Mr. Mellen said that when he heard of the complaint he went to Washington and saw Mr. Moody.

"He told me," the witness continued, "that there was no occasion for action in the matter by the Department of Justice. He said he believed it would cause a revolution in New England if they attempted to take the New York and New England away from the New Haven."

The New York and New England road, said Mr. Mellen, was a line "that could not live by its own business."

"The only way it could survive," he added, "was to make a nuisance of itself and make its rich neighbor support it." By this Mr. Mellen said he meant the traffic which the New Haven furnished it. As soon as the New Haven acquired it, improvements were made and it was rendered so efficient that as much freight entered New England over its Poughkeepsie bridge connection as over the New Haven line proper.

BUTTONHOLING THE DEMOCRAT

Suffragists and Anti [illegible] by National Committee

Great Crowd Jams [illegible] Listen to Arguments

WASHINGTON, Dec. 7.—[illegible] suffragists and anti-suffragists [illegible] ring speeches debated the [illegible] votes for women for an hour [illegible] before the National Democratic [illegible] mittee, which held a public [illegible] in a hotel ballroom to hear the [illegible] The place was packed to the [illegible]

Six suffrage leaders told the [illegible] mitteemen that the women of [illegible] tion were looking to the Democratic party to champion a Federal [illegible] amendment, either in the platform of [illegible] gress or in the platform of the Democratic National convention. [illegible] leaders of the National Party [illegible] posed to Suffrage argued that [illegible] party already had declared [illegible] frage is wholly a State question, [illegible] that, moreover a majority of [illegible] women did not want to be [illegible] chised.

The committee took no vote, the members appeared to [illegible] debate thoroughly and [illegible] each speaker liberally.

The hearing was arranged by [illegible] the Congressional Union for [illegible] Suffrage, in convention here, [illegible] wanted to tell the committee [illegible] suffrage had become a factor. [illegible] When the union's request was [illegible] National American Woman Suffrage Association asked to be heard, [illegible] then the National Society of [illegible] Woman's Suffrage sent word to the committee that they could not [illegible] the claims of the suffragettes [illegible] challenged.

Speaker Champ Clark was in the front row of the crowd [illegible] when the first suffrage [illegible] went to the platform. A committeeman proposed that he be given a place of honor on the platform. "Not on your life," said Champ, and he remained on the floor.

Mrs. Florence Kelley, of New York, president of the National Consumers' League, began the debate briefly for the desire of [illegible] American women for the vote, and then introduced Mrs. Lilly C. [illegible] holme, a member of the Utah legislature, who declared that since Utah desired the franchise [illegible] recalled.

Miss Frances Jolliffe of San Francisco, and Mrs. Sara Bard [illegible] Portland, Or., the two women who brought across the continent by automobile the petition from [illegible] en voters of the West asking [illegible] eral suffrage amendment, were [illegible] They demanded that the Democratic Congress pass the Susan B. Anthony amendment.

Mrs. Antoinette Funk, chairman of the Congressional Committee of the National Woman Suffrage Association, pleaded with the committee to write into the next Democratic platform a plank pertaining to suffrage.

Mrs. Kate Gordon, of New Orleans, a prominent worker in the National States Suffrage Association, appealed to the Democratic party to help the southern situation in its hands. She urged us a hearing before the Democratic conventions [illegible]

MRS. DODGE LEADS OPPOSITION

As Mrs. Gordon concluded, the ranks of standing women [illegible] purple, white and gold of the suffragists, parted and Mrs. [illegible] Dodge, of New York, president of the National Association Opposed to Suffrage made her way to the platform. In a brief prepared address she declared that the administration had announced that suffrage was not an issue for Federal action, and [illegible]

"Having in mind this [illegible] nouncement we confidently [illegible] the refusal of this committee to hear the propaganda of [illegible] suffragists."

Mrs. A. K. George, of Boston, chairman of the Congressional Committee of the Anti-Suffrage Association, made a long argument against suffrage and told the committee that the only States where [illegible] losses were known in the [illegible] were in States where the National Union for Woman Suffrage had been working.

"Sometimes we have the [illegible] women to go into the [illegible] trated to us."

The outbreak subsided as [illegible] it arose.

Tonight a reception was held at headquarters of the Congressional Union for Mrs. O. H. P. Belmont, of New York, a prominent member of the National Executive Committee. [illegible] those in the receiving line [illegible] Margaret Wilson, [illegible] daughter.

WILSON'S MESSAGE PLEASES ALIENS.

WASHINGTON, Dec. 7.—Keen interest in the President's address was shown by the foreign representatives in the diplomatic galleries, where every embassy and legation was represented. All appeared pleased with the message, and the Latin-Americans expressed special gratification over the references to Pan-Americanism.

"It was the clearest definition ever made of this country's Pan-American policy," said Eduardo Saurez-Mupica, Ambassador from Chile.

Dr. Eusebio A. Morales, Minister of Panama, said:

"The statements of President Wilson in reference to Pan-Americanism and its true meaning will find an enthusiastic response in the whole continent, and will make stronger the ties of brotherhood which now unite the nations of America."

CATARRH GERMS EASILY KILLED

If you have catarrh and want to get rid of it you must kill the germs which cause catarrh. Stomach dosing, ointments, sprays, creams, douches, etc., fail because they overlook this fact. They all help by giving temporary relief but they do not reach the germ life that has found lodgement in your head, nose, throat, and could not destroy it if they did.

The best known way of destroying the dangerous germs of Catarrh and consequently ending the disease itself, it to breathe into the air passages of your nose and throat the pleasant, penetrating air of Hyomei (pronounced High-o-me). Hyomei is made from purest oil of Eucalyptus combined with other powerful, healing, antiseptic and germicidal ingredients. You breathe it through a little pocket inhaler which The Owl Drug Co and other leading druggists in Los Angeles and vicinity are furnishing with every complete treatment sold. Every time you inhale the sweet, fragrant air of Hyomei through this little device you are drawing into your swollen, inflamed, germ laden membranes a medicated air which will not only reduce all the swelling and inflammation and open your clogged nose and stopped-up air passages, but will absolutely and positively destroy every trace of Catarrh germ life it reaches. Druggists are so sure of the blessed, lasting relief that Hyomei brings to catarrh suffers that they sell it invariably on the positive guarantee that money paid will be refunded if successful results are not secured from its use. Get a Hyomei outfit from your druggist today and begin at once to drive this dangerous and disgusting disease from your system forever.

OUCH! PAIN, PAIN. RUB RHEUMATIC, ACHING JOINTS

Rheumatism is "pain only." Not one case in fifty requires internal treatment. Stop drugging. Rub soothing, penetrating "St. Jacob's Oil" right into your sore, stiff, aching joints and muscles, and relief comes instantly. "St. Jacob's Oil" is a harmless rheumatism cure which never disappoints and cannot burn the skin.

Limber up! Quit complaining! Get a small trial bottle of old, honest "St. Jacob's Oil" at any drug store, and in just a moment you'll be free from rheumatic pain, soreness, stiffness and swelling. Don't suffer. Relief awaits you. "St. Jacob's Oil" has cured millions of rheumatism sufferers in the last half century, and is just as good for sciatica, neuralgia, lumbago, backache, sprains.

LITERACY TEST IS RESURRECTED

WASHINGTON, Dec. 7.—[illegible] Dillingham of Vermont, chairman of the former Immigration Committee, today introduced a bill providing that male aliens over 16 years of age who cannot read should be refused admission to the United States. The bill would limit the admission in any one year to 10 per cent. of the number of that nationality.

Unlike the bills [illegible] dents Cleveland, Taft and [illegible] Dillingham bill proposes that the literacy test should apply only to

THE BELMONT APTS.,
(Formerly the Irma.)
Figueroa at Tustin. Easy walking distance.
The Belmont is NOT operated on the on cut-and-dried policy of "how little one can give the guest and get away with it."
The present management has had experience in apartment-houses only from the guests' side of the cashier's desk. As a result, the policy of "not how little, but how much we can give our guests" has been adopted, and is being strictly followed.
To the employees about the house who come in contact with the guests we eternally preach that "the guest is always right." Service, courtesy, service, is the password. To the guest who wishes service we say that service to come NOW, quick to come running. We want to do away as far as is possible, with those petty annoyances which have ruined many a disposition. We make mistakes—lots of them—but we strive not to repeat them. We run our heating boilers on the principle that if one's room gets too warm the temperature can easily be lowered by opening the windows. We are trying to run everything about the Belmont on that principle. We would prefer to make a very little money and have our guests happy and contented, than to make a whole lot of profit and have a grumpy, dissatisfied houseful of people about our ears.
The Belmont is a large, fine property, and there is no reason why it should not command adequate business to return the owner a reasonable profit on his investment—providing the property is managed in the right way—and that means, in a manner which will make people want to live there, to succeed, we must be liberal, generous—and that's why we have adopted the policy: "Not how little, but HOW MUCH we can give our guests."
If you are not perfectly satisfied where you are, call and see what the Belmont can offer you. Talk with our guests and learn how they feel.

St. Louis Selected.

St. Louis, 25; Dallas, 14; Chicago, 13.

On the second ballot the vote was St. Louis, 28; Chicago, 15; Dallas, 9. The majority for St. Louis was gained on this ballot when John T. McGraw arose near the end of the call and changed West Virginia's vote from Chicago to the Missouri city. Then the choice was made unanimous.

It has been customary heretofore for national conventions to begin work on Tuesday. The fact that Tuesday fell on the thirteenth next year may or may not have had something to do with the determination of the committee to begin the proceedings a day later. The official explanation, however, was to the effect that the convention would not require more than three or four days to complete its work and it would not be too late in the week to start on Wednesday.

REPUBLICANS TO CHICAGO.

Political leaders in Washington tonight regarded it as practically certain that Chicago would be selected for the Republican convention when the National Committee of that party meets next Tuesday. The date for this convention probably will be late in June.

Each of the three cities contesting for the Democratic convention put in a bid of $100,000. St. Louis placed in the hands of the chairman New York drafts for that amount. Dallas offered a certified check, while Chicago presented a pledge from the Association of Commerce to contribute $100,000 on call of the treasurer of the Democratic committee.

The advocates of St. Louis supplemented their financial inducements by a warning to the committee that the convention was needed in Missouri to keep the eighteen electoral votes of that State in the Democratic column. The delegation from Dallas pleaded with the committee to reward the loyal Democracy of the South by sending the convention next year to a southern State. The Texas speakers were greeted with enthusiastic cheers by the members of their delegation and the "rebel yell" several times interrupted the proceedings.

Chicago based its appeal largely on its climate and its known ability to take care of crowds. The National Committee was in session almost continuously from 11:30 a.m. until late tonight, completing details of convention arrangements, discussing financial ways and means for the coming campaign and debating various successes of party interest.

The opening of the session was given the atmosphere of a love feast when Thomas J. Pence of North Carolina, a protege of Secretary of the Navy Daniels, was elected secretary and in a speech of acceptance declared that reports of differences between himself and National Chairman William F. McCombs had no foundation.

Mr. Pence, regarded by many as a representative of the administration, said amid cheers that he had worked harmoniously with Mr. McCombs in the past and purposed to work harmoniously with him in the future.

Chairman McCombs also arose to remark that the Democratic committee would continue to work indefatigably for the further success of the party. He declared there was not a cloud on the Democratic horizon and that it was the duty of the committee to see that none should gather.

The committee was confronted with two contests which threatened for a time to cause some feeling but they settled in a short time and the atmosphere seemingly was cleared. Very Woodson of Kentucky was seated in his contest with Gen. W. B. Haldeman of Louisville, and Will R. King was seated from Oregon, in a contest with W. F. Easterly.

A part of the day was taken up in hearing the cause of woman suffrage discussed by representatives of the suffragist organization and by a body of women in opposition. The committee applauded all the speakers, but there was no effort to place the members on record. Several hundred women crowded into the committee-room to cheer their spokesmen.

RESOLUTION.

The resolution indorsing the Wilson administration and the Democratic members of the House and Senate who have helped to carry forward his policies was adopted by a standing vote. It follows:

"We congratulate the country on the splendid administration of Woodrow Wilson. Under the most trying circumstances in our history he has steadfastly worked for the cause of peace, and has avoided war, without yielding on well recognized principles of international law, justice and humanity. He has vindicated the rights of neutrals on the sea, he has upheld the best traditions of his high office, and has discharged his trust with such signal fidelity, firmness and efficiency that he has won the confidence and affection of the American people, regardless of political affiliations. His masterly handling of both national and international questions demands his renomination and re-election as the trusted leader of the national democracy in 1916.

"We heartily commend the efficient service of those distinguished Senators and Representatives in Congress who have tirelessly and successfully endeavored to assist the President in the work of his administration."

SUFFRAGISTS HEARD.

It was after the suffragists had been heard late in the afternoon that the committee decided to take up the claims of the various cities seeking the convention. As the call of States proceeded there was no response until Illinois was reached. Then the national committeeman from that State, Charles Boeschenstein, presented Gov. Edward F. Dunne to make the opening statement for Chicago. Clark Howell of Georgia secured the adoption of a resolution limiting each city to thirty minutes. Mr. Boeschenstein and Roger C. Sullivan, who held a proxy from Hawaii, did not want Chicago's financial offer to go before the committee until the other cities had been heard from. The committee, however, decided that each city in turn should present its case.

"All right, then," said Mr. Boeschenstein, "we will start the ante with an offer of $100,000 guaranteed by the Association of Commerce."

"What do you mean by ante?" asked a committeeman from the rear of the hall.

"Let somebody raise it and we will show you," replied the gentleman from Illinois.

Gov. Dunne declared that Chicago was the finest summer resort in the world and is the greatest railway center in the United States.

"One-half the population of this country can reach Chicago overnight," he asserted.

"Chicago," Senator James Hamilton Lewis said, "is the hub of such doubtful States as Indiana, Michigan, Wisconsin and Iowa, as well as Illinois itself. The Democracy needs these States and by holding the convention in Chicago, you will help us to get them."

When Missouri's turn came the committeeman from that State, E. F. Goltra, introduced Speaker Champ Clark to lead the fight for St. Louis. The Speaker was greeted with cheers. He asserted that St. Louis was closer to the center of the country than any other of the applicant cities.

"If I had my way about it," said the Speaker, somewhat reflectively, "there never would be another national convention, but in its stead we would have Presidential primaries. Furthermore, I think every national convention should be held in a hall accommodating not more than 2000 persons—1000 delegates, 1000 alternates and 1000 newspapermen. That's enough.

"Now I believe in playing the game with the cards above the table. Do you want the eighteen electoral votes of Missouri or don't you? If you want them send the convention to St. Louis.

"Senator Lewis, with that wonderfully expansive imagination of his, has pictured Chicago as the hub of several doubtful States. The States he mentioned as doubtful are about as reliably Republican as Vermont.

"Missouri, on the other hand, always has been the Democratic breakwater against the Republican hordes of the north. But recently the Republicans of Illinois and Iowa have been moving into Missouri and the Republican vote is increasing. A lot of our good Democrats in Missouri have been moving to Texas and Oklahoma to help build up those States. But the Republicans in Missouri won't move out. The colored brother stays with us. He stays and propagates and propagates fluently."

Mayor Henry D. Lindsey was the first of the Texas delegation to be heard.

"Gentlemen," he said, "we don't have to explain how Texas in the past went Republican. And we don't have to frighten you with predictions as to how it may go Republican in the future. Texas is, however, a doubtful State. We never know until the votes are counted whether the Republicans or the Socialists got the most votes."

The voting for the convention city was in executive session, but the result was announced immediately the second ballot had been concluded.

In seating Urey Woodson as member from Kentucky the committee held that when he was selected by the Kentucky State Central Committee to succeed the late John Mayo, Woodson was chosen to fill the entire unexpired term. The selection of Gen. Haldeman by the Kentucky State convention as a member of the committee, which took place after the Woodson election, was not regular, it was held.

A report to this effect was drawn up by a sub-committee consisting of Norman E. Mack of New York; Edwin O. Wood of Michigan and John T. McGraw of West Virginia and adopted unanimously by the meeting. The sub-committee also found that Gen. Haldeman had acted in good faith in contesting the seat. Friends of Mr. Easterly of Oregon failed in their effort to prove that the Baltimore platform provided specifically for the seating of committeemen selected at State primaries without regard to whether their predecessors' terms have expired. The committee held that the Baltimore plank, which was drawn after the present committeemen were named, will not be operative until next spring.

Easterly was chosen at a recent primary to succeed King, who was named by the State Central Committee of his State.

The problem of financing the campaign caused much talk in the executive session, but no comprehensive plan was devised. It was made plain to all committeemen, however, that they should solicit contributions from office holders only as citizens and not assess them fixed amounts.

Rolla Wells of Missouri continues to act as treasurer of the committee. Earlier in the week it was said he would resign at this meeting. A resolution was adopted giving control of the seating arrangements for newspapermen at the convention to the standing committee of the press galleries of Congress. The committee on arrangements will be named later by Chairman McCombs.

most of which was accumulated by saving half dollars, quarter dollars, dimes, nickels and pennies.

If you can save dimes only, it will surprise you how rapidly you will accumulate a capital. A young married couple, owing to the small salary the husband received, told us upon securing a safe: "We have decided to save all dimes coming into our possession." In nine months they saved 1650 dimes, or $165.00. It was by saving "something" that $300,000.00 was accumulated.

To make the gift attractive, the savings pass-book and safe will be enclosed in holly-decorated covers, and an embossed card of greetings bearing the giver's name included in the Christmas package. If desired,

EVEN CROSS SICK CHILDREN LOVE SYRUP OF FIGS

Don't scold your fretful, peevish child. See if tongue is coated; this is a sure sign its little stomach, liver and bowels are clogged with sour waste.

When listless, pale, feverish, full of cold, breath bad, throat sore, doesn't eat, sleep or act naturally, has stomachache, indigestion, diarrhoea, give a teaspoonful of "California Syrup of Figs," and in a few hours all the foul waste, the soul bile and fermenting food passes out of the bowels and you have a well and playful child again. Children love this harmless "fruit laxative," and mothers can rest easy after giving it, because it never fails to make their little "insides" clean and sweet.

Keep it handy, Mother! A little given today saves a sick child tomorrow, but get the genuine. Ask your druggist for a 50-cent bottle of "California Syrup of Figs," which has directions for babies, children of all ages and for grown-ups plainly on the bottle. Remember, there are counterfeits sold here, so surely look and see that yours is made by the "California Fig Syrup Company." Hand back with contempt any other fig syrup.

UNSIGHTLY RASH ON FOREHEAD

Of Baby. Started Like Tiny Water Blisters. Kept Spreading. Very Red.

HEALED BY CUTICURA SOAP AND OINTMENT

"My baby was only three months old when a sort of a rash broke out on his forehead. It started like tiny water blisters and kept spreading till it almost covered his forehead. It was very red and unsightly. He was cross most all the time, and would roll his head from side to side as if he was trying to get away from the torture.

"All the time the rash kept spreading. I finally sent for a free sample of Cuticura Soap and Ointment. I used as directed and bought more. The rash has disappeared, and his face is entirely healed, and it has never broken out since." (Signed) Mrs. H. R. Powers, Henderson, Cal., April 6, 1915.

Cuticura Soap to cleanse and purify and Cuticura Ointment to soothe and heal are most effective toilet preparations.

To Ward Off Winter Complexion Ills

To keep the face smooth, white and beautiful all winter, there's nothing quite so good as ordinary mercolized wax. Rough, chapped or discolored skin, inevitable in this weather, is gently absorbed by the wax and replaced by the newer, fresher skin beneath. The face exhibits no trace of the wax, the latter being applied at bedtime and washed off mornings. Creams, powders and rouges, on the other hand, are apt to appear conspicuous at this season, because of alternating expansion and contraction of the skin, due to changing temperatures. I advise you to try this simple treatment. Get an ounce of mercolized wax at any drug store and use like cold cream. This will help any skin at once, and in a week or so the complexion will look remarkably youthful and healthy. Winds and flying dust often cause squinting and other contortions which make wrinkles. You can quickly get rid of every wrinkle, however produced, by using a harmless face bath made by dissolving 1 oz. powdered saxolite in ½ pint witch hazel.

DARKEN YOUR GRAY HAIR

Look Young — Gray Hair Changed to an Even Dark Shade by Q-Ban. Harmless—No Dye.

You can easily turn your gray, lifeless, dry, faded or streaked with gray hair beautifully dark and lustrous if you'll apply, a few times, Q-Ban Hair Color Restorer to hair and scalp like a shampoo. Q-Ban is a harmless, ready-to-use liquid, not sticky, and darkens all your gray hair so evenly that no one can tell it has been applied. Q-Ban is not a dye, but acts on the roots, makes hair and scalp healthy, naturally changing gray hair and entire head of hair to that soft, even, dark luster, fluffiness, beauty and abundance which makes the hair so fascinating and attractive, besides preventing dandruff, itching scalp and falling hair. Guaranteed to satisfy or money refunded. Only 50c for a big 7-oz. bottle at McKay & Monkman Drug Stores, Los Angeles, Cal. Out-of-town folks supplied by parcel post.

Johnsonian Dilemma.

EXTRA SESSION IN PROSPECT.

Changing Registration Laws is the Object.

Parties Ask Registrar to Allow Affiliation,

Appeal to People's Voice in Justification.

Following action by four political party committees yesterday urging Registrar of Voters McAleer to provide for the declaration of party affiliation on the affidavits to be used in January for the new registration, and came from Sacramento that the matter is seriously considering the possibility of calling a special session of the Legislature.

The Governor is averse to convening the Legislature in special session, but he appreciates the fact that something must be done to make the registration conform without the State. While he has shown no disposition to make the change in harmonize with the sentiment of the people, as expressed October 26, when they defeated the antiparty measure, it is reported he has reached the conclusion that he will not be held responsible for any legal complications that may follow the new elections if the registration features are not straightened out.

Registrar McAleer received letters yesterday from the Prohibition State Central Committee, urging him to include the party affiliation statement in the 1916 registration affidavit. The Republicans, Democrats and Socialists, all of whom acted together in October to defeat Johnson's party-destroying measure, have taken similar action.

AFFILIATION LETTER.

The letter of the Prohibitionist State Committee, signed by N. H. Chilcott, chairman, and James P. M. Ingram, secretary, says:

"In behalf of the thousands of Prohibitionists of Los Angeles county we wish to urge the importance of a full and unrestricted recording of political party affiliations of the voters in connection with the new

BAN ON DANCING MADE OFFICIAL.

POLICE COMMISSION PUTS A QUIETUS ON THE APPEALS.

Bang!

Just like that, the Police Commission clamped down the lid on dancing by patrons in local cafes yesterday when it was discovered that in neither the city ordinances nor the minutes of the Police Commission is there any word that says it is either naughty or undesirable to permit patrons to one-step between meals or at intervals between drinks.

Members of the commission were of the opinion that when the subject was discussed a few months ago with the cafe and hotel men they adopted a resolution to the effect that the dancing should not be permitted, but a search of the records showed no official action. In the meantime the commission was confronted with appeals from Mrs. E. R. Brainerd and Mrs. D. C. McCan asking that dancing be allowed and with protests from the Ebell Club and representatives of various church organizations who argued that liquor and dancing form a combination that is to be avoided if possible.

Among the "whereases" in the resolution adopted yesterday is one that says the general public is not fully informed on the situation and another that says dancing by patrons in cafes does not comport with public welfare or public safety, so the commission concludes that hereafter, dancing by patrons is to be regarded as improper conduct of the business and the Chief of Police is instructed accordingly. Copies of the resolution will be mailed to all holders of first-class restaurant liquor licenses.

The commission also adopted a resolution that after January 1, next, no music of any kind is to be permitted in saloons.

MOHAMMEDAN INDICTED.

Galum Rasool, a Mohammedan, known along the Mexican border as "Boota," was indicted by the Federal grand jury for violation of the immigration laws, in bringing into the country aliens who had not been inspected by the immigration officials. It is claimed by the government that Rasool has been in charge of the "underground railroad" running from Mexicali to this side of the boundary line, on which all of the passengers were Hindus, running the blockade from Mexico. Scores of such aliens, most of them coming north from the Isthmus of Panama, were safely carried by the Rasool line until the government officers learned about the illegal traffic.

The Schmidt Trial.

NEAR CRISIS OF DYNAMITE CASE.

McManigal to Take Stand for State this Morning.

To Tell Whole Story of the Horrible Conspiracy.

Testimony will Occupy About Two Court Weeks.

Matthew A. Schmidt, the unionite labor agitator, who is on trial in the Superior Court, charged with murder in connection with the dynamiting of the original Times Building when twenty innocent men lost their lives, will face the State's star witness this morning when Ortie E. McManigal is called to the witness stand. Upon McManigal's testimony, Dist.-Atty. Woolwine is depending largely for the successful prosecution of the case.

From McManigal the State will draw a story that will expose the whole dynamiting conspiracy, starting in 1907 and leading to October 1, 1910, the date of The Times disaster. He has a mass of information concerning explosions that occurred subsequent to the local catastrophe, but Judge Willis has ruled that such testimony will not be admitted.

McManigal told the whole story before a jury in the Federal court at Indianapolis, when more than two-score conspirators were on trial and it was upon his testimony that thirty-eight of them were convicted and sent to Federal prisons. McManigal has a remarkable memory and though it has been five years since he was actively engaged in his career of destruction, he said last night, he has no fear of any of his statements being contradicted.

WILL ENTER BUSINESS.

"I am happy that the end is near," he said. "When it is all over I will go into the mining business and try to forget the past."

McManigal declares he has thoroughly reformed and he wants to make a clean record of the remainder of his life. He says he has no bad habits and caused some laughter when someone offered him a cigarette.

"I have used lots of different kinds of sticks in my time," he said, "but I have never got down to sticks like that."

Dist.-Atty. Woolwine will interrogate McManigal. He expects the witness to be under direct examination for at least a week and maybe more. How long the attorneys for the defense will keep him under cross-examination is problematical. This will be handled by Attorney Coghlan, who has been away from the courtroom two days preparing for the task.

When the trial is resumed this morning, Deputy District Attorney Keyes will offer a few more letters that passed between former officers of the International Association of Bridge and Structional Iron-workers and other union labor leaders. There are only sixteen to be read and it is expected McManigal will take the stand by 10 o'clock.

Yesterday morning was devoted to the examination of several of the State's witnesses, who were brought here from eastern cities and who expressed a desire to get home. No objection was raised to the introduction of their testimony out of order.

POLICEMAN'S EVIDENCE.

Capt. William J. Deevy of the New York police department, told of arresting Schmidt on Broadway near Sixty-sixth street, New York, and said the prisoner made a desperate effort to get away.

"Schmidt did not cease his struggling with me until two detectives of the Burns agency came to my assistance," the witness said.

Attorney McKenzie brought out the admission that Schmidt was not armed but failed in his attempt to show that the reason he resisted was because he did not know Capt. Deevy was an officer.

R. D. Jones, a Los Angeles contractor, who had the subcontract to erect the steel structure of the Utah Hotel, Salt Lake City, in 1909, told of two explosions and many wrangles he had with unionite bosses. He said the explosions followed attempts of Munsey and others to compel him to employ union men. One explosion, he said, blew him out of bed.

One of the letters read to the jury was written by Olaf A. Tveitmoe, the San Francisco agitator, to J. J. McNamara. In it he spoke of the "terrible" conditions in Los Angeles and asked for $1000 to carry on a campaign here. Letters to be introduced today will show that the money was sent to him.

HAVE YOU SEEN PRINCE?

Whole School Mourns for Little Dog that was a Regular Attendant for Many Years.

Prince, a diminutive mongrel belonging to little Ernest Hasper of No. 407 W. Avenue 50, Highland Park, is missing and the whole Monte Vista school is in deep mourning.

Up to the time of his disappearance Prince had not missed a day at school in six years. When his master entered the kindergarten he enrolled himself as a student and came regularly, rain or shine.

When his master was promoted he was advanced also. While the children were at their books he strolled about the room, occasionally seating himself beside one of the scholars and inspecting the work. At calisthenics time he would rouse himself and stretch in comical unison with the movements of the children.

A rule was made that no dogs be allowed in the school but the pupils had become so attached to Prince that an exception was made in his case.

The children of Highland Park have instituted a search for their devoted pet. He has no pedigree but is just plain dog, stands about nine inches high, has a white breast and mottled coat.

Conviction Turns Largely on His Story.

Ortie McManigal,

Star witness for the State in the trial of M. A. Schmidt, charged with murder in connection with the dynamite conspiracy. McManigal is here handling one of the clock-work bombs. He will go on the stand this morning.

As German Sympathizer.

LONDON THINKS MISSING GRAHAME-WHITE IN CELL.

THAT Claude Grahame-White, the noted English aviator and sportsman, who disappeared from view some four months ago, has been imprisoned by the British government because of alleged German sympathies, is generally believed in London, according to Mrs. A. M. Knight, who left that city fifteen days ago and arrived at the Rosslyn last night. Mrs. Knight, the wife of a prominent official in India, is here for her health, and will probably remain several months. She states the disappearance of the aviator under peculiar circumstances in the early months of the summer created a great sensation, although British censorship prevented anything being published at the time.

Recently, she says, reports of his imprisonment have leaked through semiofficial channels, and have been given general credence throughout England. She states the English papers are permitted to print only news passed by the censor and that one London daily which printed a rumor to the effect that Lord Kitchener had resigned was closed by the police and its forms and presses destroyed.

She states many spies have been found in London recently, and that during the last Zeppelin raid several persons were arrested for signaling from the roof of a Strand hotel. Within the past month, she states, aeroplane patrols and an elaborate system of outposts have prevented the German airships from approaching the city undetected, and batteries of aeroplane guns have turned the invaders back in time to save the city from harm. It is generally believed, according to Mrs. Knight, that there will be no more disastrous raids because, of necessity, the Zeppelins fly at a lesser altitude during the cold weather.

The invading airships, she says, have been able to make their escape by exploding "cloud bombs," which spread over a large area and render the machines invisible to the gunners on the ground. Mrs. Knight states four captive balloons and a similar number of large aeroplanes ascend each evening over London to detect signals and pick up wireless messages. Several suspected spies have been apprehended by this method she states.

Mrs. Knight left India in May and says the City of York, on which she was a passenger, narrowly escaped being rammed by a German boat one dark night on the Mediterranean Sea. She says all vessels passing through the Suez Canal, were targets for Turkish snipers and passengers were ordered to remain below decks. She declares English women are doing every class of labor formerly done by men and that all suffragette agitation has ceased. The people of London are expending weekly more than $100,000 to care for the Belgian refugees, Mrs. Knight states. She says the figures were given her by her brother, who is secretary of the Belgium relief fund.

The Adriatic, on which Mrs. Knight took passage for New York, sailed under sealed orders, she states, and went almost three days' journey from her regular course because of suspected enemy submarines in the regular lanes of traffic.

EDUCATOR IS LAID AT REST.

FUNERAL OF PRINCIPAL OF THE COMPTON HIGH SCHOOL LARGELY ATTENDED.

Mourned by a very large circle of friends, Walter Roy Moberly, late principal of the Compton High School, was laid at rest in Rosedale Cemetery yesterday afternoon. The funeral services were largely attended

Mr. Moberly was born in Osceola, Neb., in October, 1886. Shortly thereafter his parents moved to the Black Hills, S. D., and there he graduated from the Spearfish Normal School in 1905. He taught in Keystone as principal of the High School in 1905 and 1906, and then in Spearfish for two years. He came to California in 1909, and was married to Miss Hazel Reed on July 14 of that year. The widow and three children survive him.

Mrs. Bonynge was born sixty-two years ago in Meigs county, Ohio. Her maiden name was Mary Ann Davis. When still a young woman her parents moved from Ohio to Virginia City. It was there she first met Mr. Bonynge. They were married shortly after.

It was not long after the wedding that Mr. and Mrs. Bonynge came to California. They came to Los Angeles thirty years ago. Ten years after their arrival in this city they built the Bonynge home on South Hill street.

Both sons live in Los Angeles. W. A. Bonynge, Jr., is assistant cashier of the bank of which his father is president. Dr. Charles W. Bonynge is a prominent physician, living at No. 177 South Normandie avenue.

Until ten years ago Mrs. Bonynge enjoyed the best of health. At that time she became ill, and until her death was an invalid. Funeral services will be conducted at 2:30 o'clock tomorrow afternoon in the Garrett undertaking parlors.

law gives judges the unquestioned right to order the payment of expenses for witnesses brought from outside the county. Several members of the board have objected to payment of such fees, and Supervisor Norton has challenged all warrants, particularly those drawn in the Schmidt case. In order to arrive at a better understanding as to fees, it is probable a conference between the board and the Superior judges of the county will be held in the near future.

INTO GENTLE SLEEP.

Mrs. Mary A. Bonynge, wife of W. A. Bonynge, president of the Commercial National Bank, and mother of W. A. Bonynge, Jr., and Dr. Charles W. Bonynge, passed away last evening at the Bonynge residence, No. 1039 South Hill street. Death came following an illness of ten years.

Victory in Sight.

TWENTY-SEVEN YEARS TO WIN.

Our Own "Battle of Bunker Hill" Beats Boston's.

We'll Get it this Time, Says Topham to Ad Men.

The whole story of Los Angeles' Battle of Bunker Hill, which for length and bitterness has the original Massachusetts affair beaten in at least a dozen directions for the Sabbath, was told by Councilman Topham to the Ad Club at the Clark yesterday.

Councilman Topham went back twenty-seven years to the inception of the first scheme to make a little less arduous the climb from the downtown section to the other side of the ridge. He followed the successive schemes, each a little war in itself, down to the present one for the open cut and declared that this time it will go through and will be a great success.

In the main, Mr. Topham's remarks were as follows:

Ever since the days when Los Angeles began to awake and stretch herself and feel her growth, vigorous efforts have been made to directly connect that portion of the city west of Bunker Hill with the business district. Proposals have been made to scale the hill at different grades, cut it down entirely and bore holes through it, until the public records for the past twenty-five years have been more or less cluttered up with the proceedings in these various efforts, most of them futile.

In 1888 the Council adopted a resolution changing the grade of First street, planning to cut through the hill between Hill and Olive streets and fill the pond between Olive and Grand. In November of that same year, the Council adopted a resolution of intention to grade and curb First street between Broadway and Grand avenue and in December, 1888, ordered this work done.

The contract was awarded to B. F. Donegan. But no sooner had he started work than Mrs. F. W. De Shepherd, owner of property on the north side of First between Hill and Olive, brought an injunction suit, charging that the sixty-two-foot cut that was contemplated would damage her property. Mrs. De Shepherd won her suit and in April, 1889, Judge Van Dyke granted a perma-

CHURCH BACKING ITS PRESIDENT.

UNANIMOUS CONFIDENCE VOTE IN CORTELYOU, SUED BY NORTHERN MAN.

The congregation of the Highland Park Methodist Episcopal Church, gathered at a special meeting in the church building, Monday evening, unanimously adopted a resolution of confidence in James G. Cortelyou, president of the board of trustees of that congregation and realty man of this city, who was recently sued for $137,295 by T. Waldo Murphy of Spokane. The petition, filed in the Superior court of this county, alleges that Mr. Cortelyou used illicit means to promulgate a realty transaction with Mr. Murphy.

During the meeting in the church Mr. Cortelyou explained the entire transaction, declaring the allegations of Mr. Murphy to be false, and promising to prove himself innocent of the slightest suspicion of swindle, as charged. The vote of confidence was given by the assembled congregation immediately following Mr. Cortelyou's statement.

The deal which Mr. Murphy asserts originated the legal action, was made three months ago, and involved an exchange of property situated near Spokane for large lemon groves near San Bernardino. The suit names Mrs. Cortelyou and Fred E. Edmison, a local real estate man, as co-defendents with Mr. Cortelyou. It is specifically alleged that Mr. Cortelyou bribed Mr. Edmison so that the lemon groves were exchanged at a greatly inflated valuation. Mr. Murphy wanted to trade back later, but Mr. Cortelyou refused to do this. The defendants unite in declaring all the allegations false, and it is stated slander actions may follow.

PREPAREDNESS.

Sons of the Revolution to Memorialize President and Congress for National Defense.

Resolutions urging upon the President and Congress the necessity to provide adequate national defense were adopted yesterday by a meeting of the board of directors of the Society of Sons of the Revolution. The resolutions call upon the people to safeguard the heritage handed down by the revolutionary ancestors of members of the society, and authorize the apointment by the society's president of a committee of five members to draft a memorial to the President and Congress, "urging the imperative necessity of such legislative enactments as will insure to the country adequate defense both on land and sea."

Also the memorial will be communicated to the General Society of the Sons of the Revolution and to all State societies, and these urged to pass similar resolutions, and the members urged to employ what influence they can assert on Senators and Representatives to induce them to favor preparedness legislation.

RAIDS CRISIS OF ROAD WAR.

New Chapter to Eight Years of Litigation.

Rindges Seek to Curb the Fighting Settlers.

Injunction Case will Open Monday Morning.

The raids of armed settlers during the past two months through the Malibu ranch, in which they broke down padlocked gates and forced their way over the new roads built by the Rindges, have provided a new chapter to the eight years of litigation over roads there. Presiding Judge York issued a temporary restraining order yesterday, directing the settlers to appear before Judge Jackson Monday morning to show cause why they should not be restrained from entering the ranch or using the roads pending the trial of the suit for a permanent injunction.

The fight is a reflection of the victory won by the county in 1913, in which the Superior Court decreed a public road along the beach existing throughout the length of the ranch. Since this decision, the Rindges abandoned this road, and this year built new roads upon the ranch, adjacent to the public road. Heavy usage of the old road wore deep ruts, and neither the county nor settlers making any improvements upon it, and the Rindges having abandoned it, it became practically useless to travel.

The Rindges built wire gates and padlocked the new roads, but settlers, unable to travel over the public road owing to its condition, last October under the leadership of John Fitzpatrick, made a raid over the new roads, tearing down the gates and demolishing the padlocks. These raids continued during October and November, and the present fight of the Rindges is to enjoin the settlers as trespassers.

The history of the fight over roads through the 13,500-acre Malibu ranch begins in December, 1907, when the county brought suit to have the beach road declared a public highway. After three years of litigation, Judge Oster in the Superior Court, decreed the section of the road from the easterly limits of the ranch to La Chusa Canyon, a public highway. Since that time the Rindges made no improvements and as part of the road was below the high-tide line, it soon became washed away.

While that suit was under way, settlers caused the government to file suit to permit public use of roads crossing the ranch from north to south, joining with the beach road. Federal Judge Bean ruled that no such roads existed and that the settlers could gain access to their lands from the mountains to the north and had no right to cross the Malibu ranch.

All of the former litigation over Malibu ranch roads has been over roads which were alleged to have become public roads through long usage, while the present suit is from a new angle, the roads in question having just been built and never opened to public usage.

According to attorneys for the Rindge Company, the fight against public use of the roads is not only a question as to the expense of upkeep, but as a protection against forest fires. It is alleged that hunters, fishermen and campers lured to the mountain regions of the ranch in past years have caused enormous losses to the Rindge Company through forest fires.

A statement prepared by the Rindge Company attorneys, in part says:

RINDGE REASONS.

"The danger of mountain fires has been and is the controlling reason why the owners of the ranch have insisted upon regulating travel upon and across it.

"In spite, however, of the friendly attitude of Mr. Rindge toward the settlers in these matters, differences began to arise, growing largely out of an abuse of privileges and the insistence of some of them on using certain roads built by Mr. Rindge for private ranch purposes, and at the expenditure of thousands of dollars.

"For its own purposes the Rindge Company, during the present year constructed several sections of absolutely new road upon the ranch at a heavy expense, borne entirely by the Rindge Company, and upon territory never before used for road purposes, and entirely upon private ranch property.

"The question now brought up is as to the right of the public or portions of the public, to arbitrarily alese and use private roads constructed for private purposes upon private property and at private expense."

Mrs. Jack McKinley, Mrs. M. Meek and Miss Clara Henry will read. Mrs. George Page and Mrs. F. J. Bitter will sing, and Miss Winifred Custer will give exhibitions of fancy dancing. The public is invited.

AWAIT GIRL'S MOOD.

Action in White Slave Case Depends on Whether Victim will Consent to Testify.

Felizardo Himes, better known as "The Crow," charged with violation of the Mann white slave law, in inducing Miss Amelia Sanchez to go from Los Angeles to Phoenix, Ariz., for the purposes of prostitution, was arraigned before United States Commissioner Hammack, yesterday, and his hearing fixed for next Saturday morning. He was held in $1500 bail.

The case against Himes will be presented to the Federal grand jury, if in the meantime Miss Sanchez does not change her mind about appearing against him.

Bunker Hill Cut.

In June, 1890, the Council again came back with an ordinance changing the grade of First street, lowering it ten feet more at Olive street. In November, 1893, the city secured a modification of the injunction, permitting work to be done in the south half of the street, and in 1894 and 1895 by use of the chain gang, graded down the street to approximately its present grade. Mrs. de Shepherd brought suit against the city for $50,000 damages but lost.

At the same time proceedings were progressing for the improvement of First street on grade, efforts being made to pierce the hill with tunnels. In July, 1908, A. M. Stephens submitted to the Board of Public Works a scheme for a tunnel in First street between Hill and Figueroa streets. Soon after this petititions were received from various interested property owners, backing up the plan for a tunnel through First street and asking that the work be begun immediately. This agitation began to take definite shape in 1908, nearly eight years ago.

In December, 1909, the Council went on record in favor of a two-bore tunnel in First street, one for the street railway and the other for vehicle and pedestrian traffic. Later the Board of Public Works conceived another idea and asked the City Engineer for an estimate on a three-bore tunnel. In February, 1911, the City Engineer made an exhaustive report on the entire tunnel question, including First, Second and Fourth streets and giving estimates of two and three-bore tunnels for First street. On October 17, 1911, the City Council adopted an order for tunnels in First street, Second street and Fourth street. Plans were proceeding along those lines when the property owners protested and declared that what they wanted was a one-bore tunnel in First and a one-bore tunnel in Second street. The Council, on December 21, 1912, ordered the one-bore tunnels and fixed the same assessment district to pay for them.

In February, 1913, the City Engineer submitted the assessment district for the one-bore tunnels for First and Second streets, and this was approved by the Council April 22, 1913. On June 21, 1913, the location for the east portal at the east line of Hill street was presented and approved by the Council. This approval carried with it the authorization to begin the condemnation for the approaches on First street between Broadway and Hill. The next thing that occurred was a change in the plans whereby on August, 1913, the Council ordered the City Engineer to proceed with a two-bore tunnel in First street, in place of the one-bore. In December, 1913, the Council appointed Messrs. Mulholland, Storrow and Benton a special advisory committee to examine the tunnel plans.

The Council then ordered the Second-street tunnel built without waiting for the First-street tunnel, as it was found the latter would be delayed because of certain condemnations.

On the same date the Council ordered the condemnation of fifty feet on the north side of First street between Hill and Broadway. In April, 1914, a petition was received from the First-street Tunnel Association asking that the one-bore be constructed at once in First street.

THE BIG HUNCH.

Then came the big hunch for the cut through Bunker Hill in place of the tunnels, and the Council ordered all plans held until this newest scheme was investigated. This was in March, 1915. So much for the attempts to pierce the hill at First street.

The attempts to locate a tunnel at Second street have nearly paralleled the history of First street, except there have been no such difficulties of litigation in the way.

While the matter of cutting through Bunker Hill came up originally in the form of open meetings, newspaper articles, etc., it was first before the City Council in an official form when petitions asking for it were filed October 23, 1914.

In conformity with these petitions the City Council on November 6, 1914, instructed the City Engineer to prepare an estimate of the cost and the probable damages of the proposed open cut between Hill and Figueroa streets, from 140 feet north of First to 140 feet south of Second. On November 28, 1914, the City Engineer reported to the Council that he estimated the cost of the proposed open cut at $3,730,695. The engineer was then instructed to prepare a tentative assessment district, and on December 19, 1914, this district was reported, together with the costs per front foot for the various zones outlined.

March 13, 1915, the Council officially ordered the work on the proposed tunnels discontinued and instead that plans and an ordinance for the proposed open cut be submitted.

Work on the plans was started immediately and continued without interruption until June 12, 1915, when the City Engineer asked instructions of the Council on various points. This matter was referred to the Committee of the Whole of the Council and no further progress was made until October 30, 1915, when I gave verbal rulings on the points at issue. Since then the plans have been actively pushed and are rapidly nearing completion.

INJURED PATIENT SLAYS MAD DOG.

JUMPS FROM OPERATING TABLE TO ANSWER WOMAN'S CRIES IN THE STREET.

L. A. Kell, a patient in the Receiving Hospital, bounded off the operating table when he heard the cry, "Mad dog, mad dog" in the street in front, and ahead of all others met the rush of a raving dog that had been chasing women at First and Hill streets. The animal leaped at Kell, and in midair he caught it around the throat with his hands.

Holding it there he throttled it, defending himself against its slathering fangs as best he could. Its struggles grew less, and then it was still, and the body was taken to the police station to be held awaiting the examination of the City Chemist, to determine whether or not it was suffering from rabies.

Mr. Kell had gone to the Receiving Hospital to have some minor injuries, received in an auto accident, dressed. The skin had been torn from parts of his legs and arms, and the interne in the hospital was applying iodine, a sensation not cherished by the experienced. He was rocking around on the table to control his agony, when Mrs. Mary Witherly set up the cry of "mad dog."

By Kell's valor, the dog was killed before it did serious harm.

UNIVERSALISTS MEET.

Plans for "Forward Movement in California" Discussed; No Formal Business to be Taken Up.

California Universalists opened their midyear conference at the Los Angeles Church, No. 1373 South Alvarado street, Monday afternoon, with a discussion of plans for their "Next Forward Movement in California" and addresses by Rev. George A. Miller of Santa Paula and Rev. Bernard C. Ruggles.

Following the afternoon programme a dinner was given at 6 o'clock and in the evening Rev. Carl F. Henry, a Pasadena pastor, spoke on "The Child in the Midst." No formal business was discussed during the conference, which closed yesterday with addresses by Rev. C. C. Pierce and Rev. E. Stanton Hodgin of this city.

"It is safe to assume this audience believes in moral life; that in your opinion morality depends more or less upon religion and that the church, while not the parent, is the mother of religion," Rev. Mr. Henry said yesterday.

"How shall the efficiency of the church be increased? By preaching? Yes, and also teaching. Preachers too often fail to reach the children and they slip away from the Sunday-school and grow up and receive their 'bent' in life before they are old enough to be interested in the great preacher or for the great preacher to be interested in them.

"The great opportunity for Christian service is with the Sunday-school teacher. He should fit himself for his great work. We do not permit a person to practice law or medicine or teach a school until he can qualify and is licensed."

CHICAGO BUREAU OF THE TIMES, Dec. 7.—Four years ago, when Miss Bessie Snyder was just turned 14, a boisterous wave swept her off her feet in the surf at Avalon, Catalina Island, Cal. It might have gone ill for the young woman had it not been for the presence of Jack Travilla, a Los Angeles young man, who hurried to her rescue and in bringing her ashore gave impetus to a lasting romance. Miss Snyder, who is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. William Snyder of Maywood, Ill., and Mr. Travilla, will be married at the home of the bride's parents New Year's Eve.

"That there should be no curbing of the people's right to unite in parties for the advancement of their political principles was clearly expressed by the citizens at a recent election."

"Failing to do so would not only be disregarding your duty, but also indicate a flagrant contempt of public opinion expressed at the polls at the recent election," says Charles R. Burger, State chairman, in a letter which also reached the Registrar of Voters yesterday.

FOR REGISTRAR OR CLERK.

It is understood that the question of including a party affiliation is left to the discretion of the Registrar of Voters or County Clerk, inasmuch as the people declared for this very thing. Should Registrar McAleer take the initiative by requiring the declaration of party affiliation, it is believed by party leaders generally that he will be upheld by the courts.

A number of the county clerks throughout the State have, however, decided to take new registrations without the party affiliation. It was at a conference dominated by Speaker Young of the Legislature, author of the defeated bills, that such action was taken.

At that time Speaker Young hinted there may be an extraordinary session of the Legislature.

Mrs. Bunting Bares Past in Damage Suit.

The intermingling of the life of Mrs. Harriet C. Bunting with that of Walter D. Valentine, at Butte, a quarter of a century ago, is directly traceable to the order of the French government which sent the Duc de Cella, Mrs. Bunting's father, to England for fighting in a duel, prohibited by the French laws. In England the exile's daughter, light and lithesome, evinced a fondness for dancing. Flattery convinced her she was destined for a stage career. Thus she came to Butte, and her sparkling eyes and twinkling feet enslaved, so she says, the handsome young business man, Mr. Valentine, who one day sent to her at the theater his engraved card and a bouquet of choice flowers.

Time has made its marks on both the man and the woman. Mr. Valentine and Mrs. Bunting are married, for the second time. Yesterday they faced each other in Judge Finlayson's court, the woman suing to recover $15,000 for an alleged libelous letter Mr. Valentine wrote her former lawyer, W. T. Craig, growing out of an alleged obligation for $1250, representing money Mrs. Bunting says she loaned Mr. Valentine, and the latter fighting the action on the ground that it is blackmail.

Mrs. Bunting testified that although she had a wife and two children in San Diego, Mr. Valentine wooed and won her. He persuaded her to give up a stage career and follow him. When he needed funds, she says she sold her jewels, and borrowed money, on jewelry, and gave him the money. As a wedding gift, he promised her a Virginia farm.

Long after the lapse of years she met him in Altadena, where both lives, Mrs. Bunting says he confessed that she had broken up his home; that his wife ordered her to get out of the house she had rented from Mrs. Valentine.

Her story was not told until the court ruled that the letter written to Attorney Craig, and upon which the libel suit is based, was a privileged communication, so that his lips were sealed. This threw the burden of proof upon Mrs. Bunting.

Her story had the ring of sincerity. She testified that she met Mr. Valentine in Butte in 1890. They went to Centennial Park and passed the day. "I would not go on the street, but he followed me," she said. "He fell in love to me. He wanted me to leave the stage and marry him. He said he would give me more money than I could make on the stage. After making a visit to my aunt in Canada, he told him I was going to San Francisco to fill an engagement. He said he wanted to hear from me. When I got a house he engaged half of it. Then he wanted me to go to Chicago, where he would teach me how to invest money in some stock business he was engaged in. He was engaged and married to me. But he never told me he was married. I did not find out until 1893, that he had a wife and two children.

"In Chicago I took care of Mr. Valentine's father, who was crippled with rheumatism. A German maid did the work. Mr. Valentine went to New York in 1894, to open an office, and he wired me to close up the house and join him. When I learned he was married I told him he had been unfaithful to me. I said I could not remain in the Chicago house. I asked him why he had deceived me."

Mrs. Bunting told how she learned of his marriage. He had asked her to do some sewing on his coat, and a letter dropped out of the pocket. It was from his wife, thanking him for remittance. Faced with this proof of his alleged duplicity, she said that Mr. Valentine told her he would get a divorce, and she consented not to leave him when he went down on his knees and begged it, if he would get a divorce. The matter went so far, she said, as to employ an attorney to bring the divorce action, but nothing came of it. Mrs. Valentine kept writing to her husband, making increased demands for money. Mrs. Bunting went to Virginia, to remain until he got his divorce. She said her people believed they were going to be married.

Valentine went to New York, she testified, and got in some difficulty with the New York Stock Exchange and was placed in the Tombs. It was while he was waiting trial that, she says, he asked her to pawn her jewelry to help him, and in this way he drew her the acknowledgment of the debt he owed her.

The story led to Boston and thence to Bridgewater, where she again joined Valentine. She said he never had money enough to go ahead with the divorce suit. She came on from Virginia when, she says, he wrote her he had got a divorce and would marry her as soon as she arrived. These various communications from Mr. Valentine she said she burned when he married her present husband.

"They were together in San Francisco," she continued. She reached there in 1897, and lived at No. 229 Jessey street. He had taken rooms at No. 19 Ellis street, and later she was taken there, she said. But he had no money, she declared, and never fulfilled his promise to marry, but after three weeks she left him.

Seventeen years later Mrs. Bunting encountered Mr. Valentine at his home in Altadena. In looking for a home to rent in that city she saw his picture on the wall, and learned that the woman who admitted her was Mrs. Valentine. How to get a letter to him puzzled her, for she said she did not want to inform Mrs. Valentine of the past.

The plan was resorted to of writing a note and placing it under a drawing rug on the porch. She saw him pick it up. Their subsequent meeting was described by Mrs. Bunting. He called on her and she said he was nervous. He asked her what brought her there.

"Whatever you have in your mind," she quotes him saying, "dismiss it. I haven't anything. You know I could never marry you."

"I told him that was a thing of the past," she testified. "His wife was hiding around the corner, listening, and he said: 'Before I married my present wife I told her everything. My wife is some business woman. If I had listened to her I would not be in the position I am now. It is rather embarrassing for you to be here.'"

Mrs. Bunting said she told him what she wanted. Later Mrs. Valentine came to her house and told her she was a disreputable woman, and ordered her out of the house. "Mr. Valentine told me I had broken up his home in Bridgewater," she said.

Mrs. Valentine is expected to be an important witness, as to the charge that Mrs. Bunting attempted to blackmail Mr. Valentine. Attorney Collier will ask her to repeat the conversation Mrs. Bunting had with her on that memorable visit to her house when, it is asserted, the sum of $10,000 was mentioned. Mr. Valentine will tell of his alleged associations with Mrs. Bunting. He says he borrowed no money from her, but, on the contrary, he spent thousands of dollars upon her.

OBEYS TWO MASTERS.

Police Court Orders Flight and Police Restrain Him, Hence Poor Jenkins's Plight.

With the police judges ordering him out of town, and the police arresting him for trying to leave town, Ben Jenkins had such a confusing time of it for the past three days that he began to doubt his sanity.

First he was arrested by the squad searching the railroad yards for tramps and hobos, and when he was arraigned in court next morning, the police judge asked:

"Will you leave town?"

"Yes," said Jenkins.

"Then be gone by 5 o'clock," was the order.

He went down to catch the first train out of town, and as he was sliding a leg across a brake beam someone grabbed his arm. He was drawn out from under the car and arrested. He tried to explain, but his captors wouldn't listen. Again he went to jail.

Next morning he appeared in court to answer for vagrancy, and told the judge he had been trying to get out of town but was stopped. The judge advised him to be more successful before 5 o'clock, and gave Jenkins the card of Detectives King and Oaks as a pass to flash on any policeman attempting to restrain his flight.

Again he tried, again he was arrested, again he appeared before the Police Judge.

This time Police Judge Richardson gave him 10 cents for car fare, to get beyond the police lines.

A Tragedy.

MEETS ONE WHO TOOK HER LIFE.

Separation Ends in Shame; Husband Insane.

But Charity Knows not Who "Derelict" Is.

By the verdict of the police court yesterday she was branded as a lost woman. Her name now is Marie, generally Marie Simmons. Marie, she said, is a favorite name for unattached young women in rooming-houses. That for which she is convicted is the most common of charges against women.

She received the sentence and said nothing, merely a shudder of the body and a gritting of the teeth, and then she released and pulled her skirts closer so an odorous Mexican man seated in the docket next to her might not soil the cloth. She was looking at her skirt idly, when she was aroused by the entrance into Police Judge Richardson's courtroom of three women. They were middle-aged, well dressed, and slumming. They were visiting the courts to inspect the derelicts.

When Marie saw them, she gasped, and then turned her face, as it named. Then she sat up erect and looked defiantly ahead.

One of the women who entered the room was her mother-in-law, a wealthy woman here for the winter. For years the family has been coming to California, and four years ago they brought their son so they might watch over him, for he was "wild."

He had a motor car for his personal use and he had unlimited spending money, and on one of his many night parties he met Marie. She wasn't Marie then, and she wasn't 18 years old yet. Gay she was, of course, a bubbling girl with the cheeriest of laughs, red cheeks, bright blue eyes and dark hair.

The son told Marie he loved her. Three weeks later they ran away and were married in San Diego.

His mother, who, although it is a family secret, had once done laundry work for hire, questioned the girl. Then she cast her off, ordered her son to leave the little wife, and threatened him with starvation if he didn't.

The girl knew it was her big chance, and she loved the boy. Henry his name was. It isn't fair to print his other name. She was on the threshold of a gay and costly life before she met him, and she knew she had her chance now.

So she told her husband not to quarrel with her mother, but they would live together in an apartment-house and support themselves. Through some friends, she got Henry a job. He kept it four days. Every day he was drunk.

She had no money. Henry said he had no money to give her. They lived in an elaborate apartment-house, and there the girl actually starved. And every day the boy was drunk.

His mother said she would rather have him drunk than to be married to a common creature like little Marie. They bullied him into leaving the girl. One night she went out to their winter home and told them she loved Henry, that she would sacrifice anything for him.

The mother said:

"It is impossible. The family could not tolerate such an affiance."

Marie left the apartment and went out to make her living. She did it the best she could, for her executive ability isn't great, but her disposition is delightful.

And the boy continued his debauchery. Finally the boy began to show symptoms of mental lapses. Then he would cry for little Marie. Oh, all that is known to the night life of the city. Spring street will tell you about it. Your waiter knows.

His mother, who had saved him from his wife, could not curb him. She was so proud he had broken away from "that girl." Why shouldn't he have a little fling.

And then she sent her boy to an asylum, and he is there now, a lump of vacancy, alive, but not living. And he blubbers out, "Marie, Marie, come, please."

After that tragedy his mother became interested in social work and charity. And she came into the courtroom to see what the purity squad of the police station had seined from the social sloughs of the city. And she saw Marie.

But Marie was different. Her eyes not so bright, her cheeks colored too much, her form not so lithe, and her hair is blonde.

The mother of the girl's husband walked almost to the docket to see the flotsam better. The bailiff called Marie to go back to the cells. She arose and walked directly in front of the mother; she even looked at her, and then hurried out.

"That girl," said the mother to her two friends, "is a hard little creature, but she looks as though there might be some good in her."

"Yes," said the others.

Marie was out in the corridor, beyond hearing, collapsed against the bars, sobbing with the horror of the hopeless. "Oh God, oh God."

REALISM FOR MOVIES.

Actor's Leap Before Moving Train Leads to Hospital—Boy Dragged by Locomotive.

Glenn Gano, female impersonator, was painfully injured yesterday, while making a leap from the Fourth-street bridge before a moving train. His daring act was to have been a thriller for the moving-picture camera, and instead resulted in a case for the hospital.

The machinery for the illusion was arranged so he would leap from the bridge before the oncoming train, and as he reached the track a rope would swing him to safety. The rope failed to work as expected, and Gano was struck a glancing blow by the engine.

Leonard Giacoglio, a delivery boy, was driving across the Southern Pacific tracks at the Los Feliz road when he was struck by the "Lark" train. His small motor car was demolished and the boy was thrown against the front of the engine, but managed to cling to the guard rails and was dragged more than fifty yards. He was only slightly injured. Giacoglio is employed by the Hollywood City Dye Works, and lives at No. 1757 Vista street, Hollywood.

TO TRY DAMAGE CASE.

A jury of twelve was sworn yesterday by Federal Judge Trippet in the case of Richard L. Miller, Arthur F. Miller, Charlotte Pungs, Florence Miller and Grace Miller against the Santa Fe Railroad for $25,000 damages, arising out of the death of Mrs. Lena Miller, wife and mother of the complainants. She was struck by a freight car at the North Lake-avenue crossing of the railway in Pasadena, in December, 1914. The case will be heard Friday.

TREND OF THE FINANCIAL NEWS.

CHIEF EVENTS OF YESTERDAY.

(At Home:) Speculative activity sent prices of steel to within one-eighth point of its highest figure of the year, but this commodity, with many others, fell back when the disturbing features of the President's message to Congress became known. Standard stocks, however, were buoyed by a strong undertone, which to a considerable extent minimized the losses.

NOT DESPERATELY INCLINED.

Congress is at it again, but the chances are that nothing more serious will happen than an adjournment in time for Christmas.

CASH AND SENTIMENT.

The former Los Angeles man who was sued in Denver by a young woman for $75,000 damages for breach of a sort of common-law wife compact has deeded all of his large fortune to his lawfully-wedded wife. Why, in the name of common sense, did he not also deed her his affections?

GOVERNMENT MOVIE PICTURES.

One of the newest things in finance is the use in Paris of a moving picture theater to induce subscriptions to government loans. The government will present a series of official films as one of the quickest practical means for the diffusion of ideas.

It will take ten pictures prepared by notable artists to announce each important fact concerning the loan. The final design will show a German soldier crushed under the weight of a French gold piece, while a rooster—the real Gallic cock—reaches out his beak from the bas relief of the coin and seems to say to the exhausted fighter, "'Twas scarcely worth while to commit so many crimes for this."

DR. SUN'S WHOLESOME SHADOW.

Once more there is talk of the overthrow of Yuan Shi Kai and the restoration of Dr. Sun Yat Sen and his party. Report has it that this contest has already brought about a battle which has resulted in the fall of a military stronghold into the hands of Dr. Sun's friends. The chances are that this news indicates only minor rioting and not a fresh revolutionary outbreak of proportions. Dr. Sun was the chief spirit in fomenting that revolution which resulted in the elevation of Yuan to the Presidency. He did his country a great service and it is one of the tragedies of history that he was subsequently compelled to leave China on account of Yuan's jealousy. Dr. Sun's influence may never lead to his return to power, but it will be sufficient to prevent the return of China to monarchy, and surely that is much to live for.

UNDER THE ROD.

What was known as the "honor system" at Joliet prison has been abolished. This does not mean that the system has failed. Prisons are filled largely with men who have failed to govern themselves. They lived in a society where the honor system was supposed to be in vogue, but which really trusted them only when their wives, their employers and policemen could not be looking. They were on their honor in school, but the teacher had a rod. They were on honor at home, but were sent to bed without supper if they were wicked. When you do wrong and anybody is looking at you the honor system doesn't work, in society or in jail. It should remain that way and it probably will. A man does not need a policeman to make him be good any more than he needs a doctor when he is healthy; but the sick need a physician and the outlaw needs a check. Any system which does not trust the trustworthy is abhorrent; but any system which does not protect itself from criminal imposition is itself pernicious.

WHY FUSS?

Why fuss about dancing in the cafes? Is it any more shocking to dance in a cafe than to dance in a dance hall? And would a wise and vigilant mother elect that her daughter should dance in either place? There is no occasion for worrying about girls drinking champagne and dancing in cafes if the girls are kept out of the cafes.

Society is suffering from restlessness, it seems, and must have a large assortment of thrills. There are objectors and protestants, and well it is that there are; but sometimes they draw imaginary lines. If Los Angeles is to be a metropolis, she must furnish entertainment for the strangers within her gates—and she must not insist that they be entertained with box-picnic suppers and ethical lectures if they clamor for gayer things.

This little storm over the cafes will calm down—and nothing will come of it. It is known that the liquor interests are opposed to having dances in cafes, as it would be ruinous to cheap resorts and force others to incur additional expenses. The ladies who encouraged the dancing idea are leaders of good causes in Los Angeles and were prompted by public spirit and a desire to make Los Angeles outshine socially all other cities on the Coast. Some of their sisters disagree with them as to what is best, but nobody questions their sincerity.

And there is no occasion for fussing. The Police Commissioners, with all courtesy to and respect for the fair proponents of the proposal terpsichorean, have put a quietus on it. Requiescat in pace! Nobody cares.

THE IMPERTINENT GERMAN OFFICIALS WILL GO.

If there is any one principle of international law more firmly established than another it is the right of any power to request the recall of any representative of another power because the person whose recall is requested is "persona non grata." The reason for such request need not be cited, and it is not the right or the privilege of the power of whom the request is made to ask for what acts of the undesirable person the request for a recall is made. It is sufficient that such a request is made, and there is no instance in the history of diplomatic intercourse of such a request for recall being made of any civilized nation without its being unconditionally and immediately complied with.

During the administration of President Grant, Senator Charles Sumner of Massachusetts was chairman of the Senate Committee on Foreign Relations. Senator Sumner and his wife separated, and the cause of the separation was the statement that the lady had been unduly intimate with a certain European diplomatic representative. Senator Sumner requested the recall of the offender, not even through the Department of State, but directly to the European government. The Senator's position as chairman of the Senate Foreign Affairs Committee was held to be sufficient to warrant him in making the request, which was promptly complied with.

The Declaration of London, while denying to any neutral nation the right to furnish arms or munitions or money to a belligerent, affirms the right of citizens of a neutral power to do that which its government may not do. This doctrine was strongly urged by Germany in the interest of the Krupp factory, and her mouth is closed against objecting to it now.

The trial and conviction in New York of officials of the Hamburg-American Company for violation of an act of Congress brought to the knowledge of the government of the United States that Boy-Ed and Von Papen had been guilty of military activities which would have caused their arrest and trial for violation of an act of Congress if they had not been officially attached to the German embassy.

The only thing that the United States could do was what it did—request the recall of Boy-Ed and Von Papen because their "military activities" had made them "persona non grata." It was not necessary to state of what the obnoxious activities consisted; the mere request was sufficient without statement of the reasons for making it.

Germany, instead of promptly complying with the request of Secretary Lansing, has pursued the unprecedented course of demanding a specification by item of the causes of complaint against Boy-Ed and Von Papen, and, pending the reply of Secretary Lansing to such demand, has gone so far as to claim that the offending German officials had a right to ascertain the movements of munitions in the United States, to keep the German government advised of such movements and, within the law, to block the flood of munitions from this country to the allies. Germany further claims that the evidence of improper military activities of Boy-Ed and Von Papen was furnished by detectives in the employment of the British government, that, being British, the detectives were necessarily liars, and no evidence from such sources should be considered by the United States.

The United States cannot honorably furnish to Germany the reasons why it asked for the recall of these men without exposing the confidential sources of the information upon which it acted in making the request.

It is sufficient for the United States to say, with or without a reason, that the offenders are persona non grata and to demand their recall, and the action of Germany in denying this request or in delaying compliance with it is an unwarranted violation of the law of nations and the usages of diplomacy.

The United States will not wait very long upon the action of Germany. It will strike Boy-Ed and Von Papen from its list of accredited diplomats; it will order them to leave the country and to "stand not upon the order of their going, but go at once." If they refuse or neglect to go, then, being deprived of the diplomatic protection which they have abused, they will be liable to arrest and trial, and, if convicted, to the same punishment as was meted out to the Hamburg-American Company's criminal officials.

THE PENDING CONTEST.

The dominant purpose of the Republican party has ever been to promote the best interests of the producers and doers of things, of the working men and women of the country. It fought slavery in the interest of free white labor rather than from any strong desire to liberate the slave. It fought to preserve the Union because this was the world's last hope on earth of "a government of the people, by the people, for the people," and, after slavery and the Southern Confederacy had been swept away on tornadoes of battle flame because God and the nineteenth century were against it, the Republican party stood like a mailed warrior at the door of the worker's home and guarded it from the gaunt, devouring devils of Idleness, Poverty and Hunger who lie behind the ambush of "Tariff for Revenue Only."

There are no better American citizens today than the old Confederates and their children and grandchildren; nor any with whom the nation could now more safely trust its unity, its safety and the honor of its flag. The southern people may be criticised only because their anxiety for historical vindication and their strong desire to keep their negro population out of politics and away from the ballot box have led them, in the cotton States, to subordinate the progress of the present to the sentiments of the past, and to be willing to sacrifice the prosperity of the wage-workers of the country upon the altar of ancient theories of revenue. They disregard the fact that one more glowing furnace or humming factory is worth more to them than ten monuments to Jefferson Davis or Robert E. Lee, and the result, as evidenced by the returns of every election since the close of the Civil War, has been a southern solidity which is not a happy assimilation of congruous interests, but a perpetuation of memories which it were better to drown in Lethe's stream.

With southern solidity wedded to northern discontent, aided by the unscrupulous power and machinery of Tammany, in 1892 the Democratic party found itself in power in Congress and in the nation. It used that power unwisely to overturn the policy of protection under which the nation had prospered for thirty years, notwithstanding the losses of war.

After four years of bitter experience of the workings of Democratic free trade the people recovered their sanity and restored the Republican party and its policy of protection to dominance in the nation's councils.

Again we had, under Republican rule, sixteen years of unexampled prosperity, and then, by the wickedest and most inexcusable treachery perpetrated by Roosevelt and Johnson—the Iscariot and Arnold of 1912—6,293,019 Democrats outvoted, or rather outgeneraled, 7,604,463 Republicans, and protection was once more banished from our revenue laws. Sugar and wool and lumber and many agricultural products were placed on the free list, and the tariff on manufactures of metal and textile materials was reduced to a degree that closed some American factories and foundries, and would have closed more, or else caused a reduction of the wages paid to American workmen, if it had not been for the outbreak of the great European war and the call to the colors there which took their workmen away from the looms and the anvils and sent them to die in the trenches.

When the armies shall cease their battling, millions of men will return to the workshops and the fields. They must and will find work at any rate of wages, and the product of their labor will seek our shores for a market. Unless we restore our tariff to a rate that will equalize the difference between the starvation wages paid in Europe and the ample remuneration paid in America, American factories and forges and foundries will close, the homes of America will be plastered with notices of Sheriffs' sales, and the highways of America will be black with tramps.

And who will be benefited by free trade? Not one man in one hundred. Ours is a nation of workers, not idlers, and every worker is benefited by a protective tariff. The man who pays 20 cents more for a woolen shirt obtains 20 cents more for his work in making a hammer or a pair of shoes. If he is a farmer he receives 20 cents more for his produce. If he is a carpenter or a clerk he receives 20 cents more wages. If he is a merchant he makes more profits because there are more people able to buy and pay for his goods.

The farmer is as much interested in a return to protection as any worker at loom or anvil. The larger portion of the product of any farm is consumed in adjacent towns. A policy that would lessen the wages of the worker would reduce the purchasing power of the farmers' customers, and so reduce the farmer's revenue.

The question has sometimes been asked—is the Republican policy of protection to be the best policy for the nation to pursue forever? The answer is that when the United States shall be as densely populated as Europe or Asia; when 500,000,000 of people shall dwell within our confines; when our vast agricultural and mineral resources shall be fully developed; when our wealth of mine and forest and field and stream shall be completely appropriated; when our home markets, now greedy, shall be glutted; when our workmen shall be forced to look beyond seas for a market for the product of their toil; when from sunrise to sunset sea the land shall be black with people, then the Almighty God who has thus far favored our republic, who has made its harvests bounteous, its conditions prosperous, its homes happy and its free government a lamp for the feet of the nations, will inspire American brains to so subjugate the forces of nature, to so place the deeps and the heights under tribute as to make the American workers of the future as intelligent and as prosperous as American workers in the past have been under the Republican doctrine of protection.

And we can help it to come.
How?
Why, by voting the Republican ticket.

Not So Easy.

THE CHAMBER OF COMMERCE.

The Los Angeles Chamber of Commerce is declared by the secretary of the National Chamber of Commerce to be the most efficient organization of its character in the United States—or in the world, for that matter.

Here in Los Angeles we take it as a matter of course that every guest of the city, from the President of the United States, or the official representative of the Shah of Persia, to the meek and timid old lady explorer from Sutton Creek, Mo., shall visit our Chamber of Commerce rooms, receive personal attention from its officials or representatives, be entertained with a continuous exposition of the wonders of the Southwest, and be provided with literature and information on any and all subjects which can be remotely connected with "promoting the interests" of any section of California. And we are not disappointed. Our guests are received and entertained and informed; they see an epitome of the productions and the resources of the country that cannot be matched anywhere. They see moving pictures and hear lectures covering Southern California and Arizona; they meet representatives of cities and counties sent by other Chambers of Commerce; by spending a few hours here they can find out what they want to see and how to make the most of their time, if they are tourists merely; and they can find out what they want to know and where and how they can best use their money if they are prospective investors.

Besides the tons of literature annually distributed by the Chamber of Commerce to its visitors, quantities of literature are annually mailed out to every part of this country and the world. The exhibits made or maintained by the Los Angeles Chamber of Commerce, or through its assistance, at the various expositions and in various cities of the East have familiarized this country with Los Angeles and its advantages. Los Angeles is nationally known as the "best advertised city in the world." And that fact is beyond question due to the Chamber of Commerce and Frank Wiggins—the two are one in the minds of the public, generally speaking.

The annual dues which support this work are said to be the lowest of any organization of the sort in the country—$1 a month. Many thousand firms and business individuals who benefit equally with those who support the institution pay nothing. As an example, recently the new industries which have located in this vicinity within the past year were invited to make a special showing of their products in the exhibit halls of the chamber. Eighty out of 130 new industries listed in the industrial department responded. The exhibit was well advertised and attracted a great deal of attention and interest, being visited by thousands of people. It was kept open a week without expense to the exhibitors. Yet out of the eighty firms taking advantage of the opportunity but fourteen were members of the Chamber of Commerce.

It goes without saying that work which is constantly hampered by lack of adequate funds cannot be as extended and as efficient as it might be made with proper support from the people for whom the work is done.

Congressman Stephens, booked as a Bull Mooser, voted for the Republican caucus nominee for Speaker, the Hon. James Mann. The seven Moosers in the House are all dressed up, but don't know where to go.

OUR HUMAN SCRAP HEAPS.

[CONTRIBUTED TO THE TIMES]

BY JOHN MADISON TAYLOR, M.D.,

WHEN an individual is born who is the product of degenerative influences operating to such a degree that he is incapable of reproducing his species according to the original type, he is fit only for the scrap heap. Whatever he might reproduce would be one of two alternatives—first, a creature more defective than himself and necessarily a worse human animal, or, second, the outcome of a crossing with a much superior individual and yet nothing better than a slow and gradual step upward to a plane higher than that of the degenerate parent, with the incidental evil that the higher mate would be deprived of the opportunity of producing normal offspring.

The subnormal progeny of such unions become a burden to the State, a peril to the community and, at the very best estimate of them, wholly uncertain factors up to the plane of the moron, or fool—that is, a person with all the superficial marks of human intelligence, but wholly without judgment or capacity for responsibility. These are among the most dangerous living beings because, in any capacity in life, under the appearance of normal mentality, they are wholly unreliable.

Now, nature has always had her own wise way of handling this problem. Nature has always provided that, when the individual of a species has sunk so low in the biologic scale as to have passed the level of racial recuperation, life's defenses, too, sink below the scale of preservation and, under ordinary conditions, the defective dies. In a state of nature—indeed, in the absence of the most scientific aid—the race of defectives disappears, as it should. Any scientific intervention is necessarily an interference with the beneficent provision of nature, designed to protect the race at the expense of the defective individual.

Scientists have reached the point where they can pretty definitely determine the parting of the ways between a reasonable probability of restoration and the impossibility of restoration to capacity for reproducing normal individuals.

Now as never before in the history of mankind the world is burdened with these essentially dependent groups, or families of defectives. Numbers of them are notorious in the knowledge of specialists on the subject. Some have reproduced by the hundreds of thousands, largely in form of criminals, invalids and imbeciles, costly in every way and draining millions of dollars annually from the community. Every State has varieties of institutions in which these families of defectives are represented.

Until those institutions were established, and prior to the prevalence of modern conditions of preservation and care, the worst of the defectives passed away. Nature had been operating on her own wise, merciful, beneficent plan, eliminating the unfit of the past for the welfare of the fit in the present and the future. But man, equipped with his modern science, undertook to defy nature and save her rejected materials; he succeeded only so far as the acquisition of numerous scrap heaps.

As is perfectly well known to science, there have been numbers of persons, to superficial observers such pitiable weaklings as scarcely to be worth the saving, who do become useful and occasionally even distinguished citizens. But those exceptions among the apparent defectives can be determined with almost absolute certainty, and it is abundantly recognized that they warrant all the care and attention given them. At the same time, it is very doubtful whether they are fit to procreate their kind, even though they themselves be most valuable to the community. Many, perhaps most of them, are genuinely unfit to have offspring because it is a fixed fact of heredity that the inheritance of the defective is not bred out short of several generations, if ever.

Human law has gone but a very short distance in dealing with this most vital problem of humanity's right of protection. Science can do little more than bring the fundamental facts before mankind and let mankind judge. The principles underlying nature's wholesome plan appear to be in contravention of general sentiment; but they should be an essential part of every man's religion, guiding him to higher ideals and to higher standards, the ideals and the standards that have been fixed immutably by nature's God—fixed in the beginnings of the human race and prevailing immutably until man presumed to meddle with them.

It is time that we recognized the futility of making a bad job out of a botched beginning—that we learned the higher lesson of letting nature take her course and protect the race.

COUNTY STILL LAW ABIDING.

Supervisors Hold Out Against Anarchy.

Move to Disobey All Legal Precedent.

Harping Members are Quite Disgusted.

Supervisor Hamilton's pet resolution authorizing the County Counsel to take a liberal view of the laws, or of mere legal precedent entirely as it may meet with the approval of the board, was given a hearty vote yesterday afternoon, much to the chagrin of its proponent and its sponsor, Supervisor Norton. Chairman Pridham and Supervisors Woodley and Hinshaw argued that proposals such as indorsed by Hamilton would lead to anarchy and disregard of the present government by law and voted against the resolution accordingly.

The resolution, which was intended to become a part of the system of government of various departments of the county, set forth that "It shall be the duty of the County Counsel to recognize the fact that the government of this state and county has been fundamentally changed; that the people are now the supreme arbiters of constitutions and charters and of the laws and ordinances enacted thereunder; that it is the duty of the courts and bar to facilitate and not obstruct the transaction of public business in the steadily broadening fields of public activity; that precedents established under former conditions now are binding only in so far as they are sound in principle and democratic in effect and that this board views is to be earnestly, persistently and consistently maintained by the County Counsel in advising the Board of Supervisors and the various officers and employees of the county and in the conduct of litigation."

In justifying his suggestions, Supervisor Hamilton yesterday stated that precedents should not be followed when the clamor of the people called for something different. He declared that to set aside past court decisions in the end could be beneficially planned for the board and insisted that the rule should not only govern the County Counsel, but also the District Attorney and the Public Defender.

FIELD OVERRIDE LAW.

Supervisor Woodley led the opposition, declaring that the County Counsel needs no instruction as to legal interpretations and that if he does inform the board properly, what should be fired. Hamilton interrupted with the suggestion that it would be better to educate him after he had thought and Woodley intimated this would be too expensive, in order to show the utter folly of the suggestions of Supervisor Hamilton, he produced letters from former Superior Judge Willis Attorney Stephens and former Congressman A. Anderson, the latter a friend of the same political faith as Hamilton, a progressive. Judge Anderson stated that if the plan of Supervisor Hamilton should be put into effect, it would be a direct expense entirely with the province of a County Counsel, whose opinions on questions submitted would be used on Supreme Court rulings whether contrary to the views or wishes of the board as a whole or any of its members. "Whenever the time comes that decisions of the court will not be held as decisive of questions passed upon, this government will have passed into a state of anarchy, for if there are no courts with power to interpret the law and it is left to the interpretation of each official to decide as he thinks best, we have a lawless condition," said the letter.

THIS ANSWERS.

Former Judge Bordwell stated that the rule proposed by Hamilton would be exceedingly dangerous. "The failure of the County Counsel to give his honest opinion of what the law is, not what he, any member of the board, or anyone else thinks it ought to be, would justify his dismissal in disgrace," he said. City Attorney Stephens declared himself against the rule after having analyzed its purport.

"Lawyers are too conservative and the courts dwell too much in the past," said Supervisor Norton coming to the rescue of his sinking colleague. Harping on his well worn string, "the peepul," he declared that they shall rule and that if their will is contrary to the laws, it is up to the County Counsel to secure a reversion of Supreme Court decisions. "Election to judgeship makes men arrogant, which will not long be tolerated by the people," he declared.

Supervisor Woodley declared that it was up to the board and not the County Counsel to stretch any laws that might come in question. Supervisors Hinsnaw and Pridham also expressed themselves emphatically opposed to the ridiculous demands of Hamilton which would hold the board up to the laughter of the county, if acceded to.

STATEMENT BY HILL.

"The duty of the county counsel relative to county officers, is to advise them as to the law," said County Counsel Hill last night, "and it has been and will continue to be the advice of that office, that the funds in the county treasury is the property of the taxpayers and that no expenditure can be made therefrom for any purpose not authorized by law and precedents established by constitutions ratified by the people, statutes adopted by the Legislature, and the judicial determination by judges elected by the voters of Los Angeles county, are safer and saner guides to officers in the discharge of their trust to their constituents than the poradic judgment of an overzealous county official.

"My own answer to any statement of certain members of the Board of Supervisors that the above policy, if further pursued, might place the incumbent in jeopardy, the county counsel being the appointee of the Board of Supervisors) is that, what may or may not happen to me personally can in no way affect the doing of that which I see to be my official duty."

MOVEMENTS IN SOCIETY.

FITTING in with true artistry to the handsome Dresden service was the huge bowl of richly-tinted pomegranates, persimmons, apples, grape clusters, pineapples and other seasonable fruits nestling in a bed of autumn leaves, which enhanced the decorative motif for the dinner given by Mr. and Mrs. Joseph D. Radford at their West Adams-street residence, No. 1124, last evening. Softly-veiled lights and dainty favors lent added effectiveness, covers being marked for Mr. and Mrs. Walter P. Story, Mr. and Mrs. James Roy Pinkham, Mr. and Mrs. Willoughby Rodman, Mrs. Emily Perkins, Mrs. W. T. McFie, Mrs. Madison W. Stewart, Mrs. Ethel Rivers Hopkins, Messrs. Thomas E. Gibbon, Jr., Maynard McFie, Dwight Whiting and the hosts.

Mrs. Radford will give a second social function within the coming fortnight—one of a series which will add to the gaiety of the winter season's entertainments.

Judge and Mrs. Ygnacio Sepulveda, accompanied by their beautiful young daughter, Miss Concnita, were in San Francisco for the exposition's grand reveille, being guests while north of Mrs. Phoebe Hearst.

Following a fortnight's visit in our Southland, Judge and Mrs. William Carey Van Fleet and their daughter, Miss Julia Van Fleet, have returned to their San Francisco home.

In compliment to W. H. Featherstone, one of our prominent townsmen, Judge and Mrs. M. H. Hyland of Hotel Cecil, San Francisco, gave a dinner recently, executed in pale-yellow tones, with chrysanthemums for floral adornment.

Joint Birthday Observance.

Messrs. L. L. Vogel and Baldwin Starr, whose natal days fell on Monday, furnished the joint motif for a pretty dinner given that evening in the banquet-room of the Sierra Madre Club, by Mrs. Vogel and Mrs. Starr, others bidden numbering Mr. and Mrs. Frank Griffith, Mrs. Mary Stifel and Mr. and Mrs. O. C. Vogel. There were twin birthday cakes, each surmounted by twenty-one burning tapers, while otherwise the approaching Christmas time was observed decoratively, with red and green predominating. Bright red holly sprays, red baskets caught with holly containing nuts and confections, and poinsettia place cards accentuated the scheme.

For Saturday Evening.

Mrs. Gloria Mayne Windsor, an artist whom our land of enchantment has attracted as a permanent resident following many years on the public concert and operatic stage, is to give a salon for several interesting people on Saturday evening at her artistic home at No. 709 South Burlington street. Torrey, Miss Bird, Miss Ruby Newcomb, Miss Mildred Fritz, Miss Martha Hunt and Messes Milo Welch, Van Wagner, Clair Overholzer, Shotwell, Gay Welton, Patterson and Sidney Newman. Mr. and Mrs. Burgess assisted their attractive daughter in dispensing hospitality.

CARNIVAL QUEEN RACE NOW KEEN.

SHOWS, BIG AND LITTLE, ARE GETTING IN SHAPE FOR THE OPENING.

Dainty Jewel Egan is leading in the race for the crown of the Los Angeles Prosperity Carnival by the smallest of margins, and Elsie Charlotte Pfennig has but a few votes to gain to be even with her. Hazel Shoffner, who led yesterday, has dropped to third place, but will probably regain the lost ground in a few days.

All the contestants are working hard. There are four maids of honor who will be chosen from the four that receive the most votes after the queenship has been awarded.

Nora Snyder is a demure candidate for dramatic honors as well as a participant in the queen contest and there is little doubt that her many friends in Rivera and Los Angeles will rally to her support.

Shows, big and little, are getting in from every source and the work of housing them all is rapidly going on at the carnival headquarters, No. 239 South Broadway. The various concessionaires are getting the booths in shape and the building is taking on a holiday air.

Elsie Charlotte Pfennig	3,000
Hazel Shoffner	2,500
Jane Greene	1,250
Ivy Ethel Brown	1,200
Vera Paulding	1,140
Isabel Wagoner	1,125
Nora Snyder	1,045
Maxie Clifton	1,000
Bulah Clark	1,000

There is still an opportunity to enter the contest with a chance of catching up with the leaders, and those who desire should see the contest manager at the carnival headquarters at once.

One of These May Be the Queen.

Misses Nora Snyder and Jewel Egan,

Two of the pretty contestants for carnival honors.

SEVEN SURVIVORS OF A FAMOUS FIGHT REUNITED.

INTO the midst of the usual hurried luncheon throng at the Hayward yesterday came seven young old men, comrades in what the Comte de Paris, speaking relatively, calls the bloodiest battle of the Civil War, to break bread in memory of those who fell in the battle of Prairie Grove, Ark., exactly fifty-three years ago.

Dimming eyes sparkled as humorous anecdotes of old army days were retold or moistened as memories arose of some comrade brigaded with the army of death. From homes where they are spending their declining years in well-earned rest, they had come—old men. But backs straightened and a vibrant note crept into wavering voices as the talk swung in full flood to military matters of the long ago.

"If there had been as many men killed in proportion at the battle of the Yser as at Prairie Grove," said Col. T. P. Murray, of the Twentieth Wisconsin Infantry, "there would have been 1,300,000 dead on the field."

"Well, Josh, that's the first time I ever saw you dodge powder," said James Orr, Co. A, Twentieth Wisconsin, as the flashlight caught him shaking hands with Josiah D. Brown of his old company.

According to the encyclopedias, the battle of Prairie Grove was an engagement between the Confederates under Gens. Hindman and Marmaduke and the Federals under Gens. F. J. Herron and J. G. Blunt at Prairie Grove, or Fayette, Ark., December 7, 1862, in which the Confederates lost 1317 and the Federals 1251 men. "The battle was of importance as checking the further advance of the Confederates into Missouri," says the Americana.

But it was of something more than the prosaic that the meeting of the seven participants, yesterday, was a record.

Gen. J. G. Blunt, with a division of the Army of the Frontier, was at Cane Hill, Ark., when he learned that Gen. Hindman was massing a Confederate force of 30,000 men, with a view to crushing his one division of about 5000. The other two divisions of the Army of the Frontier were near Wilson's Creek, Mo., 126 miles away, under the command of Brig.-Gen. F. J. Herron. On December 3, Gen. Herron received orders to make a forced march to assist Gen. Blunt.

"The order to march was given at 5:30 p.m., Thursday," said Col. Murray yesterday. "At daylight, Sunday, we met Gen. Hindman's infantry, with Marmaduke's, Raine's and Quantrell's cavalry. We had less than 4000 effective men and the rebs had 30,000. But we won and when Gen. Blunt came up on their rear, the Confederates retreated."

What Col. Murray did not tell, but others told for him, was that his regiment, the Twentieth Wisconsin, and the Nineteenth Iowa made, on this field, what the Comte de Paris calls one of the bravest charges in history. It was an onslaught on Confederate lines, four regiments deep, posted along a ridge, in which they captured a battery and retreated in good order.

Those present at the luncheon were: Col. T. P. Murray, Josiah D. Brown, James Orr and George Broctor of the Twentieth Wisconsin; Jesse G. Barker, Thirty-seventh Illinois; A. G. Barnell, Twentieth Iowa, and L. DeWitt, One Hundred and Second Illinois.

Fatal Speed.

AUTOIST AND HORSE KILLED.

THREE MEN THROWN FIFTY FEET FROM MACHINE.

Motion Picture Company Employee Meets Death When His Auto Crashes into a Horse and Buggy as He is Driving Recklessly and on the Wrong Side of the Road.

Thrown fifty feet from his automobile when it crashed into a wagon on the Mission road near the County Hospital early last night, Charles S. Hanselman, 27 years of age, an employee of the American Biograph Company, and living at Alhambra, was killed, his two companions, Leonard Miner, of Ramona Acres, and Weston Wilson, No. 1115 Trenton street, were badly bruised and the horse attached to the wagon was killed.

Mr. Hanselman, according to the police, who investigated the accident, was taking his two friends to his home in Alhambra. He was driving his machine at a high rate of speed and was on the wrong side of the road. The wagon and horse, owned by Jake Blackman, No. 144 South Gless street, with Mr. Blackman on the seat of the wagon, was standing on the Mission road just a little north of the County Hospital.

Crashing full into the horse, the heavy automobile hurled it to one side and then overturned the wagon. Mr. Blackman was thrown to the pavement with the three men in the automobile. All were slightly injured but got to their feet with the exception of Mr. Hanselman. He was carried to the County Hospital but declared dead by the doctors.

Questioned by the police, Mr. Miner and Mr. Wilson declared that they did not see the horse and wagon until the collision. They were unable to tell the police which side of the street Mr. Hanselman was driving on at the time of the accident, but from the point where the collision took place the police declared last night the automobile must have been on the wrong side of the street.

According to Motorcycle Officer Hickey, who rushed to the scene of the collision and assisted in taking the body of Mr. Hanselman to the County Hospital, the automobile and wagon were both smashed badly.

The horse and automobile were both found clear of the road, and, according to Hickey, the three men in the machine, as well as the driver of the wagon, were thrown fully fifty feet from the scene of the collision.

Mr. Blackman told the police that he had stopped his wagon a short time before the accident and was just about to leave his seat when the machine crashed into the front of his wagon.

Up to a late hour last night Mr. Hanselman's body had not been removed from the County Hospital. According to the police, an inquest will be held today.

GIVES MANY OF BELOVED SONGS.

GADSKI RECITAL ENJOYED BY BIG AUDIENCE.

Singer's Work is Warmly Appreciated and Her Beautiful Art Shines Through Unfavorable Auspices Which Surround Her First Concert Here.

BY EDWIN F. SCHALLERT.

Looking even more attractive than on the occasion of her last visit, Mme. Johanna Gadski, always an ideal type for Wagnerian heroines, was received with plaudits of welcome last night at Trinity Auditorium. It was the first recital given by the famous artist in this city in several seasons, and the audience which turned out to greet her return was of unusually large size.

The programme presented by Gadski contained many of those selections with which her name has became associated, and that she has endeared to the public in much the same way that Mme. Schumann-Heink and other great singers have their favorite numbers. "Aus meinen grossen Schmerzen," for instance, is always more or less connected with her. Who ever thinks of Gadski without also thinking of the "Cry of the Valkyries?" It is a safe wager that it will be heard as an encore during a recital given by this artist if it is not on the programme. These and other songs like the "Erlking" the audience is willing to applaud even before it has heard.

While there were reasons why the recital musically was not all, perhaps, that was anticipated, the audience showed an inclination to overlook this in the enjoyment of hearing these favorite numbers again, and also this much-beloved singer.

First among the drawbacks to last night's concert was the fact that Mme. Gadski had contracted a severe cold and sang under very great difficulties; secondly, the entire performance was tuned in too loud a key from a dynamic standpoint for Trinity Auditorium. Neither of these defects, of course, is irremediable, and Saturday's recital will doubtless reveal a much changed aspect.

Mme. Gadski's art is so big and broad in character that apparently it interfered with her finding herself to advantage in that peculiar pent-up-ness certain singers have felt on the Trinity stage. Many of last night's fortissimos could have been reduced to fortes and the fortes in turn to mezzofortes with much better effect. The accompaniments of Paul Eisler were, with few exceptions, too loud.

It should be noted that the conditions described were far less apparent in the latter part than at the start. With the beautiful "Im Herbst" of Franz, Gadski was able to let us have a better glimpse of that wondrous magnetism which is hers. Gadski is one in whom art is born in the blood, and that art needs perfect surrounding conditions to find its full expression. The latter part of the programme it was evident that she more completely lost herself in the spirit of the music, however.

FAMILIAR GROUND.

When the Wagner numbers were reached, that old familiar ground, which has been part and parcel of the singer's life, the "Sel Gesang" "Dich theure Halle" and that sweep of the "Liebestod" wealth of exquisite memories beauteous reality. There are singers that have Gadski's command for the artistic demands of songs, and although she may not been able to display this to the advantage last night, it is certain an ever-existent charm of her

Mr. Eisler's compositions to be commended than his either as an accompanist or as a list. He is a thoroughly schooled ist, and has a fine knowledge of sic, but he showed a lack of ment in the matter of the quality of his tone subdued and softened to an gree. Two interesting songs and a rather pretty waltz piano played as an encore, well received—one of the "Marching Song," to the it had to be repeated.

There were encores after ly every group, Mme. Gadski the "Hark, Hark, the Lark" bert, and the "Irish Girl" besides the "Erlking" and the kyrie's Cry," while Mr. Eisler in addition to his own "Canson Triste" of

MISS BJURSTEDT AND MRS. BUNDY WIN DOUBLES.

Classy.

SLAM BALL FOR SWEET CHARITY.

Miss Bjurstedt and Mrs. T. C. Bundy Appear.

Play Together and Win a Doubles Match.

[SPECIAL CORRESPONDENCE.]

VENICE, Dec. 7.—Three hundred tennis fans watched Miss Molla Bjurstedt and Mrs. May Sutton Bundy, the two nationally famous tenis stars, upon whom the eyes of the tennis world have been focused during the past few weeks, play three hard sets on the courts of the Venice Country Club today.

Instead of the two champions being pitted against each other, they played together, against Mrs. Williams and Miss Mary Browne, former national champions.

Mrs. Williams and Miss Browne, held their opponents to a score that put unusual zest in the contest. The score stood 6-3 in favor of Mrs. Williams and Miss Browne in the first set, but after that the two champions held their opponents down to 6-1, 6-1, taking both of the last two sets.

No score was taken of the other games played, but some unusually good matches were staged with Mrs. Hope Doeg, formerly Miss Violet Sutton; Mrs. B. O. Bruce, also a Sutton; Mrs. Gladys Widdowson, Mrs. John Hickman and Miss Florence Sutton.

The players, who staged the matches under the direction of Mrs. J. D. Bliss, played merely for charity, the funds to be used for the Christmas Cheer Fund for the Santa Monica Bay district.

Following the matches, society women of Santa Monica Bay district served tea in the grillroom of the Country Club. In the evening all the tennis players were invited to a ball given in their honor at the Venice dance pavilion. Both affairs were conceded to be successfully accomplished.

PENN RATIFIES ROWING SCHEDULE

PHILADELPHIA, Dec. 7.—The University of Pennsylvania Athletic Association's board of directors at a meeting here tonight, ratified a schedule of three races for the varsity crew. On April 22, Yale will be met at Philadelphia; May 6, Navy at Annapolis, and May 13, Princeton, Columbia and Pennsylvania will contest for the Child's cup trophy at the American Henley regatta here.

No provision was made for the annual intercollegiate race at Poughkeepsie as the date for that event has not yet been decided on by the Intercollegiate Rowing Committee, which is undecided between June 18 and July 1. It was reported here tonight that the early date does not meet with favor by either Cornell nor Pennsylvania, as it would interfere with examinations at these institutions.

FOOTBALL COACH DROWNED IN LAKE.

ICE GIVES WAY AND HE AND PARTNER BOTH GO TO BOTTOM.

STORM LAKE (Iowa) Dec. 7.—Edward Ball, football coach at Buena Vista College, and Miss Fern Benedict were drowned at Storm Lake this afternoon when ice on which they were skating gave way. Several score persons helplessly watched the couple drown after efforts of fellow-skaters to rescue them had failed. Ball's home was at Valparaiso, Ind.

BUTTE HOPES TO PLAY HERE.

BUTTE (Mont.) Dec. 7.—The Butte High School football squad, while not yet assured of a football game with the champions of California, to be decided upon next Saturday, when Pasadena meets Whittier, will resume light practice Monday and keep in shape for a possible game later in the month. The squad is in good shape, although, technically speaking, training was broken following Butte's defeat of the strong and speedy Salt Lake team here Thanksgiving Day. The team is anxious to make the trip and in case the guarantee from California is not large enough to cover the expenses, Butte football enthusiasts will make up the deficit. Butte wants a game and wants it badly and is axiously awaiting the outcome of the contest between Pasadena and Whittier with a view of getting busy with the winners.

KELLY'S LEG IN A BAD WAY.

Fred Kelly, Olympic champion high hurdler, and one of the greatest athletes in the country, may possible have his leg rebroken. About six weeks ago Kelly fractured the leg playing football and it was expected to heal in a short time as it was only a simple split. However, it has not shown the expected improvement and last night it was learned that the limb would probably be rebroken. Leo Livernash, whose leg was broken at the same time, is well enough to be playing football. Kelly did not realize that the bone was broken and walked on it for three or four days and this may be the cause of the complications. Should the limb be rebroken, Kelly will probably never run again.

So?

STANFORD MAY CHANGE STAND.

QUESTION OF JOINING THE CONFERENCE IS UP.

Proposition will be Put up to the Alumni—Will Have to Either Decline or Accept the Invitation. Suggested that the Student Body Vote Also—Freshman Rule?

STANFORD UNIVERSITY, Dec. 7.—That Stanford University's recently-taken stand on the question of freshmen participation in varsity athletics was not unalterable was indicated today by a decision of the Executive Committee of the university to submit the question of Stanford's entering the Pacific Coast conference to the university alumni.

P. R. Wilson, president of the student body, and E. C. Behrens, graduate manager, who attended the recent conference of Oregon and Washington universities, reported today to the Executive Committee that Stanford either would have to decline the invitation to join the Pacific Coast conference, or adopt with the other conference colleges the rule forbidding freshman participation in varsity athletics.

It was suggested that the question should be submitted to a vote of the student body, in which, it was said, sentiment regarding the freshman rule was divided. The Executive Committee decided, however, to refer the question to the alumni and adopted a resolution to that effect.

Baseball.

COFFIN IS NOT NAILED AS YET.

STRONG SENTIMENT REGISTERED IN FAVOR OF BASEBALL.

University of Illinois Officially Goes on Record as in Favor of the Great American Game—Chicago, Ohio State and Wisconsin Said to Favor it Also.

CHICAGO, Dec. 7.—Hope of athletes that baseball will be permanently retained as an intercollegiate sport in the western conference grew today with receipt of news that at four of the institutions there is strong sentiment against its abolition, as suggested by the faculty committee at its meeting last Saturday.

The Senate of the University of Illinois officially went on record as favoring the retention of the game. Coaching and student sentiment at Chicago, Ohio State and Wisconsin, according to stories here, indicated that those three schools may refuse to follow the faculty committee's suggestion.

Illinois' veto forces a reconsideration of the vote by the Conference Committee before the universities themselves vote finally on it.

DAILY PRACTICE INDULGED IN BY THE TWO WOMEN CONTENDERS.

Daily practice is the byword with Mrs. T. C. Bundy and Miss Molla Bjurstedt in preparation for their big round-robin championship match on the Hotel Virginia courts next Saturday.

Miss Bjurstedt is said to be trying to strengthen her serve so that she may take the prize silver bowl back to Norway with her, while Mrs. Bundy is working to keep in shape. While not official the match practically carries with it the title of world's champion.

Theodore Pell, a noted eastern player, has not yet reported to Simpson Sinsabaugh, who has charge of the matches, but probably Pell will be seen in action Saturday. Unless Pell shows up the schedule of play Saturday will be as follows:

At 1:30—Miss Mary Browne and Claude Wayne vs. Miss Florence Sutton and Nat B. Browne.

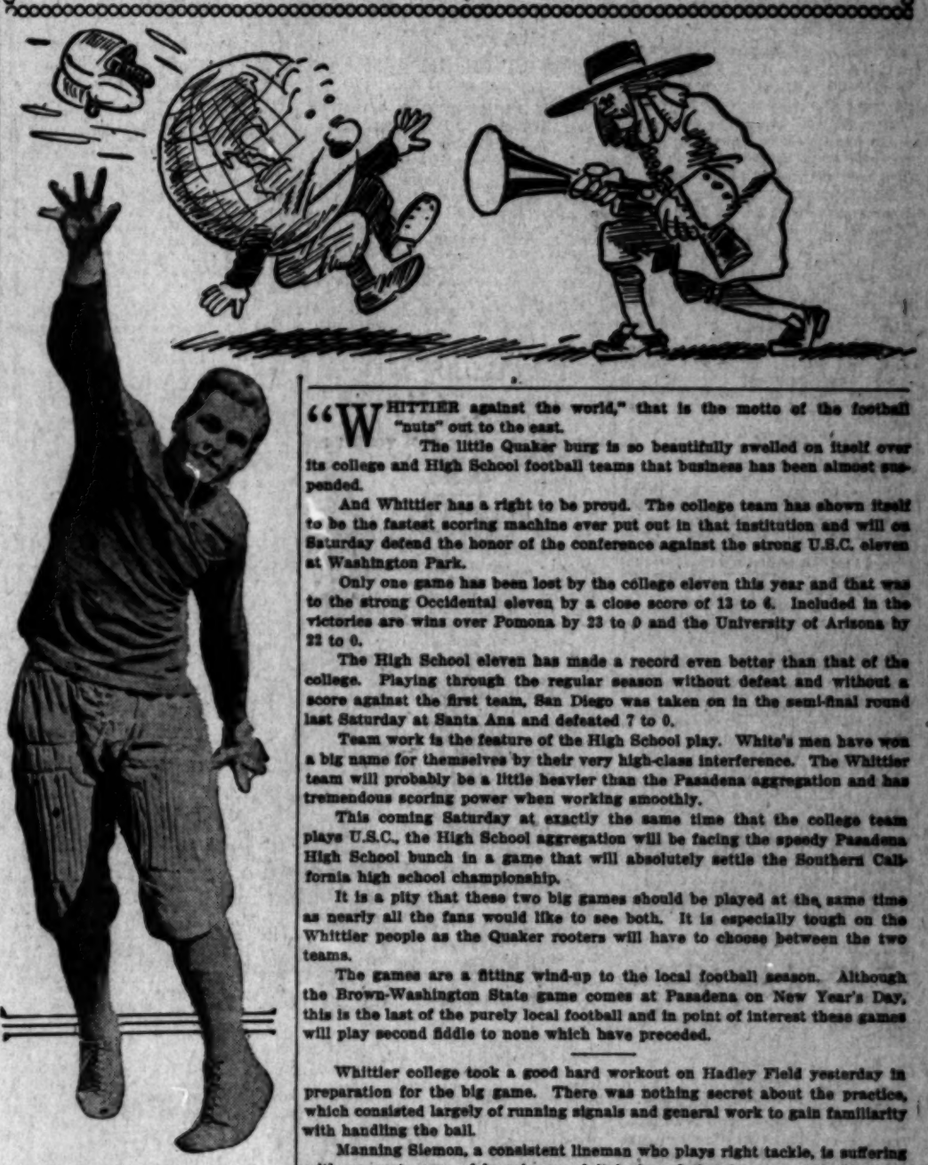
"WHITTIER AGAINST THE WORLD," MOTTO OF QUAKER FOOTBALL FANS.



Bull Finch,

Counted upon to slam through the U.S.C. line for some gains Saturday. The Trojans say Finch has another guess coming.

The little Quaker burg is so beautifully swelled on itself over its college and High School football teams that business has been almost suspended.

And Whittier has a right to be proud. The college team has shown itself to be the fastest scoring machine ever put out in that institution and will on Saturday defend the honor of the conference against the strong U.S.C. eleven at Washington Park.

Only one game has been lost by the college eleven this year and that was to the strong Occidental eleven by a close score of 13 to 6. Included in the victories are wins over Pomona by 23 to 0 and the University of Arizona by 22 to 0.

The High School eleven has made a record even better than that of the college. Playing through the regular season without defeat and without a score against the first team, San Diego was taken on in the semi-final round last Saturday at Santa Ana and defeated 7 to 0.

Team work is the feature of the High School play. White's men have won a big name for themselves by their very high-class interference. The Whittier team will probably be a little heavier than the Pasadena aggregation and has tremendous scoring power when working smoothly.

This coming Saturday at exactly the same time that the college team plays U.S.C., the High School aggregation will be facing the speedy Pasadena High School bunch in a game that will absolutely settle the Southern California high school championship.

It is a pity that these two big games should be played at the same time as nearly all the fans would like to see both. It is especially tough on the Whittier people as the Quaker rooters will have to choose between the two teams.

The games are a fitting wind-up to the local football season. Although the Brown-Washington State game comes at Pasadena on New Year's Day, this is the last of the purely local football and in point of interest these games will play second fiddle to none which have preceded.

Whittier college took a good hard workout on Hadley Field yesterday in preparation for the big game. There was nothing secret about the practice, which consisted largely of running signals and general work to gain familiarity with handling the ball.

Manning Siemon, a consistent lineman who plays right tackle, is suffering with an acute case of la grippe and it is feared that he may not recover in time for the game. Coach Wilson's boys have had several weeks' rest and are in the best of shape. It is rumored that they may show some new open stuff in the game at Washington Park Saturday.

The Quaker forwards are notably strong this season and will give U.S.C.'s comparatively light hole-openers a tough time of it. The certain absence of Fred Kelly from the Trojan lineup, while not entirely unexpected, will deprive the Red back field of some of its scoring power. Fred would have shot a whole lot of ginger into the U.S.C. back field.

Peyton Jordan, star right half, who wrenched his knee in the Alhambra game and has not played since then, will be in the game for Whittier High School when she meets Pasadena next Saturday. Since no less a thing than the prep title is involved Whittier stock began to rise as soon as Jordan's recovery was made known.

Coach White put his team through a signal practice of several hours yesterday. He will not conduct a scrimmage before the big game. White figures that his men are just about in correct fighting trim and that his main problem is to keep them in condition.

Gloom has settled over Pasadena High School. Coach Duffy Seay is seriously ill, has not been out of bed this week and probably will not even be able to attend the title game with Whittier High School Saturday.

Joe Pipal, the Occidental Timberwolf, tore out to the Crown City yesterday afternoon and coached Seay's boys for three full hours. He showed them a few of the pet Occidental formations and gave them big-league pointers.

HERRMAN IS NOT EXCITED.

SAYS THAT GROH HAS NO READ GRIEVANCE.

Thinks that When He Meets Herzog the Two will be Friends. Cold Words Make Affair Seem More Serious than it Really Is. Has been Some Friction.

[BY DIRECT WIRE—EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH.]

CINCINNATI, Dec. 7.—August Herrmann, the power behind the throne, said upon hearing of Heinie Groh's statement that he will not play with the Reds next year if Herzog is manager:

"Whatever the difference is I am sure that it can be straightened out in a few days. I don't believe there is much to it.

"Every manager has troubles. Herzog is like the rest, but the Groh affair is not as serious as cold words make it appear. I don't believe Groh really means what he says, but when the two meet they will again be friends. We understand there has been friction between several of the players and Herzog, but you will find that on every team. Groh is too sensible a ball player to let any little thing interfere with his diamond career."

DUMB DAN MORGAN DOESN'T EVEN NOTICE. F. WELSH.

Dumb Dan Morgan, our windy friend from Gnu Yawk, dashes to the bat, via the United States mail, with the following burning screed, for which we accept no responsibility whatsoever.

Editor, The Times. Dear Sir: Jack Britton, the real lightweight champion, who has been ill for the past four months, is back now in his old-time form. That means that Kid Lewis, the running English lightweight, will go and hide himself along with the rest of the supposed champions.

Britton is signed up for three matches in New Orleans, that is if any of the fluke lightweights can be coaxed in the ring with him. Jack is paying no attention to Freddie Welsh, for the public knows that Freddie has danced himself into obscurity.

Sincerely,

DAN MORGAN.

FEDS SCARE YANKS OUT OF NEW PARK—USE POLO GROUNDS

NEW YORK BUREAU OF THE TIMES, Dec. 7.—The Yankees may abandon all plans for a baseball park in this city and establish themselves at the Polo Grounds for a long period if a satisfactory agreement can be reached with the management of the Giants.

Several conferences have been held between President Hempstead of the Giants and Col. Ruppert and Capt. Huston of the Yankees, with such an end in view and it is reported that a satisfactory arrangement has been completed or at least is near consummation.

The one reason that determined the owners of the Yankees to build a ball park was that, under the enormous rental of $55,000 for the playing season, the leasing club could not make money.

The invasion of the Federal League in this city has brought home to organized baseball the fact that they must fight the new league. The realization of this, it is said, has brought more favorable terms to the Yankees for leasing the Polo Grounds and this park may be the home of the American League club for the next five years.

The Giants gain the full value of the rental paid by the Yankees, for if the American League team does not occupy the grounds they remain idle. The National League has heretofore maintained that it destroyed the rivalry between the two leagues to have American and National League teams playing at the same park. This viewpoint has been materially modified since the Federal League came into prominence. The rivalry has been eliminated through the division into the ranks of organized and outlaw baseball.

AT LAST!

J. Morgan, 5627 Hollywood Blvd., writes:—

"The greatest trouble I have with my eight-cylinder Cadillac is when I come to a nice, new concrete road—with no cross roads for a few miles—the blamed thing wants to get up and fly.

"It also caused me to lose a rear tire. A nail punctured the tire and the car ran so smoothly I broke the fabric before I discovered I had a flat tire.

"If I had a million dollars with which to buy a motor car I would not buy anything but an eight-cylinder Cadillac."

Former Refuses to Stand for Mr. Ed Smith.

ST. PAUL, Dec. 7.—Picking a referee for the Gibbons-Ahern match is proving about as easy a task as getting the belligerent nations of Europe to agree to lay down arms. No headway was made in the selection of a third man for Friday night's battle at the Auditorium, at tonight's meeting of the principals at the St. Paul Hotel.

Dan McKetrick, who looks after the affairs of the European champion, still holds out for Ed Smith of Chicago. Dan says he will continue to insist on Smith for referee until Mike Gibbons can show him why Smith isn't acceptable.

WILLING.

Gibbons is willing to accept any of the five referees appointed by the State Boxing Commission, or Curley Ulirich, who it is reported, is shortly to be appointed, but he refuses to stand for Smith.

Finding it impossible to agree on a third man after forty-five minutes of wrangling, the meeting adjourned until 2 p.m. tomorrow.

If the referee question is left to the commission, it is more than likely to be George Barton. The question of giving a decision has not yet been officially decided by the commission, but it has been unofficially reported that there will be an adverse ruling on President Dow's request.

AUDIENCES.

Packed gymnasiums again greeted both Ahern and Gibbons today. Ahern worked up steam at the Gibbons Brothers gym, boxing with Johnny Salvator and Bobbie Ward. Ahern's style differs from Gibbons in this respect. Mike avoids many blows aimed at him by his wonderful footwork, as well as his ability to judge distance. Ahern is not as shifty with his feet as Gibbons, but his ability to get on the inside or outside of blows by ducking his head to one side or the other is uncanny. He made Salvator and Ward look like amateurs at times when they tried to find his jaw.

LITTLE MAXWELL STILL RUNNING.

The Maxwell "25" making a non-motor stop run in an attempt to break the world's record of 12,404.9 miles had a total of 7647.6 miles showing on the speedometer at 4 o'clock yesterday afternoon, when the drivers and observers changed reliefs.

The little touring car has been making mileage in the county boulevards and city streets for the past fifteen days and is now well on the second half of the long run. Day and night since noon on November 22 the little car has been in service, with an observer appointed by the A.A.A. contest board always with the machine.

ROBB A DEMON BILLIARDIST.

L. J. Robb won the weekly rapid fire three-cushion tournament at Voorhies Billiard Palace for the second time by defeating Jack Brady with a score of 15 to 7. A. A. Fisher was the referee and a fine ivory mounted cue was the prize.

WILL DEMONSTRATE NEW BASKET RULES

Two picked teams will give a select exhibition of the new basketball rules at the Y.M.C.A. court Friday evening. Only officials, players and coaches will be allowed to witness the game which, it is thought, will elucidate many mooted points concerning the new rules. Players will be picked from among the L.A.A.C., Y.M.C.A., Long Beach and several of the church fives.

COULON MAY MEET ERTLE.

[BY DIRECT WIRE—EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH TO THE TIMES.]

How'd that look for a match? This isn't a dream yarn, for the former bantamweight champion, when sounded on the proposition today, informed promoters of the Gary Athletic Club that he would be ready to meet the little St. Paul whirlwind at their January show.

No one doubts that Ertle will grab the chance to exchange wallops with the Logan Square boy, so it was up to the promoters to find out something of Coulon's plans. Therefore Tommy Walsh, local matchmaker for the Gary Club, hunted up Coulon and sprung the question.

M'GILL MAY BUY INDIANS.

There was a well defined but unconfirmed rumor around last night that James C. McGill, owner of a Western League club and a prominent baseball magnate, was about to purchase the Cleveland Americans.

There have been rumors of the sale of the Indians for quite some time but this is the first occasion upon which anything definite has been suggested. McGill is staying at Venice but could not be located last night.

CLAPHAM IS TO MEET GUS PAPPAS.

ENGLISH LIGHTWEIGHT TO MIX WITH THE FAMOUS GREEK CHAMPION.

Sam Clapham, the English lightweight grappler, and Gus Pappas, the Greek champion, will wrestle to a finish at the Western Athletic Club tonight. Both the strangle and toe holds are barred. Pappas recently defeated Tony Ajax and consequently is a strong favorite with the Los Angeles Greeks. Two boxing bouts will precede the main event. Harry Atwood will meet Joe Gonzales and Joe Smith will mix with Howard Freeman.

POLOIST COMES FROM THE EAST.

Fleischman Arrives and Plays on the Same Day.

Game Results in a Score of Three to Three.

RIVERSIDE, Dec. 7.—One of the most enthusiastic participants in the polo practice this afternoon on Chemawa Field was Col. Max C. Fleischman of Cincinnati, who arrived in the city this morning with his wife and a retinue of servants. Although somewhat fatigued from the long journey across the continent, Col. Fleischman hurried through his lunch, donned his polo togs and motored to the park early in the afternoon.

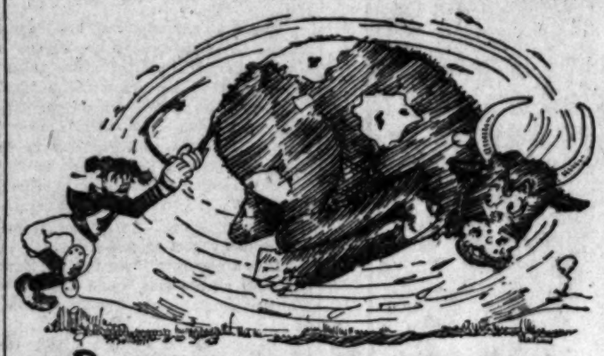
WITH THE REDS.

He played as a member of the Reds in a lively six-chukkur game which resulted in a 3-to-3 tie. Fleischman's team mates were Lett, Hudson and Stuart, and playing with Hugh Drury on the Whites were O. Pedley, Brown and Alvin Untermyer.

Col. Fleischman is a polo enthusiast of wide reputation. He has had six ponies at the local grounds for nearly a month and arrived to find them all in good condition. They are due for a considerable "workout" in the course of the next few weeks, however, as the colonel is an indefatigable player and proposes to take an active part in all practice games and matches.

A REAL GAME.

A real exhibition is planned for next Friday afternoon. Carleton Burke of Midwick and Hugh Drury of the locals will meet as captains of opposing teams. Fleischman is scheduled as a member of one of these fours.



BY MATADOR AL. G. WADDELL

Fame came to A. C. Robbins in a lump at the recent Chalmers dealers' convention in Detroit. Mr. Robbins was staked to the job of dispensing a line of cheer from sunny Southern California at the big Chalmers dinner. He responded with all the enthusiasm in the world and not noticing a group of women in the balcony, put over one of his "best sellers." The yarn topped off his speech like the cream on a King Alphonse and branded him a big leaguer. Give him credit, genta, he got away with it.

Paul G. Hoffman wishes to inform the public that he once went to school and stayed until recess, although one of his most recent literary gems would lead even his best friends to believe otherwise. The Studebaker salesmanager received seven spelling books and four grammars in the mail last Monday morning.

With the retirement of Coach Stanton of Pomona from the coaching profession, Southern California will inherit one capable football official. If Mr. Stanton can be persuaded to act at least occasionally, Southern California football should be quite some better off.

The best part about the Occidental-Syracuse engagement was the graceful acceptance of defeat on the part of our old townsman, Coach Josephus Alonzo Pipal of Occidental. It's great to encounter a coach with enough consideration for the public not to try to alibi himself, either before or after.

The way the figures loom up on the winner's sheet for the past season of motor racing, the speed game is well worth the chances taken if figured in the terms of E. Pluribus Unum. Kid Dario Resta managed to get away with a wad amounting to $37,750; Gil Anderson of Stutz fame collected $37,000 for his services at the wheel. Our fellow-citizen Earl Percival Cooper, also a Stutz jockey, amassed small change to the amount of $30,750, plus the $3000 won at Phoenix two weeks ago, and several thousand fish kopped at the San Francisco exposition Thanksgiving Day. Rickenbacher's winnings counted up to $24,000. Eddie O'Donnell, who last year at this time was eating self-served food in small quantities mostly occasionally, gathered in the neat pile of 19,000 fish in third places. Ralph de Palma did some business also, his income for the year being $24,600. Then comes Tom Alley, formerly De Palma's mechanic. Tommy is carrying a $12,200 wad for the season's activities. Bob Burman worked the adding machine to the amount of $10,600, and Brother Porporato's share of the season's booty as reported by the financial agents, is $11,000. Other drivers, according to J. C. Burton, Motor Age's income tax specialist, won $2,800 chips. Really the speed game is a great life if you don't weaken or go through a few miles of fence lumber.

Eddie Linginfelder has a new Stutz touring car. He always was popular but with the opportunities now for entertaining his popularity should increase 100 fold.

An eastern magazine is running a series of prominent citizens of prominent cities. Mr. Doheny was selected as a Los Angeles representative of prominence, with Senator Phelan doing the honors for San Francisco. Adolph Busch of St. Louis was elected, then Eddie Maier was nominated as a second Los Angeles candidate. With the election of Mr. Maier, Baron Long was chosen to fill the third vacancy and was duly put down in the register of prominent citizenship.

Clarence Bennett arrived in town yesterday morning with the blessings of the Panama-Pacific International Exposition officials. Bennett managed their automobile race Thanksgiving Day and did a good job. Clarence was accompanied by the celebrated Mr. Johnny Walker Black of Chicago. He may make Los Angeles his home; you never can tell.

Frank Mallette, U.S.C. football performer, has been a visitor to Universal City purty much of late. Frankie is either looking for a job in the "movies" or is scouting among the pretty little extra girls on the lot. Perhaps so; U never can tell.

Ben Knoth, mechanic of international reputation, has been leading a gay life during the past ten days while his wife has been in San Francisco. He was on a party with the notorious Mr. Ed Irvine one night and the next day he was seen in company with Herb Simon.

Speaking of Herb Simon, the dashing young lieutenant lost out on a pleasant afternoon last Sunday when he was called up as a witness during the little argument between Col. Schriber and Maj. Light out at the armory. At that, it's the first duty of a soldier to sacrifice pleasure for duty, even if the pleasure is real class.

George Cline was out among the inhabitants of Iceland, Greenland or some other frozen land last Saturday night. We thought his friend was Fred Granville in one of his North Pole costumes, but we were wrong.

Now that J. Walter Kaye holds the amateur motor record from Los Angeles to San Francisco, Jim Canavan suggests that we make a professional out of Walter and his mechanic, Harry Cline, and feature them in the opening race on the Ascot speedway.

Otto Fritsch, Manual Arts coach, has been offered a job in the "movies." Mr. N. Manning, business manager of the Balboa combine, used to go to school with Otto in the kid days and he has offered the Manual athletic prof. a position. Manning forgot to state what the position offered resembled, but it's safe to say that it is playing leads, driving a car, shifting scenes or something like that.

Otto said: "Out of this city of 6 million people, why did U pick on me?" Mister Dashback of DeLage fame was a witness at the hearing.

Jack Griffin writes from San Francisco stating that he officially closed the exposition with President Moore and several more standing around to see that the gates shut tight.

Dave Lewis appeared at racing headquarters yesterday made up in a silk shirt that would make the rainbow jealous, and his name is not among the above list of speedway kale grabbers at that. But he does it just the same.

Where Ed Irvine learned to play the piano nobody knows, but Mr. "Owl" should cut out this silly football stuff and settle down as a chief musician in a cabaret show.

When the critics pick their all-American teams they should pick an all-American coach because the team would be rotten without a coach. Jack de Aule is nominated, as he holds the record for most games lost. That shows that he is accommodating and therefore a perfect gentleman. Ralph Glaze is second choice and Hinkey of Yale and Kelly of Carlisle tied for third. Ed. Irvine gets honorable mention. Thus endeth the lesson.

RIDERS SET A FAST PACE.

NEW YORK, Dec. 7.—Fast riding with Walthour, Spears, Grenda and Fogler setting the pace, kept the riders in the six-day bicycle race ahead of the best previous mark. At midnight, the forty-eighth hour, the thirteen leading teams were three miles and eight laps ahead of the record with a score of 1015 miles, one lap. The 1000-mile mark was passed at 11:13 p.m., with Walthour leading the field. All the teams which began the grind were still in the race, notwithstanding the fast pace.

At midnight Sullivan and Anderson were one lap behind the leaders; Sutton and Maddona, two laps; Wohlrab and Kopsky and Ruddi-Ruse and Vanderstuyft four laps.

PLANS OF COURSE ARE DESCRIBED.

BENTEL ANNOUNCES THAT THE TURNS WILL BE PLANKED LATER ON.

George R. Bentel announced yesterday that the turns on the Ascot speedway were to be of earth, surfaced with Warrenite, for the opening race, and later this will be used as a foundation for planking. It would be impossible to build the planked turns and get the speedway in condition for the opening race, December 26, and the A.A.A. cannot grant a sanction for the race until the speedway is actually completed.

NEW LEAGUE MAY COME TO LIFE.

GEORGE STOVALL ADMITS THE ORGANIZATION IS POSSIBLE.

George Stovall, Coast representative of the Federal League, declared yesterday that a new league, to be known as the Continental and affiliated with the Federal League, is a possibility.

It has been learned that the biggest cities in the United States, which are without baseball clubs will be listed under the new circuit. Cities in Missouri, Kansas and Oklahoma are said to be in mind. Kansas City is the largest in the United States that does not hold a franchise.

Firebrand George stated that he had no official information concerning the new league, but that he thought it would be a fine thing for baseball. George believes that a place is needed where young players and old-timers can be sent.

"TAD" WIEMAN CHOSEN TACKLE.

COACH YOST SAID TO THINK A GREAT DEAL OF HIM.

Coach Featherstone of L.A. High has received information that "Tad" Wieman, former Hilltop star and member of the famous Wieman family, is slated for a tackle berth on the Michigan varsity of next year.

Yost is further said to state that if both Wieman and Peach, another freshman star, return to school next year, the Wolverines will turn out to be winners.

SECOND TEAM TO PLAY SANTA FE.

The Manual Arts seconds and the Santa Fe football team will mix Friday afternoon out at Manual. Coach Fritsch's seconds are said to be as good as many southern first teams and a good fight is expected. Fritsch says that it seems as if the Santa Ana seconds are going to forfeit their game with Manual for the scrub championship. This contest was scheduled for the latter part of the week.

At Law.

FAN'S OPINION WORTH NOTHING

"Hunky" Shaw is Still After Salary.

Manager Said to be the One Judge.

PORTLAND (Or.) Dec. 7.—Can a baseball fan from his position in the grand stand tell whether a player is putting up a good brand of ball? If he thinks he can, is his conclusion worth anything in a court of law?

THE QUESTIONS.

These were the questions raised today before Judge Morrow in the trial of the $214 suit of Royal N. (Hunky) Shaw against the San Francisco Baseball Club. Shaw is suing the club because he was suspended in the summer of 1911 and was not allowed to play with any other club during the suspension. The $214 is for salary alleged to be due for the time Shaw was suspended. The club retired him for listless playing.

Attorney Shirley Parker, representing Shaw, attempted to introduce the testimony of C. W. Moore, who saw the game, to show that Shaw played good ball. Judge W. W. McCredie, representing the San Francisco club, was on his feet with an objection.

THE ANSWER.

"The conclusion of the witness is not worth anything here," he said. Parker contended that he was attempting to show something which could be proved only by conclusion. "If you want to rule out conclusions altogether we will let it go," he said. "It was a conclusion of Cal Ewing which led to Shaw's suspension."

THE RULING.

Judge Morrow ruled Moore's conclusion had nothing to do with the case. First, however, he read a phrase from Shaw's contract with the San Francisco team which provided that the manager of the club should be the sole judge of his playing.

This is the second time Judge Morrow has tried Shaw's suit. A year ago a jury disagreed. Parker contends Shaw was suspended merely to save money.

The new rule of the Dominion Football Association (Canada) under which no team can compete under a mercantile, manufacturing or firm name except in a mercantile league, is meeting with opposition in the Montreal and District leagues. The rule is to be enforced next year.

LANSING TO BOSS MISSOURI ELEVEN.

COLUMBIA (Mo.) Dec. 7.—Harry S. Lansing of Columbia last night was elected captain of the football team of the University of Missouri for 1916.

LEADS LONG CHASE.

A light automobile transfer truck, driven by E. Lightfoot of No. 672 Mateo street, for over three miles early last night kept ahead of three motorcycle officers and only was captured after the officers separated and headed the truck off near the North Broadway bridge.

Speed Motorcycle Officers Owens, Harlen and Carter first spied the machine coming south on North Broadway near the city limits. When they rode up beside the machine and notified Lightfoot that he was under arrest for driving at forty miles an hour he smiled and slipped the gears into high. Then the chase was on.

Lightfoot turned his machine down side streets and back alleys and would have escaped except that he had to cross the North Broadway bridge, and two of the officers were there waiting for him. He was locked in the City Jail, but later released under $100 bail. He refused to make any statements.

BEAVERS NOT AFTER J. KANE.

Johnny Kane still belongs to the Vernon Ball Club, all reports to the contrary notwithstanding. Proof is contained in the fact that Eddie Maier offered to sell him to Portland yesterday for a cash consideration.

Walter McCredie in reply stated that Kane was a mighty fine outfielder in many respects, being fleet of foot and a good hitter, but that he was counting on Bill Speas to work as utility outfielder next year and therefore could not use Johnny.

Mac is said to be angling for a couple of youngsters to try out in the gardens. Willie of Cleveland is one of the men he is after and he hopes to fill up his outfield with promising kids.

Golf Gossip.

AMATEURS WIN FROM MARTINS.

BEST BALL OF THREE AGAINST TWO PROS.

Arthur Braly Plays Remarkable Golf, Going Around the Course in Seventy at Los Angeles Country Club—Gibson Wins from Ben Leslie in Play-off at Annandale.

BY ALMA WHITAKER.

A remarkable foursome was played on the Midwick links on Friday afternoon, the best ball of three amateurs, Arthur Braly, Laurence Cowing and Artie Shafer, against that of two professionals, Joe and Hutt Martin of the Los Angeles Country Club.

And the amateurs won, 69 to 66. Not only that, but those amateurs played about the best game of their lives, individually and collectively—Braly a 70, which is best amateur score for that course; Cowing a 73 and Shafer a 76.

Arthur Braly has had all the golf limelight for the past two weeks. He has solved the secret of infallible putting, pro tem., at all events, and was sinking ten and fifteen-footers with blithesome regularity in that match.

Cowing, who drives the longest ball in his club, but usually putts like a rhinoceros, caught the infection and rarely missed one. And but for a tragic hole at the twelfth, where Shafer missed his drive, got into the rough and foozled his putt, taking a 7, he, too, would have had a 73 or 73.

Joe Martin had a 70, Hutt a 71. But they missed a few essential putts, and the amateurs started out with a best ball 2 by Braly at the first tee, and a 3 at the second. At the sixth Shafer laid his second by the fence and gave them another 3. After that they halved every hole till the seventeenth, when the pros got the honor for the first time, from the eighteenth. Joe won that for 3, but Braly only missed holing a fifteen-foot putt there by a fairy's breath.

DEMON MOTOR RIDER RETURNS.

REDLANDS, Dec. 7.—Roy Shaw, one of the best-known motorcycle racers in Southern California, returned from the East today with many new laurels won on the race tracks there and also a bride. Shaw expects to spend the winter in Southern California.

He made a great showing during the summer, was in an average of one race each week and always placed in the money. At St. Joseph he took first prize in the sweepstakes and made the track record, doing better than 100 miles an hour.

"The East is all right for a few months in the summer," said Shaw on his return, "but me for California when the leaves begin to fall. When we left Minneapolis it was so cold that everything seemed to be ice. It is no wonder that everybody who can comes to California in the winter."

HOLLYWOOD TO PLAY BEACHERS.

Considerable Activity on the Toiler Lot.

Heroic preparations are being made by Manual and Hollywood high schools for their coming football bout next Saturday morning. Hollywood will journey to Long Beach this afternoon to meet the seasiders' first team, while the Manual boys will indulge in a stiff scrimmage.

RUN SIGNALS.

Signal workouts were the word yesterday. The Foothillers were treated to a chalk-talk and signal practice by Coach Moody while Fritsch dismissed the squad after drilling them in a few pet plays.

The Manual Arts Field had the appearance of a sixteen-ring circus yesterday. Three football teams, three basketball squads, a bunch of track men and two girls' hockey teams helped fill the horizon. Last of all came Coach Fritsch, attired in an old L.A.A.C. uniform, and prancing about between his numerous pupils, so that he will be in shape for the Manual faculty-Morning Glory gridiron exhibition.

EVERYBODY OUT.

Everybody that is able to shake a leg seems to pile out for some kind of a team at Manual. Over fifty men are out for basketball, sixty for track and about thirty girls for hockey.

Coach Fritsch announced yesterday that two of his best players probably will not get into the argument Saturday. Center Dan McMillan has a very bad knee and Capt. Ramey a twisted ankle.

"My team is stronger than ever," says Fritsch, "and the boys are just beginning to find themselves. If we had started the season playing as we are now we certainly would have landed the championship."

POLY GIRLS ARE PLAYING TENNIS.

FIRST ROUND OF TOURNAMENT IS PRETTY NEARLY OVER.

The first round of the Polytechnic High School girls' tennis tournament is almost completed. The first match was played between Margaret Thomas and Nellie Weston, the former winning 6-1, 6-0. Frances Smith defeated Helen Rader 6-2, 6-1. Henrietta Simmons won by default from Ruth Abrams, and Marie Lamon forfeited to Aileen Beach. Mary Clark took the place of Mary Robertson and defeated Louise Abberly 6-3, 6-2. Gladys Sauvinet defeated Dorothy Griffin, 6-2, 6-3. Leota Tipton, manager of the interscholastic tennis team, has entered the interclass tournament.

FIRST INTERCLASS GAME IS PLAYED.

REDLANDS, Dec. 7.—Play in the interclass basketball league of the university was started today. The freshmen won the first game from the preps by a score of 26 to 0. The champions will get a cup offered by Charles and Calder Bennett.

The game was featured by a number of fouls, and the work of Trine, who played a whirlwind game for the freshmen. The line-up was: Hill and Jones, forwards; Fagg, center; Zimmerman, Raisner and Trine, guards. Preps—Tyrill and Ogborn, forwards; Rawson, center; L. Roberts and Cogavske, guards. The second game, tomorrow, will be between the juniors and the sophomores.

POLY POLOISTS ARE AT WORK.

The second try-outs for the water-polo team of the Polytechnic High School were held last week in the Y.M.C.A. tank. There was a good bunch out for the positions, and with Davis and Talbot from last year's team in the running, a splendid squad is sure to be turned out.

The popularity of fox hunting made available for the use of the English army 200,000 horses for the present war.

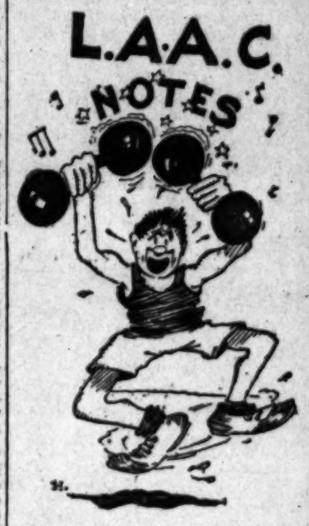
SACRAMENTO, Dec. 7.—It will be impossible for automobile owners, whose numbers for this year are above 60,000 to get the same number for the coming year, according to H. A. French, manager of the State Motor Vehicle Department. However, in order to get the old numbers, it will be necessary to have the applications filed with the department not later than January 1. The earlier the applications get in, the smaller will be the license number, and those having numbers in excess of 60,000, may get a smaller number for 1916 by filing their applications at once. Applications accompanied by the license tax fee are arriving in bunches every day, and after December 15, the new license tags will be sent out.



The finals of the L.A.A.C. handball doubles championship will be staged Sunday. The contending teams are Lowell and Ham and Brand and Barry. Silver cups will be presented to the members of the winning team.

Three crack basketball squads are working out regularly under coach Julius Klawans. He has devised the scheme of one big basketball frame to settle the title and each quintette owns the pennant very much. There is a 120-pound, 140-pound and an unlimited team at the club. Any team wishing to arrange for games are requested to get into touch with Ryo Williams of the L.A.A.C.

The L.A.A.C. football hopes will meet the Originals in Oakland next Sunday. The following Sunday, December 19, the Originals will play the clubmen in this city. Capt. Sid Neighbors and his bunch of huskies are working out in the club gym every evening. Coach Roach is putting the team through a stiff training and they are said to be rapidly getting into shape.

Sid Neighbors has been forbidden to enter the L.A.A.C. swimming tank again. Last week he enjoyed to disport himself in the water and there was so great an overflow that the ceiling below was badly damaged.

In four trips to the country about Acton, Myra Fullerton has killed as many limits of quail. On the last expedition he was accompanied by Joe Frown, W. J. McCulley and Walter Hansen. These gentlemen had fair luck, although they are not said to be shots of the same demon caliber that Myra is.

Lon Mustang recommends Crane Lake as a fine place to shoot ducks. Any one wishing to make the trip there is referred to the aforesaid Lon for information concerning location, roads, etc., as he seems to be the only person holding any knowledge of the whereabouts of Crane Lake.

Phil Boothby is exceedingly enthusiastic concerning salt water fishing these days. He wishes to publish the fact that surf fish are present in abundance off of the Ondera.

Reports also lead us to believe that those who can leave off hanging the ducks long enough to get out the old line and sinker will find an elegant run of smelt off of the Long Wharf.

Heinie Fleman is not very optimistic these days. He contends that the only sure shooting is that at the clay birds to be found on the clubs.

Fop Hall of the R. H. Dyas Company, has unburdened himself of some information concerning Lake Elsinore. He states that there are many big birds on the lake at present, but the hot weather is spoiling shooting. Hall has also learned from a reliable source that sport is not tip-top on Elsinore Lake.

Rabbits are said to be numerous in the Sespe country.

Jack Kelsey and Clyde Wolfe are planning to spend Saturday and Sunday on Elizabeth Lake. They will also investigate a mysterious quail hangout said to exist near the body of water.

SYRACUSE TEAM LEAVES THE CITY.

ALL ADMIT THAT OXY GAVE THEM A VERY HARD BATTLE.

The Syracuse football warriors pulled out of town at 11:45 a.m. yesterday for a direct run to Chicago, from whence they will embark for Syracuse. All of the players were in the best of shape, nothing but minor injuries having been experienced in Monday's game.

The Syracuse men were unanimous in their praise of the Occidental team as a bunch of clean sportsmen and declared that the Oxy game was one of the hardest fights of the year for them.

BEST BASKETBALL MATERIAL STILL ON FOOTBALL SQUAD.

Fifty men have responded to Coach Fritsch's call for basketball material at Manual Arts. It is planned to play about three games a week and by season time a strong bunch will be selected. The best part of the material is still out for football. Such gridiron stars as Jimmy Blusett, Toney, Brockman, McMillan and Galloway are said to be experienced basket shooters and will be out for the quintette after the Hollywood game Saturday morning.

BASEBALL WORK BEGUN ALREADY.

MANUAL PLAYERS ARE TO HAVE THEIR FIRST GAME ON SATURDAY.

Baseball is beginning to assert itself out at Manual Arts High School. Practice is being held three evenings a week on the Exposition Park diamond and the first game of the Toiler's season will be played there next Saturday. At that time San Pedro High School will be played.

WANT TO START HARVARD SYSTEM.

MADISON (Wis.) Dec. 7.—A number of prominent Wisconsin Alumni have proposed the introduction of the Harvard system of coaching into Wisconsin College.

The proposition was set on its feet today by the proposal that either Charlie Brickley, famous drop-kicker, or Capt. Eddie Mahan of Harvard be secured as coach for next year. It is said that the services of both are in the market.

Ottawa has just completed an experiment of soccer football in its public schools in which ten schools with twenty teams took part in a series of matches which proved popular.

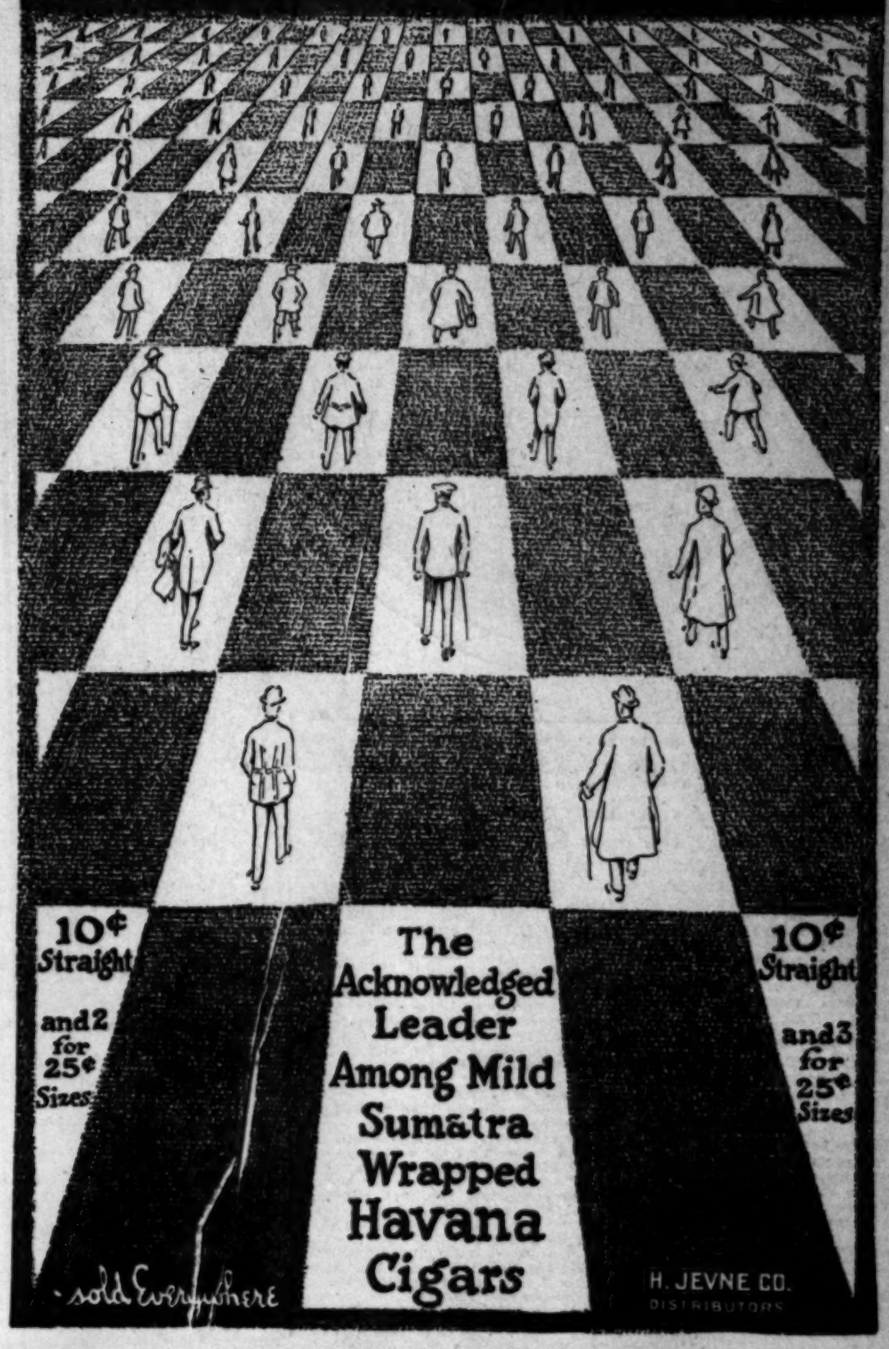
CHANCELLOR CIGARS



BY GRACE KINGSLEY.

Dainty Marie, at the Orpheum, is divided between a desire to play in musical comedy and a yearning to go back home to Kansas and run a stock farm.

"Ponies and chickens in both places," she relates, 'and I don't know myself exactly which I prefer."

Pent-dweller.

Dainty Marie was a circus girl before she went on the stage, and at 12 years old was one of the daringest bareback riders in the business. She went into the circus when she was 9 years old.

"I was an awful tomboy," said Miss Marie, "used to get whipped every day for tearing my dresses climbing trees; so one day when some circus people drove by our place, caught sight of me in the branches, called jokingly and asked if I didn't want to join the circus, I took them in dead earnest, and my mother, said she knew she could never make anything of me but an acrobat and let me go."

Kick in Next.

"Kick In," the Willard Mack play which ran two seasons in New York, will be the next offering at the Burbank, with Florence Rockwell and Edmund Lowe in the leading roles. Miss Rockwell will play Marjorie Rambeau's part, and Lowe will have the role which Richard Bennett made famous.

Mazie in the Mazy.

Mazie King once danced down the steps of the Metropolitan Tower, in New York, on her toes. It was one of the greatest dancing feats in history. The same feet are insured for $50,000.

World Besters.

W. R. Sheehan, general manager of the Fox Film Company, was formerly a newspaper man. It couldn't have been so very formerly, or his looks much belie his years.

Mr. Sheehan served on the New York World, with Irvin Cobb and Barton Curry, now editor of The Country Gentleman. In fact, it was a lucky triangle, for all three have reached posts of distinction in the world.

The redoubtable Charlie Chapin was city editor, and Sheehan relates that Cobb and Chapin were constantly at swords' points because Cobb was so frequently late at his desk. One morning Chapin was absent. Cobb inquired the cause of the managing editor, and on learning that Chapin was ill, remarked feelingly: "I trust it is nothing trivial that's the matter with him!"

Grace's Aunt Writes.

Vampire Lady Due.

Theda Bara, the noted Fox star, will arrive about January 1. She will appear in the picturization of a famous play, the name of which the company is for the present keeping a secret.

Low Brow Feline.

The Burbank house cat has absolutely no regard for art. She doesn't care a hang whether dramatic art is ever elevated an inch. It can just swallow for all of her, so long as she catches her daily rat. Which delicacy she trapped yesterday in one of the model sets for "Kick In," which Billie Colvin had just had built, with the result that desolation and ruin were trailed all over the property-room.

Prefer West Indies.

Indoor Sport.

Some Stunt.

Houdini says it will take more brains to break out of that paper bag than out of a nailed box, as he must depend rather upon delicate skill and ingenuity than upon muscle.

Memory Test.

The names of the five native Hawaiian singing boys who appear with "The Bird of Paradise" which comes to the Majestic next week, are W. K. Kolokuku, F. B. Acke, T. Kachuekalepeni, J. Halemany and K. Ekekela. Plenty of time to memorize the names before the show arrives Christmas week.

Farnum as Parson.

Dusty out Again.

Speaking of Farnums, Dustin Farnum has been ill with inflammatory rheumatism for the past few days, but is about again. He lost twenty pounds during his illness, and says that while he was worried about his avoirdupois, the remedy is worse than the disease, that, in fact, if he has his way he will never have rheumatism again as long as he lives.

Some Blow-out.

W. R. Sheehan, the manager of the Fox Company, says that when "The Dragon's Claw" was staged, a scenic Russian village was blown up. A great deal of dynamite was used, and ten people were burned, two were otherwise injured, and a horse was killed. The simple village folk, who dwelt near the set, brought suit for disturbing their peace and killing an animal. Killing actors seemed quite justifiable to them. But when the company turned the tables by implicating a few of the villagers who had helped cart the dynamite, and had toted the company to and from the station, and otherwise assisted, the action was quickly called off and peace restored.

Real Reel Detective.

It is said that the detective in "The Red Circle," being filmed by the Balboa Company, is a real human being—not like the famous detective of whom the policeman taking a civil service examination for the detective force wrote when he answered the question, "Who was Shrlock Holmes?" "There ain't no such animal."

Out Among 'Em.

George Broadhurst, the noted playwright, slated to appear in Los Angeles a week ago, is still mysteriously absent. Manager Montrose believes Broadhurst is in San Francisco and putting the finishing touches to a new play. However, he has no data and cautiously refuses to commit himself.

Dorothy Stays Away.

Hopper is Overcome.

De Wolf Hopper, the tall comedian, exhibits with delight a poorly-written but ardently sincere epistle sent him by a 4-year-old child who plays with Mr. Hopper in scenes of "Don Quixote." Mr. Hopper, when the picture was completed, presented the little girl with a dressed doll as a token of his appreciation of her good work in the picture.

The letter reads: "Dear Mr. Hopper: Oh, how I love my doll. Every time I look at her I think of you." Hopper declares that this is the first time that just that compliment was ever paid him.

Two attractive stars

Of the photoplay world, who are enhancing the brightness of the local screens this week. Bessie Barriscale, the clever and winsome little film actress of the Ince company, is appearing in "The Golden Claw" at Clune's Auditorium, while Genevieve Hamper, Robert Mantell's wife, is being seen with that famous thespian at Miller's in "The Unfaithful Wife."

Early Stuff.

Writes an Exhortation for School Paper.

[SPECIAL CORRESPONDENCE.]

CLAREMONT, Dec. 7.—Coach Stanton of Pomona is a great believer in pre-season work for track. He advises every man who wishes to do anything in the cinder sport to get to work right now, and not to wait until actual track work begins. In a signed article in the college paper, he has the following to say concerning preliminary work in track:

"Now is the time to begin track work. Do not wait until after the holidays. It will require strenuous work in track this year to put Pomona on top of the heap. The way to be strenuous is not to procrastinate.

NO SEASON.

"Track men should work for their events the year around. There is no special season for track in Southern California, as the weather seldom forbids a man getting outdoors. There is no sport that equals track for a mediocre man. All that is required is work and a determination to get there. It is safe to say that any healthy man without experience can, with work and will power, make the track team at Pomona College before he is through with his course.

"First, the constitution must be built up to stand the work. The work should be gradual and as diversified as possible. Long walks for the first week are advisable. After that long jogs of two, three or four miles are desirable. Then one can begin to specialize under a coach's direction, trying the different events to see where he is best fitted.

INCREASE WIND.

"The time between now and the Christmas holidays should be spent in building up the constitution and increasing the wind. If you have a chance, work during the holidays to the same end.

"Baseball candidates can do their track work early without hurting their chances for baseball—remember, we are just as anxious about baseball as about track."

Coach Stanton speaks about these things from long experience. He has the reputation of being able to develop men into track athletes who have never before had any experience on the track. This is to be his last year at Pomona, and he hopes to develop a winning team to quit on. He has set about his task by giving his men plenty of preliminary work, and by the time actual track work begins he will have the jump on the rest of the Southern California coaches because of this pre-season labor.

JACK DILLON IS A WINNER.

BUSINESS BRIGHTENING WITH NEAR END OF THE DEMOCRATIC RULE.

Declaring business conditions throughout the country to be already booming, principally because confidence is returning with the close of the Democratic administration and the prospect of a Republican President next year, R. E. Miller, president of the Owl Drug Stores, arrived in Los Angeles yesterday afternoon, brimming with enthusiasm over the results of an extended trip throughout the East. Mr. Miller left last night for San Francisco, the headquarters of the corporation, and the city in which he resides.

"I am delighted with the results of my trip," Mr. Miller said yesterday afternoon. "When I left for the East several months ago, I really did not know what to expect of business conditions there. I had been told that everything was at a standstill. This I found to be far from true.

"A year ago, I learned, trade conditions were in bad shape. But it appears that as the Democratic administration draws to its close, confidence returns to the people, and as a result, business gets better. It is universally conceded throughout the East that this will be the last Democratic administration we will have to suffer with for many years.

"The Republican party in the East has several good men who will probably be candidates at the Republican National Convention. But from what I gathered, Senator Lawrence Y. Sherman of Illinois, appears to be the strongest man in the field. I believe he will be nominated, and if this occurs, he is certain to be elected by an overwhelming majority.

"I was very well satisfied with trade conditions along the Pacific Coast and in other localities where we have stores, even before I left for my eastern trip. But I discovered on my return that even in my short absence, business has increased greatly.

"There is only one answer. Confidence is returning to the general public. And I am sure that as each day goes by and we get closer to election day, this confidence will grow, I am sure that during the next administration, which will undoubtedly be Republican, this country will experience the best times of its history."

Refuse to Arrest.

SAD HOME SCENE STIRS POLICE.

DETECTIVES AID INSTEAD OF SERVING WARRANT.

Embezzlement Charge Which was Preferred in Michigan Grew Out of Man's Sale of an Unpaid-for Automobile to Gain Money that Wife Might Live.

Two police detectives early last night startled Chief Snively by declining to arrest a man for whom they held a warrant charging him with embezzlement. Then after investigating the case Chief Snively ordered the detectives under no condition to make the arrest but leave the matter rest until today.

Frank Williams and Ben McCann, the detectives, returned to the Central Police Station happy, but poorer by several dollars. Peter Mulder of No. 1531 East Fiftieth street, the man wanted by the police, spent the night with his dying wife, and four small children blessing instead of cursing the police.

Early yesterday morning a telegram was received by Chief Snively that Peter Mulder was wanted in Kalamazoo, for having sold an automobile which he had been using as a jit bus, before he had paid for the machine.

Early last night Mr. Mulder was located by Detectives Williams and McCann at his home on Fiftieth street. The detectives found Mrs. Mulder in a dying condition from an incurable ailment. They discovered the four Mulder children, the oldest 5 years of age, asleep on a bed. They found that none of the family had had anything to eat all day and that with the exception of a little rice there was nothing to eat in the house.

But Mr. Mulder was happy. He had found a job at last and was going to work today. He would be able to provide medicine for his wife and food for his children. They discovered that Mulder had been told by a doctor that if he did not leave Michigan and bring his wife to Southern California she would not live through the winter.

Despite the warrant they held for Mr. Mulder the two detectives each gave $2 to the man, who had made himself a criminal to give his wife a little longer to live, and told him to buy food for his children and medicine for his wife. They then called Chief Snively by telephone and informed him of the case.

Today the Chief will endeavor by telegraph to settle Mr. Mulder's troubles and will give him all the help that he may need.

ARREST DETECTIVE.

Private Operative Jailed on the Charge of Doing Business Without State License.

In the enforcement of the new State law which requires private detectives to operate under license, Frank Jerome, with offices at No. 631 South Spring street, was arrested by Police Detectives Raymond and Mailheau early last night and held at the Central Police Station in default of $500 bail.

Jerome was arrested on a warrant sworn out by Paul Blair and H. E. Richmond, both private detectives and officials of the Southern California Protective Detective Association, which was organized some time ago to protect all licensed detectives against those operating without a State license.

According to Deputy City Prosecutor Morton, who issued the complaint against Jerome, his arrest is the first of a number proposed. All private detectives operating with or without an office who are not licensed under the State law, according to Mr. Morton, will be arrested within the next few days.

Mr. Blair and Mr. Richmond will gather the evidence with which to prosecute the offenders.

John Wren, an Australian racing man, who recently enlisted in Melbourne as a private, is stated to be one of the richest men in the Commonwealth of Australia. Besides controlling three race courses in Melbourne, he has others in Queensland and he recently purchased a daily newspaper in Brisbane. He also controls boxing stadiums in Melbourne, Sydney and Brisbane.

Evangel.

USEFUL LIFE'S PEACEFUL CLOSE.

MOTHER OF TWO MINISTERS IS CALLED TO REST.

Was Perhaps Best Known Woman in Baptist Circles of Los Angeles Because of Her Loyal and Constant Work for Missions and Usefulness in Local Church Endeavor.

Mrs. Ida King Petty is dead. A real evangel to hundreds of friends in Southern California; a rare aid to her husband in his ministerial work; the mother of two ministers of the gospel; a friend and constant, loyal helper of missions—the death of Mrs. Petty will be keenly felt by a very wide circle.

Mrs. Petty suffered from a lingering illness for about five years. She peacefully passed away yesterday at her home at Workman Station, a suburb of Los Angeles.

The public funeral service will be conducted tomorrow afternoon at 1:30 o'clock in the chapel of W. A. Brown, No. 1047 South Figueroa street. Dr. Brougher of the Temple Baptist Church, where she was a member, will officiate, assisted by Rev. William H. Walker, Jr., an intimate friend of the family. The interment will be in the family plot in Rosedale Cemetery later in the afternoon.

Mrs. Petty was the wife of Rev. Alonzo M. Petty, D.D., secretary of the North Pacific District of the American Baptist Home and Foreign Mission Society. She was the daughter of Mrs. Fannie L. King, for a number of years past the State Superintendent of Prison Reform, and who survives her at the age of nearly 80 years. Mrs. Petty was the mother of three sons, all well known here—Rev. C. Wallace Petty, now pastor of the Creston-avenue Baptist Church in Upper Manhattan; Rev. A. Ray Petty, who conducted a highly successful boys' work in the Temple Baptist Church, and now acting pastor of the historical Judson Memorial Church in New York City, which the Baptist denomination is endeavoring to save for the work of evangelizing the fast increasing foreign population crowding into Lower New York. The youngest son is F. J. Petty, who lately entered upon the practice of dentistry in Los Angeles.

Perhaps no woman was better known in Baptist Church circles of Los Angeles and Southern California then Mrs. Petty, who was but 50 years of age. She had a wide sphere of usefulness. She was intensely interested in the activities of the church, and especially devoted to its missions. She became prominent in that work to an unusual degree, and her splendid patience and loyal spirit in the face of many discouraging obstacles was a notable help to her husband in his work in this line of Christian endeavor. She was always sympathetic and tender, a "Mother in Israel," whose passing will sadden many a heart.

MRS. CANFIELD ABSTRACTED IN COURTROOM.

Cans of distillate, bottles of oil, tanks of gasoline and similar objects, as far as the senses of smell and sight were concerned, converted the courtroom of Justice Hanby into a veritable oil-supply station yesterday morning. It was the beginning of the actual preliminary hearing of the case against Mrs. Henrietta A. Canfield, who is charged with having plotted to destroy the Canfield Hotel, at No. 340 South Flower street, by fire on the night of November 4.

In order to apprise the court more fully as to details pertaining to the alleged attempt at arson, Deputy District Attorney Keetch moved for a recess during the afternoon, at which time attorneys for the defense, Justice Hanby and others visited the hotel. Mrs. Canfield was not along.

STEEL LEADS IN ACTIVITY.

Depressing Tone of the President's Message Causes a Setback and Nearly All Gains are Wiped Out. Bearish Operations Monopolize the Latter Part of the Session.

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE.]

NEW YORK, Dec. 7.—If the course of today's market may be accepted as a criterion, Wall street and the financial community as a whole regarded some of the main points of the President's message to Congress with disfavor. Standard stocks, which were dull but steady in the forenoon, and became more active and stronger on publication of the message, fell back later under the weight of heavy selling, in which bearish operations probably were no small factor. United States Steel was the overshadowing feature of the midday advance, ascending almost steadily from its early minimum of 86⅜ to 88¼, a mere ⅛ under its best price of recent years, on transactions that ranged from 1000 to 7500 shares. Rails and other sensational issues rose proportionately, but yielded with Steel in the irregular and unsettled close, which registered numerous net losses. Total sales amounted to 705,000 shares. Much of the liquidation which followed the more careful reading of the President's recommendations was ascribed to those features dealing with a proposed tax on various crude and refined products. Chief among the many advances at the early session, most of which were substantially effaced, were Studebaker, Baldwin Locomotive, New York Air Brake, Sloss-Sheffield Steel, Harvester, Industrial Alcohol, Distillers' Securities, Internati onal Nickel and Petroleum. London was again a seller here, confining its limited trading to Pacifics, and some of the minor metals. Sterling exchange was strong, comparing with highest rates of the recent movement, but continental remittances were easier. Bonds were irregular, with another decline in Anglo-French notes, which sold for "future" delivery at 96¾. Total sales, par value, aggregated $4,545,000. United States coupon 4s were ¾ per cent. lower on call.

LOS ANGELES STOCK EXCHANGE.

Heavy Trading in Oil Securities—Investment Active—Yellow Pine Sells at Par.

Activity on the local board yesterday was confined to the oil stocks, and Los Angeles Investment, Associated Oil attracted the most attention, with total sales of 120 shares, at firm quotations. Union was strong at 70.00, with Western Union off ½ point at 97.00. The unusually heavy demand for Investment was the feature of the session. Opening in the morning at .43, the stock gradually acquired strength until closing sales were recorded at .44. Thirty-five hundred shares were transferred during the day, and the stock gave evidence of going higher. Mining issues remained sluggish, with the Oatman stocks neglected. Yellow Pine reached par yesterday, 1000 shares changing hands at 1.00. A few shares of Big Jim sold for .38, and sales were registered in United Oil and National Pacific at steady prices.

The New Pennsylvania Petroleum Company will pay a dividend of ½ cent a share to all stockholders on December 15.

Angeles.]
NEW YORK, Dec. 7.—Prices advanced on bullish figures on the crop and American consumption. The spot markets were strong. Expectations of a bullish crop estimate by the government have been strengthened considerably by private forecasts issued recently, and it is probable that shorts will further reduce their lines. Bulls call the quantity carried over from last season on American soil 2,500,000 bales, and add that if the crop is only as 11,500,000 to 12,000,000-bale one, scarcity is ahead. Peace would cause a sharp advance over night.

Liverpool cotton cables due 1 higher on January and March, 1¼ higher on May and July, and 2 higher on October. Came 5½ higher than due on January, 5½ higher on March, and 5½ higher than due on May. Good business reported in spot cotton; prices steady; sales, 10,000; receipts, 17,200; American, 17,200; middlings, 7.66; futures, steady on opening.

SOCIAL CLUB LOSES LICENSE.

CHARGES OF IMPROPER CONDUCT ARE SUSTAINED.

One "Upstairs Saloon" Eliminated and Another is Under Fire Before Police Commission in Campaign Against Illegal Liquor Traffic in this City.

Starting on what promises to be a general clean-up campaign against the "one man" social clubs yesterday the Police Commission revoked the license of the Fred Douglass Republican Club at No. 561 Central avenue and denied a social club license sought by the McAlpine Club at No. 640 South Broadway. Testimony against the Alhambra Club, No. 802½ Central avenue, was also taken and the case was continued until 2 o'clock this afternoon. Those who heard the testimony in the Douglass Club hearing and the testimony against the Alhambra Club were of the opinion that the second organization will likely lose its license today. Both the Douglass and the Alhambra "clubs" are organizations of negroes and their patrons are made up largely of Pullman porters. The police records presented to the commission yesterday showed that they have made little or no pretense of going through the formalities of maintaining club organizations and delegations of persons who said they represented the better element of the negro population told the commission that they would prefer a dozen more saloons in the neighborhood to the retention of the so-called clubs.

There is pending before the Council an ordinance proposing to place the maximum number of social club licenses at twenty-four and the dozen or more clubs in excess of that number at the present time will be eliminated through strict police supervision and prosecution where there is evidence of improper conduct of the business.

William Klatcher, wholesale liquor dealer at No. 238 East Seventh street, will have to close his shop for a week during his holiday trade because the Police Commission found him guilty of giving rebate coupons with purchases. Incidentally, Earl Rogers, his attorney, informed the Police Commission that he believes Klatcher has been singled out by rival liquor dealers who object to his advertising methods, and Mr. Klatcher presented evidence to the commission to show that other wholesale liquor dealers are giving rebates or premiums in one form or another. Several of these will also be cited before the commission.

Tony Latronica, proprietor of a pool hall at No. 1418 Mateo street, was haled before the commission to show that he has not been guilty of presenting a frontage petition bearing illegal names. Tony proved his case and the citation was filed.

More Information Wanted.

The Mayor's request for better regulation of service given patrons of coin-in-the-slot telephones was received by the Public Utilities Board yesterday and a letter will be sent the Mayor asking him to refer specific complaints to the board to facilitate the investigation. The Utilities Board also received a request from the Council for a report on amendments to the elevated track franchise of the Pacific Electric Railway that are called for in constructing the new elevated terminals and tracks from the rear of the Main street station to San Pedro street.

New Road District.

The Council acted favorably yesterday on a petition from the Van Nuys Chamber of Commerce asking for the creation of a special road district in that district, and the City Attorney was instructed to draft the necessary ordinance.

ALLEGE SECRET PROFITS MADE.

CONSPIRACY IS CHARGE IN AN OIL-DEAL CASE.

The Thirty-six Thousand Dollars Cleaned up by an Agent is Bone of Contention in Suit Growing Out of the Sale of Rich Land to a New Company.

A question of alleged secret profits is involved in the suit of the Victor Oil Company against C. P. Drum, George H. Coffin, George H. Coffin, Jr., and P. S. Rishel, on trial before Judge Wellborn. The amount the corporation seeks to recover is $36,500, and the story as shown by the complaint is that these profits were made by Mr. Drum and divided with the other defendants.

The Hamilton Oil & Gas Company owned the Midway property in Kern county, and the California Petroleum Lands Company also owned oil land. It is alleged that Mr. Drum took deeds from the Hamilton and the California corporations for the land they owned, paying for the Hamilton holdings $35,000 and for the California property $12,000. He caused the Victor Oil Company to be organized and conveyed the lands to that corporation for approximately $83,500, putting the Hamilton holdings in at $52,000 and the California at $31,000. This left a net profit, according to the Victor people, of $36,500. Conspiracy is alleged.

The defendants set up that the parties who entered into the organization knew the facts and knew that the land was worth all Mr. Drum undertook to sell it for. They also knew he was making $36,000 by the deal, but if they did not know it, it was simply failure on their part to investigate. No effort was made to conceal anything, and there was no conspiracy to defraud.

ON STORM DRAIN.

SUBMIT ARGUMENTS.

The legal questions involved in the suit of Griffith J. Griffith and other large property owners attacking the validity of the assessment for the Madison-Virgil storm drain district came before Judge Hewitt on a demurrer to the complaint yesterday, and after argument were submitted. It is up to the court to determine whether or not the assessment levied against the properties of Mr. Griffith and others and confirmed by public officials was made, according to law and if so whether the court under the State laws, has power to set it aside. In order to set it aside, the court must resort to outside evidence to determine whether the properties are benefited.

The plaintiffs claim their properties are not benefited; that they consist of farm lands, remote from the storm drain and by no possible consideration could the lands be benefited by the storm drain. They are located on the rim of the drainage basin, but notwithstanding that fact, it was argued by Attorney Ingle Carpenter, the land was assessed under the owners' protest, taken without due process of law and virtually confiscated.

By virtue of this alleged invalid assessment, the city has an interest in the land, and Mr. Griffith and other owners seek to quiet title by this action.

The city through Deputy City Attorney James, contended that the determination of the City Council upon the assessment as to the amount of it is final and conclusive and there can be no appeal to the court except as in the Hamburger case, relating to the opening of Eighth street, where it appeared upon the face of the proceedings that there had been a confiscation.

The total assessment for this storm drain district is $267,000. When it was before the City Council three members expressed the belief that if they had to make it over again, they might have excluded the plaintiff's land from the district.

FOR GRAND JURY.

JUDGE DRAWS NAMES.

With the view of giving more time to prospective grand jurors to arrange their affairs, Presiding Judge York yesterday held the drawing for the next grand jury, thirty names being taken from the wheel. This allows an additional ten days time to the persons selected. The nineteen grand jurors will be picked from this list on the 22nd inst.: S. W. Barton, Whittier; E. P. Benjamin, Santa Monica; P. W. FOR FIRE ALARMS.

COMPANY SUES CITY.

The claim of the Gamewell Fire Alarm Company that the city of Los Angeles owes it approximately $15,000 for fire alarm apparatus delivered in 1906 is being fought out before Judge McCormick, with the city vigorously fighting the claim. The suit is the result of years of fire works in the City Council. The demand for the apparatus which was installed in the University police district was turned down by W. C. Mushet, then City Auditor. It was contended that the goods had been purchased in violation of the provisions of the city charter by the split requisition plan.

The charter provides that bids must be advertised when the goods desired exceed in value $300. By the split requisition plan goods could be bought without resorting to bids. The Gamewell Company asserts that the claim is a just one; that the apparatus was delivered, accepted by the city and is being used.

HOLD UP MOVERS.

DOCTOR SEEKS DAMAGES.

As the result of a business transaction W. C. Sutphen claims control of the premises in South Bonnie Brae street, owned by Mrs. Mary E. Hay. Because of this alleged interest, Dr. T. J. Randall was prevented from moving into the house by an injunction. Yesterday Dr. Randall and Mrs. Hay filed suit against Mr. Sutphen and C. L. Kilgore demanding damages aggregating $8130.

Mrs. Hay says she leased the house to Dr. Randall. The latter started to move in. While two vanloads of furniture remained to be moved in, he was stopped by the injunction. Now as a result he finds himself occupying two houses with furniture and a disputed claim to both.

BUT DIVORCE STORY FAILS.

Adolpho Veitran, who stole a horse in order to obtain enough money on which to wed, was given probation by Superior Judge Houser yesterday. Veltram, who took an animal belonging to Albert Gilbert on September 15, was more fortunate than Mrs. Anna Ericson. She was convicted of forging a check, the proceeds of which she intended to use in securing a divorce. Because of certain allegations in connection with the forgery which have still to be cleared up before probation can be granted, Judge Houser ordered a continuation until next Monday.

FOLLOW LEADER.

MORE SEEK ALIMONY.

The success of Mrs. Lucy C. Roberts against Theodore Roberts, the moving picture actor, in recovering in these courts alimony awarded in New York, has induced others to try the same method. Yesterday Irene C. Maryland filed suit against her former husband, George A. Maryland, to recover alimony of $10 a week awarded in a New York court in 1905.

Mrs. Maryland resides in Brooklyn, but she alleges that Mr. Maryland came to Los Angeles soon after the legal separation and has not paid the alimony. The total amount due is $5230.

INS AND OUTS.

ABOUT THE COURTS.

DAMAGE SUIT. Peter C. Hanson demands $25,000 damages from J. J. Hart, a Long Beach justice, and other defendants, for alleged false arrest and imprisonment. Mr. Hanson says he was arrested June 19, last, charged with violating a city ordinance. He was held in jail and his appeal that he be allowed to communicate with his family and his attorney was disregarded.

AWARDS DAMAGES. Judge Shenk yesterday gave judgment for $150 in favor of George Turso for the loss of a blooded mare known as Floy, charging negligence on the part of the Burbank Percheron Company, and naming the corporation and its members as defendants. The alleged cause of the death of Floy was the company's stallion Mestrigi. Mr. Turso asked $1000 damages.

YOUNG MAN WINS. A verdict of $5380 was awarded James H. Lansing by a jury in Judge Wilbur's court yesterday for injuries he sustained in the Aliso street wreck. He asked $15,250.

ACCOUNTING SUIT. A jury in Judge Wood's court yesterday gave M. C. Ryder judgment for $1087.99 against the Western Construction Company, and E. J. Bennett and James Irvin in a suit for an accounting in contracting work.

CONVICTS THREE. Three Mexicans, Frank Diaz, Pedro Magel and Jose Bararida, were yesterday convicted of holding up and robbing Edward Dow on the night of September 20, at Ducommon and Main streets. Judge Craig announced Tuesday next as the day on which they will be sentenced.

MATTER OF EXPERIENCE?

Charges of embezzlement preferred against Ian McLaren, formerly editor of a local motion picture magazine, were dismissed yesterday afternoon by Police Judge Frederickson. Despite the five days spent in the City Jail awaiting his hearing, Mr. McLaren did not appear depressed when taken before Judge Frederickson. As he was leaving the courtroom he declared he had received enough experience during his incarceration to write a book. He declares himself to be a nephew of the author of "Beneath the Bonnie Brier Bush."

Development.

ENLARGE CITY'S POWER PLANS.

SERVICE BOARD TO PROVIDE FOR EXPENDITURES.

Prepare for Winter's Work on Long Valley Tunnel—Owensmouth Promised Water on Condition of Later Annexation—Public Works Bills Given Caustic Criticism.

President Betkouski of the City Council went into conference with the Board of Public Service Commissioners yesterday. When he emerged the board had been committed to further expenditures for power development.

"Oh, yes, the money will come from the present bond issues," said President Del Valle of the board, on the subject of financing.

A request from Chief Electrical Engineer Scattergood of the Aqueduct Power Bureau, that the board immediately advertise for five tons of powder, for work in the Owens gorge, revealed the momentous resolve that had been reached. According to Mr. Del Valle, the powder is needed to prosecute the work of driving a great power tunnel, which will have its beginning at the lower end of Long Valley. This tunnel will follow the general route of the stream through Owens gorge, but on a more direct line, and will emerge in a series of power-drops at the lower end.

"It is all a part of one great power development scheme," said Del Valle. "One reason for buying the powder in large quantities is that it is going up in price. Another is that they will be snowed in up there until about May and we want the work to go right ahead."

The entrance chamber of the tunnel will start some ways back of one on which a private company did considerable work. In this way, the city emphasizes its claim to all possible Owens-gorge power, by tapping in above the private claimant.

Aside from the important decision on the supplemental power development project, the board also decided to grant temporary aid to Owensmouth in the matter of water. When the San Fernando irrigation district was created as a bonding unit, for the prosecution of work in connection with the city, Owensmouth was left out. It was also left out of the annexation.

The result was that Owensmouth found itself cut off from the plants from which it formerly obtained water, by an all-encompassing strip of annexed territory. In other words, it is surrounded by city, and must either annex or declare its intentions of doing so before being supplied by water. The proper assurance on this score being given, Chief Engineer Mulholland of the water department, recommended temporary relief.

The presentation of the bill of the Board of Public Works for resurfacing work, done for the water department, came near to causing an explosion.

"They claim the charges are in accordance with the present ordinance," said Chief Engineer Mulholland. "They are not in accordance with the ordinance. Furthermore, I have checked up and found that they are charging us for service that was never rendered."

President Betkouski of the City Council also remarked that the bills bore a semblance to those sent out for cutting weeds on property entirely covered by buildings. "We had 400 or 500 of these weed bills to refund because this had been done," he said.

Chief Engineer Mulholland was requested to take up the entire matter with the Board of Public Works, and see if an understanding could be reached.
